INDISCRIMINATE OYSTER-FISHING:-A correspondent of the Richibucto Review says:-"There are about sixteen boats from Cocagne and Buctouche up river raking oysters. I suppose they all pay license fees; but do they catch oysters of a legal size? It might be well for our fishery overseers to give this matter a little attention. Our oyster fisher ies will become more valuable every year, and I think it a matter of vital importance that they receive such protection from those in authority as to prevent depletion of the beds by the injudicious destruction of small oysters. "Prevention is better than cure.

BANK CHANGES :- Mr. Blair Robertson, who has so successfully filled the position of agent of the Bank of Nova Scotia at New castle for the last five years, has been promoted to the charge of the agency at Yarmouth, N. SQUASHES THAT SPEAK :- Two large squashes were delivered at the Mayor's office this morning with the compliments of George Harding who lives up river. In the days of their youth the squashes had been adorned with graphic looking pictures and terse inscriptions. They had been scratched upon the green surface of the squashes and when nature had healed the wounds the designs became embossed upon the surface. One of them exhibits the mayor in the ac of leaving the council chamber after hi altercation with Ald. Christie. With serene indifference to orthography the artist has accompanied the cartoon with the following inscription. "Sell me at oction. His worship the mair of St. John, N. B. leaves his chair in the council. Vote expected how citizens call a meeting." The other squash tells of the Hispano-American war and is adorned with flags and other devices. The inscription which is equally oblivious to the requirments of spelling starts out with the sentiment, "Long rain Victoria. The wore is over. Sudden Death. The community was shocked on Friday norning last on hearing of the sudden death of Mr. Michael Cassidy. After breakfast he eft his home and went over to the Bishop's residence to enquire after Father Morriscy's condition and had brought a wheelbarrow with him, which he was returning. He had reached the barn and was in the act of tellng Mr. Quinn, who was in the stable, that he brought the barrow, when he suddenly fell as in a fainting fit. Mr. Quinn lifted im up and found him insensible, but still breathing. He placed him on a rug near by and ran to the Bishop's residence for Father Joyner, who returned with him and in a few econds after their arrival life was extinct. Dr. John S. Benson, who happened to be at the Hotel Dieu at the time, was summoned and he pronounced the cause of death heart Deceased was in his fifty-eighth year, and was for many years connected with work on the farm and around the episcopal residence, and was caretaker of the cemetery. He was a sober, industrious man and highly respected, and his sudden death is a great blow to his serrowing friends. He leaves a widow, three sons and four daughters, who have the sympathy of the community over the irreparable loss of a provident and indulgent husband and father.

The funeral, on Sunday at 2 p.m., was very largely attended by all classes citizens. The pall-bearers were Messrs. R. Flanagan, George Savoy, Robert Finn, Patrick Quine, James McLean and George Sinnott. Undertaker Hackett conducted the fuseral, which proceeded to the Procathedral, where the last rites were regited, On entering the church the choir sang, "When I am taken from this world of sadness." Father Joyner performed the absolution of the body, after which it was conveyed from the church, the choir singing. Mr. Foster and Chatham. The Richibucto Review, referring to th Chathani "Conservative Rally" at which Hon. Mr. Foster was billed to appear. but failed to materialise says :- "It is said that the ex-Minister of Finance went in to Chatham on the train with his heart beating hopefully with the thought of the hard knocks he would deal to the Hon. Mr Tweedie and the other good Conservatives of the country, who resent Mr. Foster's leadership. No doubt in his mind's eye the gentleman saw an enthusiastic delega. tion at the train to meet him, accompanied by a brass band, etc; when the train rolled into the station at Chatham, Mr. Foster alighted, rushed forth to receive the ovation which no doubt had been promised him, when to his amazement he found there was a fair young queen whom thou dost destine not a single one of the faithful interested enough to meet him. This was more than that great man could stand, and indignantly demanding from the conductor of the train the time the next train would take him from Chatham, he found that he could make his escape in ten minutes by the train returning. He stood not on the manner of of his going but he went, and as the train returned to Chatham Junction it bore with it the ex-Minister and party, foaming with indignation at the elight which had been put upon his greatness. ## A Great Industry for N. S.

The Hay Trade.

Probably never in the history of the hay

trade in this part of the province has the prospect been so dull for those who have hay to sell. Westmorland, Cumberland and Albert counties are full of hay and there is simply no demand at all; nobody wants hay. The farmers in these counties held over a large amount of last year's crop, expecting better prices this year. This, together with the present year's crop, is still on hand and the prospect of changing hands is not bright. Usually the hay growers in this county can dispose of the produce of 'last century" condition, socially and in- their marshes at from $7 to $8 per ton. tellectually, of many of the witnesses. In this way they can convert the hay into beef, and good ot sent me this money before. My late | beef will generally sell for a fair price. [Sack-

Cheating the Imperial Authorities.

The case tried Wednesday afternoon in the longer. If this is not attended to at once | County Court before Judge Johnston proved very interesting. There were several sensational disclosures that came as a thunder clap, especially to the military authorities. Almost every victuilar in the north end was subpænaed to give evidence. The evidence adduced tended in a measure to show that although the military authorities were under the impression that they were being supplied with meat by the lowest tenderer, in reality they were not. According to the evidence a number of victuallers were instructed by a victualling firm to send in their tenders as a blind to the military. It was understood that in case any of these alleged bogus tenders were accepted, the tenderers would be paid a sum to drop out, and the military were then obliged to accept the only tender remaining-the highest. According to the evidence in the case referred to, this is the way the military authorities have been dealt with by some of the victuallers of Halifax. The disclosure follows :created a mild sensation, and it was much discussed in military quarters and elsewhere last evening. [Halifax Herald.

A Farewell.

A farewell card has been received from Lord and Lady Aberdeen by many with whom they became acquainted in different ways during their stay in Canada. It is entitled "Where dwells Our Lady of the Sunshine" and its letter press matter is an allegorical representation of the outgoing century, as a Queen, giving audience to a great company of monarchs and statesmen, scientists and poets seeking knowledge from her stores of wisdom, followed by a train of eager, bright faced youths and maidens, who are made to sav.

"We come to thee who alone canst guide us to her whom we seek. We have heard that through all the years of this century thou hast been preparing a great gift for the children of thy youth and that far away in the north country over the seas thou has been training and watching over to bring light and beauty and riches and hope to such who know how to seek her aright. Tells us, oh, tells us of 'Our Lady of the Sunshine' and of how we may become worthy to seek her. How shall we find her? How shall we know her? And how may we gain her favor?'

It is needless to say that "Our Lady of the Sunshine" is Canada, Replying, the old Queen—the nineteenth century—pictures

Mr. Richard O'Leary, of Richibucto writes as follows to the St. John Globe :-DEAR SIR :- Your issue of the 7th inst contains a short paragraph copied from the Moncton Times to the effect that Mr. Wm. J. Emerson, of Boston, and myself have been around trying to organize a fish com bine. This is certainly a misunderstanding which I would like you to correct. Mr Emerson and myself are both connected with a large organization of fish dealers who got together a few months ago under one heading and company with a capital stock of $5,500,000, with head offices at Chicago, and under the heading of A. Booth & Co. I beg to enclose you a list of the houses forming this company and would thank you to pub lish the same in your valuable paper. Th object of Mr. Emerson's visit through this part of the country was, in part, to see th people with whom he has done a large business in his own name and in connection with my late father and myself during the last six years, and at the same time to meet other tish dealers in New Brunswick who might have any goods to sell and preferred selling them on the cars at their own stations and getting their money for them there, to placing them in the hands of commission men. I may further add that the result of our trip was very successful and that we met several of the principal men in the busi ness who have found it to their advantage to deal this way. Thanking you, I remain, Yours very truly, R. O'LEARY.

In the St. Jonn Sun's Boston correspondence on Tuesday we observe the following in reference to the foregoing.

"A number of big fish exporting firms in the Atlantic-Canadian provinces are attempting with the co-operation of Boston men to form a large company, which will control the fish trade of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. "These provinces supply a very large part of the fish sold here and at Fulton market, Saxon, Frank and Teuton learning to live | New York. Richard O'Leary of Richibucto, N. B., and J. W. Emmerson, a large shipper, have had a conference with Boston receivers

> And the correspondent adds :-"The above cannot be wholly verified here, but it is known that Messrs. O'Leary and Emerson were in the city last week, and saw a number of fish men. They have returned to New Brunswick.'

In conversation with Messrs, O'Leary and Emmerson, who were fellow-passengers on an I. C. R. train a few days ago, an ADVANCE representative was informed that Mr. Emmerson was here representing the different 'Will you uphold the Christ within that firms in the fish trade whose names are given above. We understand that it was the desire of Mr. Emmerson to have as many as possible of the people who are in the business included in which he represents. Mr. O'Leary told the ADVANCE'S representative that he had gone into the Booth syndicate because their concern had dealt with the Booths for about six years and he was convinced that their system offered advantages not to be realised through any isolated effort or less extensive

A Fiend Sentenced

The Italian anarchist who stabbed and killed Empress Elizabeth of Austria on September 10 last was placed on trial at Geneva, Switzerland last Thursday. The court was crowded and the prisoner was strongly guarded, but there was no excitement The prisoner bowed politely to the court and the public, and answered the preliminary questions through an interpreter in a clear, strong voice. The prisoner also said that if he possessed 50 francs on the morning of the assassination, instead of killing the Empress of Austria he would have started for Italy with the intention of killing King Humbert, He added: "It does not matter, however, as another will kill Humbert shortly."

When the full penalty allowed by the Swiss law was imposed upon him, Luccheni laughed and cried loudly: "Long live anarchy," and "Death to the aristocracy. A curious feature of the trial was that whenever anything was said tending to show that he had attempted to deny his guilt or to escape its consequences, he invariably interrupted, openly glorying in the crime which, he said, was premeditated, adding in one instance : "I did my best to make the stroke fatal." He declared that his motive was found in human suffering. "My doctrine," he frequently reiterated, "is that no one who does not work should be allowed to live.'

The jury was absent only twenty minutes.

Anglo-American Commission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10-The Anglo-American joint commission began its sessions here to-day, having adjourned its early session at Quebec to meet at Washington after the election. Lord Herschell, former lord chancellor of Great Britain, Sir Richard Castwright, Sir James S. Winters and Mr. John Charlton, M. P. were present, repr ing Great Britain and Canada. American members of the commission present were Senators Fairbanks Indiana and Faulkner of West Virginia Representative Dingley of Maine, ex-Secretary John W. Foster and Mr. John A. Kasson. The absentees to-dsy were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Louis Davies and Mr. T. J. Coolidge of Massachusetts. The preliminary gathering today was in the diplomatic room of the State department, where the commission was welcomed by Secretary Hay, who accompanied the members to the White House, where they were presented to the president. The business session followed at the commission's quarters, in the Ailington hotel annex.

The meeting to-day was mainly for the purpose of adopting the general plan of ness. It is a very desirable one situated business to be followed here. The prin- in the best part of the town. cipal topics are fixed by a protocol and comprise; Behring Sea seal fisheries; Atlantic and Pacific coast fisheries: Alaska-Canadian boundary; transporta- CASH ONLY. tion of merchandise in bond across the border; alien labor laws of the United States and Canada; mining rights in the Klondike and other points; reciprocity and tariff arrangements; naval vessels on | Collecting Agency for collection, whose costs the Great lakes; new marking of the will be added. To avoid this please pay at frontier line by land and water; extradition of criminals and mutual wrecking and salvage arrangements. The commission did not hold an afternoon session, but a committee consisting of Lord Herschell and Sir Richard Cartwright and Messrs. Dingley and Kasson. was in session. Owing to Mr. Kasson's official position as reciprocity commissioner and the prominence of Mr. Dingley in tariff affairs, it was inferred that this committee was working on the question of reciprocity. Sir Richard Cartwright has long been identified with the Canadian movement for reciprocity. The presence of Lord Herschell would insure attention to British interests in case of a reciprocity discussion, one of the main factors thus far developed in the reciprocity discussion being as to differentials in favor of Great Britain in the present Canadian tariff.

The commission will hold daily sessions. at which the work advanced to completion by committee will be passed upon. One of the commissioners stated today that until all the subjects had been disposed of each one remained open. The courtesies showered upon the commissioners in Quebec are to be reciprocated here by and owned by me.
