ICE BOATING is largely indulged in on the Miramichi, and the craft are the dread of all having occasion to drive on the ice and whose horses are unaccustomed to them—because there are few horses who do not become restive when they see them, especially if they pass from the rear.

Big Game—Advice from Major General Hutton's hunting party in the Miramichi woods is that they had a hard time of getting to the mountain. Our correspondent says—"The trip, which is usually made in two days occupied seven. On his first day at the grounds Capt. Bell, A. D. C. to the general, killed a fine bull with a 58 inch spread of horns. General Hutton missed two shots, but as there are plenty of moose, he will no doubt secure one. Capt. Macdonnell is also expected to down his moose before he comes out."

General Hutton and party reached Fredericton on Saturday. He did not get a moose but was greatly pleased with his trip. He proceeded to Montreal on Saturday afternoon.

Messrs. Donald Loggie and El. Johnson, who were induced to go to Banbury River region on a moose and caribou hunt, were satisfied, after being one day in the chase that it would be all chase and no game, as the travelling was very difficult and still hunting impossible, owing to the crust.

A party of sportsmen, including Messrs. W. A. Park, R. Gremley and Jas. Rundle, hunted on the Fur, Fin and Feather Club grounds for two days last week under the direction of the veteran guide, John Connell. They secured two caribou. Dixon, managing directors of the St. John Sulphite Co. Ltd., for the which company Mr. Mooney is building the Maspee pulp mill. Messrs. Grosset and Dixon were in St. John to view the property at Maspee and the work done.

At the dinner Mr. M. F. Mooney presided, with the guests of honor on either hand. There were also present: Mayor Sears, Hon. A. T. Dunn, Mr. J. V. Ellis, M. P., A. D. McGoldrick, Ald. OVER THE CLIFF—The Bathurst Courier says: A terrible accident occurred Tuesday night at 10 o'clock. Patrick Hurley from Grand Assen, left Bathurst at 10 o'clock with a team. The horse ran away, the sleigh, horse and Mr. Hurley went over a cliff about fifty feet high, killing the horse, smashing the sleigh all to atoms and seriously if not fatally injuring Mr. Hurley.

A despatch to the Globe says:—Patrick Hurley and James Madden, of Grand Assen, were in town and left for home about 3 o'clock on Tuesday, each with his own team. When near the Roman Catholic church at Clifton it was snowing hard and very dark. Hurley, who was ahead, got off the road and drove over a cliff 150 feet high. As related by Hurley to a friend today the horse went over on a trot. The sled struck a ledge of rock, 50 feet from the top, breaking the shafts off. The horse got clear and fell 100 feet below. The sled with Hurley fell the same distance, close to where the horse landed. Strange to say, he was only slightly injured. His escape was due to the straps and buffalo robes on the sled, and his wife and child protected him. Knowing the locality well he dragged himself along three quarters of a mile to the road which leads to the top of the cliff. When he got to the top he was too weak to climb a fence to get to the nearest house owned by a Mr. Knowles. Fortunately, Knowles happened to be in his yard at the time and hearing cries for help went to his assistance and brought him to the house. Dr. Meahan from here was summoned and found no bones broken, but badly shaken up. Madden, who was following, did not know for some time, though he surmised something of the kind had happened. When he mistaked him he returned to see if he could get to the number of fifty, gathered in their home to do honor to the occasion and to express broken up. People here who know the place regard Hurley's escape as something marvelous.

Will Red no Insurance Rates.—The New Brunswick Board of Fire Underwriters, after hearing read by their secretary a letter from W. C. Winslow, Esq., Mayor of Chatham, in reference to a proposed law to apply to the town, directed him to reply to Mr. Winslow, stating that if the service was satisfactory, and a sufficient number of permanent men were employed by the fire department, an average reduction of about 20 per cent would be made in the rates. Mr. Clinch writes to the Mayor that he will come to Chatham and make a detailed estimate for the new rating.

"He don't know."—A correspondent who says that when he was married several years ago and the parson said they had a pretty wedding, a crabbed old fellow found fault with the expression, and it caused his wife annoyance, but she soon got over it when she realized that the critic was a crank and had very superficial educational attainments. Several times since, however, he says, the same unenviable old party has pitched into brides over their "pretty" weddings, which has tempted our correspondent to become a rhymester at the ancient grub's expense. Here are his verses:

Oh! Our wedding, it was pretty; We're the happiest in the city; And her name is pretty Kitty, She's the maker of my home. Any Crudy, or Old Mussy, Who is on his self and dandy, May prefer some way less truly And his wife work out alone.

But our friend's a pretty ditty And we'll give each other, Kitty, The name of my home; And, we'll give to him our pity, From the name of a committee.

From the name of a committee, Just to teach him, he was pretty.

Natural History Society.—At the monthly meeting of the Miramichi Natural History Society on Tuesday evening last week it was decided to celebrate the second anniversary of the society by a musical and literary entertainment on the second Tuesday in February. Since the last meeting the following donations were received: Uria ovnis, or Foolish Guillemot, by Mr. W. C. Stothard; and a pair of Larus marinus, or Black Back Gull by Mr. McDonald; Campbellton, and Mr. Fred Jenkins, Tabusintac. A brief paper on Dust, prepared by Mr. R. P. B. Joyce, into which many scientific facts were condensed, was read by the president, Dr. Baxter. Mr. Joyce particularly noted the great importance of dust in the economy of nature. It was decided that a synopsis of the contents of this paper, which was a revelation for many who heard it, should be placed in the year's bulletin.

After the passing of a vote of thanks to Mr. Joyce for his excellent paper, the meeting adjourned.

Curling.—Curling in Chatham promises to have a revival this season. The Chatham Club has elected R. A. Lawlor, Esq., President and M. S. Hocken, Esq., vice president, and it is to select skips and have its regular rink formed forthwith. Improvements are being made at the rink and the respective sides of the president and vice-president are to try conclusions on Monday last prox.—The New Year holiday.

Mr. Robert Clark, formerly of the Bank of Montreal here, and a graduate of the Chatham Curling Club, is now manager of the branch of the same bank at Moncton and president of the Moncton Curling Club for the current year. It is hoped that the Chatham curlers and those of Moncton will have a friendly match during the winter.

Laid to Rest.—The remains of the late J. Inglis Street, whose unexpected death has already been announced in these columns, arrived from Malden, Mass., by the western train to-day in charge of L. Lee Street, C. E., nephew of the deceased. The casket was taken in charge by an undertaker, and conveyed to the residence of E. Byron Winslow, Church street, whence the funeral took place at 2.30 o'clock.

An impressive service was conducted at the Cathedral by the Very Rev. the Dean of Fredericton, after which the remains were taken to Forest Hill Cemetery and interred in the Street family lot. The chief mourners were Rev. Thomas W. Street, rector of Bathurst, A. F. Street, Collector of Customs, this city, E. Lee Street of Newcastle, L. G. Beckwith, Chas. W. Beckwith, Geo. N. Babbitt, John Back, M. P. P., W. A. Back, E. B. Winslow and T. B. Winslow. A number of magnificent floral offerings from friends in Malden and this city, adorned the casket.

The Herald learns that the late Mr. Street's death was caused by an attack of haematuria, which settled upon his heart, and occurred after a brief illness.—[Fredericton Herald, 15.]

Yes, He Wanted a Postmastership.—Old Crusty should cultivate a little good temper as a special effort during the Christmas season, and not occupy himself in flouting folk with other country editors. His latest effort at setting us all right is as follows:—

"The editor of the Campbellton Enterprise is general agent for a loan company, a Chatham editor used to sell coal and now holds a Sherry office, the editor of the Windsor Journal is an insurance agent, and the editor of Butler's Journal peddles small wares. And here is another editor who backs to his natural color."—H. W. Haselhoff, Peterson, N. J.
