The "war" newspapers, or, rather, the telegraphic purveyors of the press are endeavoring to make people think that a war is pending between Great Britain and Russia, but there does not appear to be any immediate danger of such an outbreak. #### Party-Wrecking

Partizanship is apparently on the nerease in its most objectionable form n the Province of New Brunswick late Liberal-Conservative convention was held at Moneton. The Liberal-Conservatives who have not been able to endorse the conven tion's decision in reference to local politics-and they are a large majority of that political faith-are being gibbeted, not only by the party press, but also by the leaders, from Sir Charles Tupper downwards. There seems be no consideration of past services party faithfulness in the legitimate domain of Dominion politics, and no allowance made for the fact that everybody can hardly be expected to see the benefit of a radical change in conditions which have existed for over thirty years. The half dozen men who seem to believe that they alone understand how to run the party machine, have decided upon the new policy; those looking to them for political guidance, and who assembled at their call, have, as they were expected to do, said yea yea! and the result is the crusade party and, especially, against whose abilities have made them prominent and conspicuous outside of temple covering the shrine of the machine.

It is not probable that the malevolence of these conservatives and their press against Premier Emmerson and Provincial Secretary Tweedie would have been so pointedly manifested had it not been encouraged by the approval of the St. John Globe and Moncton Transcript, which had, along, been professedly friendly; and nothing more instructive in demon strating the treachery of so-called party fealty has transpired for a long time in the politics of the province than the situation as it now stands, and in which there seems to be a disposition for everyone to assail his neighbor, regardless of past relationships and the loyally and, at times, obsequiously, supgreater purposes for which the res pective parties have heretofore existed Not since Mr. Geo. E. Foster led hi associates in the memorable attempt to cut the throat of the Premier of Canada and leader of his party, has there been anything so demoralizing in its effects pon party organization, while the fact that the new policy for the province is the idea of the same gentleman invites general distrust.

will not be the transfer of the control in New Brunswick local affairs. of provincial affairs to the conservatives, for the people of New Brunswick, who appear to be well satisfied with the existing system on which local affairs are conducted, will be sure to be suspicious of the new one which sought to be set up, supported by mere theories and attempts to decry some of others who have been mainly res ponsible for wrecking their party in the Dominion.

The People are Above the Parties.

The papers of the province whose readers know that they are party organs are more numerous than those which are free from party influences. Pe contra, the people—or putting it more correctly, the voters-who are entirely free of all parties, to act as they please in elections, and who vote for the mer or interests of their choice, regardless of either party, are in overwhelming majority. Many of the Conservative party organs have made the mistake of accepting the decision of the Sun party's Moncton convention to have that organization take charge of local politics and oust the present government at Fredericton. Singularly enough, two or three papers, which profess to be very strong Liberal organs, have started out in full cry in support of the Moncton convention's new policy. Meantime, the rank and fyle of provincial voters are attending to their personal businesses and avocations, and when an Assembly election comes on next year will vote on provincial issues in accordance with the interests of the provincial party, regardless of the freak policies of the agitator class in either of the Dominion parties.

It is Right, New.

The St. John Globe says :-"Northumberland" sends a letter t the Globe, publication of which at the present moment is not advisable. The Globe in its attitude in regard to provincial politics has but one object, and that s the advancement of provincial interests upon lines which will give the best results in the way of good government. The matter can be best argued upon principle and without severe attacks upon individ uals. The tendency of public opinion in the province in regard to the management of provincial affairs is strongly along the line advocated by the Globe. No doubt good Conservatives may feel annoyed by Mr. Tweedie's attacks upon Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster, but it may be doubted if these gentlemen will worry the people in New Brunswick are quite

We put in italics one of the Globe's sentences which everybody will commend, but it is not amiss to say that no paper in New Brunswick, more than the Globe, has offended in the way of personal attack, not only upon Mr. Tweedie, but also Mr. Emmerson. It is not long since the Globe, in a provincial politics had become federalized,

An Interview with Hon. Provincial Secretary Tweedie.

[Montreal Witness.] The Hon. L. J. Tweedie is, as is we known, a stout opponent of the agitation in New Brunswick for the running of provincial politics upon federal lines. In discussing the situation to-day at the Windsor Hotel he showed the absurdity of attempting, by a sudden move, to overturn a system which had worked so many years with a fair measure of success. Mr Tweedie is well assured that the bulk opposed to any such an idea, and it is the people who will decide the matter at the next election. If such a system were resorted to it is easy to see, Mr. Tweedie points out, what extreme demoralization it would cause in financial and business circles. #### London Times Correspondent Describes the Fall of Manila.

London, Aug. 19 - The Manila correspondent of the Times describing the assault on that city prior to its capitulation, says 'As the Californians, under Colonel Smith came up to the breach, their band played the national air, accompanied by the whistling of Mauser bullets, and during the sharp shooting continued to encourage the men with inspiring music. Each regiment carried its colors into action.

There was considerable street fighting in the suburbs of Malata and Ermita, but the battalion of Californians pushed into the Luneta, a popular promenade, within 200 vards of the moat of the citadel. Then a white flag was hoisted at the southwest corner of the walled town.

Gen. Green with a few members of his staff, galloped along the Luneta, under a sharp scattering fire from the house near the beach, and parleyed with an officer, who directed him along to the gate, further east. At this moment the Spanish forces retreating from Santiago Anna, came into view, situation was awkward if not critical, both becoming more and more preva- parts, observing the insurgents, opened fire on the Californions, killing one and woundceased by the advance of the retreating Spaniards to the esplanade, when Gen. Soon a letter was brought from the captain-general, requesting the commander of the troops to Grand Display of the mediately entered with Adjutant-General Bates. Meanwhile, according to arrangement, the moment the white flag was shown, Gen. Merritt, who occupied the steamer Seafiro as temporary corps headquarters, sent Gen. Whittier, with Flag Lieutenant Bramby ashore to meet the captain-general and discuss first a plan of capitulation. Gen. Wheeler found the officials much startled by the news that the fight was still vigorously continuing along the whole line, the American troops even threatening the citadel. All available Spanish troops were immediately massed in the vicinity of the palace, awaiting the succession of events concerning which a certain degree of anxiety was evident. Gen. Merritt entered with his staff at 3 o'clock. The situation was then better understood and a conference with Gen. Jaubenes was held. The terms agreed on may be briefly outlined as follows : 'An agreement for the capitulation of

There are prospects of a very large attendance from Maine. The contract for the new poultry building has been awarded to Messrs Adams and Belvea and it is now well under way. Sir Thomas Johnson Lipton, the latest challenger for the America's cup, says an exchange, owes a large share of his success in business to his appreciation of the benefits Robert W. McIntyre (shoemaker) a dock laborer, working for day wages, and to-day the income tax he pays to the British government annually is $200,000. Several years ago he was a passenger on an East Indian steamer bound for Ceylon. The steamer was disabled on the voyage, and is became necessary to throw overboard a part of her cargo. Lipton witnessed the preparations for the lightening of the ship, and he bargained with the crew to brand every box that was thrown overboard with "Use Lipton's Teas." These boxes floated many places and the fame of Lipton was soon as wide as the seas. It is to such methods as this that Lipton owes his fame, as well as his fortune. His motto in dealing with the public is: "Fair wares for a fair profit, and always remember Lipton."

We where ce tain lines of conduct are faithfully adhered to by the two great parties to prevent national embarrassment; but I rather thought in Canada we had, in our politics, been only too glad to seize upon the embarrasing moment to do all in power to injure 'the other fellow.' never too late to learn, however. with respect to our situation, all I have to say is that I am sorry Sir John Mac-

An Ottawa despatch says :- Prepara ions for the taking of the plebiscite the 29th September are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible, but there is a great deal of work to be done. The preparations consist of getting out the requisite forms, which are being printed as fast as the bureau presses can turn them out. About thirty printed documents of different kinds are required for each electoral district, of which there are 206 in the Dominion. Some of these documents and forms consist of several pages | Dyes. each. There are, for instance, the instructions to returning officers and deputy

The United States a Great Naval A Wa hington telegram says; "Congress at its next session will be asked to increase the navy by authorizing the building of fifteen more warships, the estimated cost of which is between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. The specifications will call for unusual speed and an enermous steaming radius. The list is headed with three butleships of 13,000 tons displacement, armed with 13-inch guns. The speed requirement will be not less than 18 knots, with a draught of about 19 feet. Three first-class armored cruisers of 12,000 tons displacement, with a speed of 22 knots. These cruisers will be larger than anything in the present navy. Three second-rate cruisers of 6000 tons displacement, and having a steaming radius of 13,000 kno's, will also be asked for with

5 and 6-inch rapid fire guns.

"The estimates will provide for six proected cruisers of 2500 tons displacement. carrying 5-inch rapid fire guns, having speed of 16 knots, and a steaming radius of 18,000 knots. The protected cruisers are designed for use in the Pacific. This addition to the present navy is made absolutely necessary by the acquisition of Hawaii and the possible retention of a portion of the Philippines. The steaming radius demanded in all the new vessels is considered to mean that the Administratiod is prepared to follow the popular demand for territorial expansion. A writer in the Brooklyn Eagle says that when the average American tourist contemplates a trip to the maritime provinces he talks vaguely of going to "Nova Scotia." For him the geography of the last century was never re-made, and he has a hazy idea that "Acadia, the home of Evangeline," includes pretty much everything that lies beyond the Maine boundary. Consequently when he reaches St. John, he rarely looks about him, but pushes on for "the land of Evangeline," or, if he comes, as he generally does, by the way of Yarmouth, he does not see New Brunswick, the better part of the ful Kennebeccasis, the placid Bellisle, the Tobique, the Miramichi, the pleasant villages of Hampton and Sussex, Springfield and Chipman and Douglas Harbor and Quaco and the lovely scenery of Loch Lomond. He misses some of the quietest, breeziest, sunniest loafing and dreaming places in the world. It is not much wonder that he misses them. Nova
