Ald. Neale reported that they had chosen the following Aldermen for nomination, viz : Finance:-Alds. Loggie, Robinson, Cole-Public Works: - Alds. Neale, Loggie, Maher, McIntosh. Police and appointment to office:— Alds. Flausgan, Groat, Neale.

Bye-Laws and Licenses:—Alds. Loggie, Maher, McIntosh Park and Fire :- Robinson, Groat, Flana.

Fgan, Coleman. Ald. Coleman claimed that the appointment of the nominating committee and the making of nominations in this way was a breach of the bye-laws on the subject, which provided that the nominations should be made in Council, etc. The Mayor and Ald. Neale pointed out that the nominations were being made by a member of the Council as provided by Sec. 48 of the bye-laws, and the nominations being made in writing by Ald. Neale-an amendment by Ald. Loggie not being seconded—the committees were appointed as recommended by the committee.

A number of accounts were passed and the street and building inspector's report referred to the public works committee.

The civic election accounts were submitted and passed, with exception of one of $15 for the Town Clerk's services in preparing lists, etc., which was deferred, as, under the law, that officer appears to be expected to do such work as a part of his regular duties as Town Clerk.

Bill of Mr. John McDonald, $18.50 for expenses of burying the Norwegian sailor drowned from the barque Nellie Moody was Bill of $22.75 for material used and services performed in connection with decorating Temperance hall for the reception of the governor-general; also one of $5.00 for rent of hall were ordered to be paid.

A bill of $8 from W. J. Groat for a carriage used by members of Council at his ex cellency's reception caused considerable discussion, Ald. Coleman directing attention to the fact that he and Ald. Fianagan and Ald. Loggie were prepared to provide carriager. He would prefer paying his share of the expense of the carriage rather than make it a charge upon the town. Alds. McIntosn and Flanagen expressed similar views. had ordered who the carriage said Ald. Robinson stated that one was being ordered from Mr. Ullock's stable, and he, Ald. Groat, thought it as well to order one from Mr. Groat's stable also.

Ald. Robinson said the Ullock carriage was intended for extra members of the viceregal party.

The Groat bill was referred to the finance committee, who were directed to report on On motion of Ald. Robinson, ordered tha a committee of two gentlemen, outside of the Council, be appointed with the Auditor to examine all books, papers and accounts of the Town in order to ascertain its exact financial position. Ald. Robinson, speaking to this motion, referred to the over expenditure for street and other services, including the cost of extras for the completion of the Town Hall, as well as the excess of the contract price thereof over the moneys pro vided for it. It was hest, he said, for this council to start its management right! y, and to let the ratepayers know exactly the condition of the Town's finances when they came into office.

Ald. Neale spoke to the same effect and said the late Council had entered into obligations and contracts when there was no money with which to carry them to completion and the town accounts seemed somewhat muddled. A better system was needed. This Council would have to go to the ratepayers with a statement of their affairs and show them how they stood, so that the responsibility for the debts incurred and the over extenditures might be rightly placed. In short, we want to know exactly what we owe and what we have to pay-how much we want, so that the ratepayers may asked to consider the matter.

Messrs, Geo. Stothart and Thos. Crimmen were appointed to act with the auditor in the matter. Ald. Robinson said that on grounds of economy, he was opposed to laying iron pipes to the river for the purpose of bringing water for fires to the steam fire engine house. They would cost $400 or $500 besides a considerable further sum for laying and connecting them. The record of fires for many years past showed that only two had taken place within reach of hose that could be stretched from that building, and the expenditure seemed excessive for the service to be done for it.

The Mayor remarked that if the late council had ordered the pipe it must b taken and paid for.

Ald. Robinson said the contract hadn been filed and the Town was not therefore

The Mayor said that fact might not cance the order. On Ald. Neale suggesting that the matter be referred to the Public Works committee, Ald. Loggie said it was under control of the fire committee, having been so placed by the late council. Ald. Loggie brought up the matter of the sewer on "Foundry Lane," which being still of repair would damage Mr. Mc-Culley's property and perhaps make the Town liable for damages. Ald. Robinson said there was no Foundry Lane. The name of the street referred to was Johnston Street. It was understood that the public works and street committee should look after the the purpose of examining it to ascertain what was required to complete it. Ald. Flanagan suggested that as the six months for which the third policeman had been engaged had about expired, he be notified that his services would not be longer required.

Burglary at Renous Bridge. Advices from Blackville announce the burglary of Daniel Sulliva 's store at Renous Bridge, Northumberland Co., last Thursday night. The safe was blown open, and rifled of its contents, which are said to have amounted to about $100. The burglary was evidently the work of professionals, as the safe was drilled in such a way that the whole front was blown off by the explosion, and had been covered over with heavy horse blankets saturated with water to deaden the sound. Three men who were seen loitering about the vicinity a day or two before the robbery are suspected, and it is said they were under surveillance in Fredericton, but it was useless to detain them as Mr. Sullivan would have been unable to identify any of the stolen money.

Presentation

On the evening of Wednesday Oct. 27th large assemblage met at the house of Mr McNaughton, the Branch, Black River, on the occasion of the marriage of his daughter Miss Christina to Mr. John R. Jardine of the pastor, Revd. J. Robertson, M. A. The bride was supported by her sister Miss Mr. John McKay. The numerous and costly gifts the bride received shew how highly she was esteemed by her friends. Miss Christina was an earnest Sunday School teacher, and a zealous laborer in other religious work. Last Tuesday a deputation from her Sunday School class, presented her with a handsome Teacher's Bible and Presbyterian Hymn book. The following address was read in the name of the scholars.

To Miss C. McNaughton. pression to the deep regret we feel at the people present, severance of the relation of teacher and pupils which has existed so pleasantly between you and us during the several years, in which you have so faithfully discharged your duties. You have been to us a true riend, a kind and sympathetic teacher. You have taught us not only by your words, but by your example. You carry away our best wishes for your future success and happiness. We ask your kind acceptance of the accompanying, as a slight token of our esteem and affectionate regard. On behalf

God Save the Queen. The Governor-General replied and rerequested that a holiday be given the children on Friday next. Two of the scholars presented her excellency and Lady Marjorie with handsome bouquets.

The scholars sang several appropriate songs under the leadership of Mr. Simon Mc-Leod. Much credit is due to the principal, Mr. Yorston, the teachers at the scholars for the manner in which the schools were decorated with mottoes, etc Their excellencies then proceeded to the Roman Catholic convent school, where they were met on the convent grounds by the Reverend Father Dixon who bade them a hearty welcome, and conducted them to the main entrance, over the door of which, was the word "Welcome" artistically entwined with ivy. The spacious hall leading to the Reception Room was tastefully draped, and, on the arch facing the door was the motto, 'Health and Happiness," in large letters, The Reception Room, which had been darkened and brilliantly illuminated, was also elaborately draped, its beauty being enhanced tenfold by its tasteful decorations. The massive folding doors separating it from the music room were thrown open, expessing o view more than a hundred pupils arranged on a terraced platform, holding flags of red, white and blue, which they waved in time with the music as they sang the Welcome Chorus. On the wall, to the right and left immediately in front of the platform where their Excellencies were seated, were the armorial bearings of Lord and Lady Aberdeen, and, between these, was the notto "God Save the Queen' encircled with maple leaves and pansies. While the assembled religious were being presented to their distinguished visitors, the 'Scottish Airs" were admirably executed on three pianos by Misses May Wheeler, Minnie Dalton, Mollie Hennessy, May Ryan, Nellie Hennessy, Mollie Creaghan, Mary Keogh, Mollie Morrissy and May Hennessy; organ, Mis A. Quen; mandeline, Misses M. Cote, M. Carter, and H. Porrier; guitar, S. S. M. Stephani.

When the noble guests were seated, the little ones sang a song of welcome with chorus, during which a pretty litt e address in verse to Lady Aberdeen was well spoken by Miss Marion Doyle and three of the "tiny tots" advanced and presented a bouquet to Her Excelency. Addresses in French and English were then tendered their Excellencies. The address in Freuch was read by Miss Hectorine Poirier and that in English by Miss Alice Dalton. The address in English was as follows; -To the Right Honorable Sir John Campbell Hamilton Gorden, Earl of Aberdeen, etc. Governor General of Canada. May it please Your Excellency: -The conflict could be removed from the track. Engineer Gilbert, met another moose near Forest City and won again after a short conflict. A Maine Central freight engine was derailed by an angry moose near Lincoln last September. "While the Maine Central has a good record as a moose slayer, the Bangor & Aroostook probably has killed game of this species than any road in this country. George Garmon's train, which runs on alternate nights between Old Town and Caribou, has killed three moose and two deer and cut off the hindquarters of a twe-yearbear. George Michaud's train on the same line has captured two moose and one deer. Tom Haggerty's train has killed one moose and one bear, and Charles York's has two moose and one caribou to its credit. There is hardly a train running to the Maine backwoods that does not kill more big game every year than the law allows a man

"This year the bull moose seem to have got the suicidal mania in its worst form. Not only do they attack engines but most of them seem inc ined to commit assault and attery upon any object that shows symptoms of life. Jared Sharp, of this town owns a windmill. It is on a low frame, an earns its keep by sawing wood, churning butter and thrashing grain. Last week while Mr. Sharp's hired man was grinding an axe by wind power, an 800-pound moose came down upon the windmill, breaking off two fans, overturning the grindstone, and badly scaring the hired man. After bringing all the machinery to a standstill, the moose trotted back to the woods, trailing forty feet of six-inch belting from its antlers.'

W. T. Harris again gives away a handsome PIANO ORGAN, From now until the 2nd of Dec. 1897. with each dollar's worth of goods you buy and pay for at either our Grocery store or Boot & Shoe Store, you will receive a TICKET FOR A HANDSOME PIANO ORGAN which will be given away on the 2nd of Dec. 1897.

It will be conducted in the same manner as it was in 1895 and 1896, which proved to be a square transaction.

On each ticket for the PIANO ORGAN will be printed PIANO coupon and number. You get full value for every dollar you spend and some one is sure to get the PIANO ORGAN in addition.

The PIANO ORGAN is on exhibition at the RED STORE and is very handsome. W. T. HARRIS,

If potatoes are buried, they should be covbe one of uninterrupted peace and fraught | ered only moderately at first, additional covering being added as the weather becomes more severe. Burying, however, is one of the most inconvenient ways of preserving the potato crop, and when potatoes, are worth anything, it is also likely to be ly 8.00 am..... potatoes, or indeed, of any other vegetable, in the cellar of a dwelling house in quantities beyond the needs of immediate consumption, is always objectionable, because they are likely to breed disease. Even with the best of care there is always more or less decay, and the family that lives over this species of destructive fermentation is pretty certain to suffer for it, especially > during the early spring. If one has any considerable quantity potatoes or other tubers or roots to kee through the winter, an outside root cellar furnishes the best means to preserve them. A side hill, giving rapid drainage, makes a good site for such a cellar, and there are many kinds of soil where no walls other han that which the dirt affords are neces sary, cheap poles and boards can be used, so that no great expense need be incurred for material. The roof, too, may be of earth thrown over poles, but a roof of this kind will need some sort of thatching in order to make it shed water. It would be better to have the roof mide of boards that break joints, or if a more permanent structure with less regard to cost is intended.

the roof may be shingled. It is important that a dry place be chosen and that it be sufficiently ditched around it, and the door should be on the south. There should be an alley-way through the cellar and a ventilator shaft through the roof, and then, if the door is on a level, or nearly so, with the floor, a side hill, with a southern exposure being selected as the site, there will always be good ventilation. Bins can be provided on each side of the alley-way and they should be raised several unches from the ground. The sides of the bins also should not be in contact with the walls, or they will at ract moisture. | Monow, coal. Spouts may be placed at intervals through the roof, near the outside of the bins, through which potatoes may be poured into Such a structure can be cheaply built and will readily enough carry potatoes through until spring without sprouting, Some varieti s of potatoes which sprout readily need to be turned over once or perhaps twice during the winter. There is no way to prevent sprouting exc pt storing them in some such way as described and over, unless one can have access to cold storage. With cold storage, po atoes can be kept without sprouting until August,
