FIRE.—An alarm of fire was rung last Tuesday night at 11:30 o'clock, and the residents were attracted to the upper section of the town by the reflection of a fire. It proved to be the carriage shop of Mr. A. McLean. The fire was well under way before the alarm was given and the blacksmith shop, paint shop and barn were in flames before the hand engine arrived. The fire was very fierce and soon the warehouse was in flames. The steamer arrived at the fire too late to save any of the buildings so was not put to use. Mr. McLean's loss is a heavy one, estimated at about $750, with insurance of $225. The buildings will be immediately rebuilt and Mr. McLean will be in a position to go right on with his business.—Advocate.

IN COLLISION.—Last Friday night the steamer St. Isidore was making her way out to Tracadie Gully with the scbr. Ada in tow. The Young scbr. "J. H. S." was lying at anchor in the channel near the Gully and Messrs. A. & R. Loggie's sloop Beaver further in. The channel by which the St. Isidore was going out was one around a middle ground, and the steamer people state that first sighting the "J. H. S." they turned inward to avoid her and were confronted by the Beaver. In order to avoid doing damage they cut the tow line attached to the Ada, but it appears to have been too late as the latter struck the sloop, carrying away her bowsprit and doing some damage also to her stern. In their claim for a settlement which Messrs. Loggie have made through their attorney, they state that the St. Isidore did the damage, which they appraise at about $120.

These three finished close together. Commodore Miller, the judges and a party of ladies, followed the race in the Laura. THE HALIFAX HERALD says: The father of the Presbyterian church in Canada is Rev. Lewis Jack, now of Chatham, New Brunswick. Mr. Jack was born at Colliodon, Inverness, Scotland, in the year of Waterloo (1815). He was minister in Belhelvie, Aberdeen, for three years, when he volunteered for colonial service. His first work in New Brunswick was taking charge of old St. Stephen's church, St. John. His first regular pastorate in New Brunswick was that of St. James' church, St. Stephen. Mr. Jack retired from the active duties of the ministry a few years ago, and is spending the remainder of his days in the hospitable family of Dr. King, his son-in-law.

Mr. Jack was a daughter of the late James McKenzie, of St. James, N. B. The family of five children are all living. Rev. T. C. Jack, North Sydney; S. R. Jack, St. John; Mrs. W. G. King, Beatonville; Mrs. W. M. Siler, Chatham, and Mrs. Roborough, who lives with her brother at North Sydney. Mr. Jack was now a leading member of the Synod of New Brunswick. In 1869 this Synod was united to the Synod of Nova Scotia. Mr. Jack was its last moderator, preaching its last "Synod sermon" and presiding over its closing session. He took part in the funeral services of Dr. Morrison, at Chatham, on the 13th ult. He was the pastor of Dr. Morrison's boyhood, and the venerable father, who had been naturally proud of his stalwart portage, mourned for him as for an only child.

In Police Circles. Two policemen, a drunken sailor and one or two old men caused a lot of excitement in town on Saturday evening and, as a result, the two "gallants" of the police force have lost their positions, the beer-loving tar was in the lock-up for several days and one of the old men is nursing his wounded feelings.

Messrs. Ramsbotham and Murphy are the policemen in question. They attempted to arrest a sailor for being drunk, but when the cards were shown there were three of a kind and it was hard to tell who had taken the most of the ardent—the policeman or the tar. Of course, there was a mob of men and boys on hand. Of this crowd the majority were there to watch the fun or trouble, while a number attended with the express purpose of making trouble. One policeman refused to take the sailor along while the crowd was on hand. This annoyed the mob and had the effect of closing the gap between the policemen, their prisoner and the crowd. An Alderman stepped in to rebuke the officers for their conduct, but was glad to escape through the crowd, as one of the policemen threatened to lock him up also if he didn't go away. On Monday evening officers Ramsbotham and Murphy were discharged from the force for being drunk and Adam Dickson and Thomas Hannah temporarily appointed.

John Mudge and Charles Desmond were acting in a disorderly manner on Monday night. Officer Dickson attempted to arrest them, but they took his baton and got away. The baton was recovered and Mudge was arrested Tuesday morning.

Alderman Flanagan's store was visited by thieves on Friday night or early Saturday morning. They laid out a few pairs of boots and some dry goods for removal, but it is thought they became alarmed and left in a hurry, leaving the goods behind. The entrance was made through the cellar.

The following night Mr. Thomas Flanagan's store was entered and a quantity of underwear and small articles stolen.

Newcastle Town Election. Hon. Allan Ritchie was elected the first Mayor of Newcastle by acclamation on Friday last and is to be congratulated on the honor thus conferred upon him. His position as one of the leading business men of the country and experience as a former member of the legislative council of the province are a guarantee that the choice is a good one.

In the choice of aldermen there has been an absence of unanimity which has made the first civic election in the shiretown quite interesting to the local public generally and exciting to the people immediately interested. The Advocate, the only paper published in Newcastle, appeared to assume that there ought to be no election because a number of citizens held public meetings to select candidates. As might be expected, wires were pulled in connection with these meetings, and considerations other than those of the merits of the candidates influenced some of the nomination. The natural result followed and two tickets were found in the field. As this is a free country no serious objection could be made to this, but the local paper assumed its war paint and endeavored to make it appear that one of the tickets was composed of persons possessing the characteristics of Judas, Herod and other historical personages of who would not be very popular on the Miramichi if they were here in the flesh. The Advocate's favorites were styled by it the people's candidates, while other of their friends proclaimed them the temperance ticket.

Members of the independent ticket were so harshly referred to by editorials and correspondence in that paper that outsiders, at all events, concluded that it was composed of the best men because they were conducting their canvass in a clean and self-respecting manner, neither assailing their opponents personally through the press, nor seeking to have others do so, and remembering that naughty boys always throw sticks and stones at the best apple-trees. One of the Chatham papers appears to have also caught inspiration from the Advocate, for the latter paper in closing an article bearing the independent candidates said, "No wonder 'The World' in its character of the candidates, represented these men all as negroes, and the people's candidates as white men." If one were permitted, however, to judge the men in nomination as like treating any man, he would hardly feel like treating of them otherwise than with respect, for they are all good citizens, and the fact that they desired to serve the town was no justification for any one of them being abused in the interest of his opponents. The candidates were as follows:—"PEOPLE'S" AND "INDEPENDENT" TICKETS.

Edward Sinclair, R. H. Gremley, John Morrissey, J. H. Phinney, Charles E. Fish, P. Hennessey, James R. Lawlor, D. Morrison, E. Lee Street, John D. Creighton, James Falconer, James A. Randle, M. Bannan, John Ferguson, Geo. S. Stothart.

Yesterday was polling day and the "bustling" done by the respective sides was fully as vigorous and thorough as if it were a contest for the local legislature or House of Commons. All the plant and paraphernalia of a first class election campaign were in evidence and one could not but admire the energy which the leading men at the poll and about the town did their work. The result was the election of the gentlemen composing the independent ticket, the voting being as follows:

Edward Sinclair, 322. Jas. A. Randle, 305. Charles E. Fish, 291. John Morrissey, 265. James R. Lawlor, 261. John Ferguson, 252. Donald Morrison, 240. E. Lee Street, 239. J. H. Phinney, 234. Richard H. Gremley, 225. James Falconer, 212. George Stothart, 209. John Clark, 197. Patrick Hennessey, 183. Michael Bannan, 190.

Returning officer Call rejected three ballots which were for the independent ticket, two of which were good. J. R. Lawlor objected to the ruling. These will, no doubt, be decided favorably to Mr. Street.

IN ANOTHER COLUMN will be found the advertisement of Wilmer Atkinson Co., publishers of The Biggle Books. In concise and plain statement, in the thoroughness with which the ground has been covered, The Biggle Books have won praises on every hand. The boiled-down, common-sense, cream not skim-milk method, which characterizes the pages of the Farm Journal has been carried out in their preparation. For mechanical effect no expense or pains have been spared, and the highly finished paper, the beautiful illustrations, the excellent type and press work, and the handsome cloth binding, make these books models of the printer's art. The color work in the Berry, Poultry and Cow Books has never been attempted before in any book selling for a reasonable price. No farm or rural home is complete without Judge Biggle's Books, and no one interested in these subjects can afford to let another day go by without sharing in the helpful things with which their pages are filled. Pay $40 for a farm library other than this and you will not have more value. The price is 50 cents, free by mail; address the publishers, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.

A Novel Invention. A very practical and novel invention is now being manufactured and put on the market by the young and enterprising Parisian Corset Co., of Quebec City, manufacturers of the now very popular P. C. Corset and health waist for ladies and children.

It is only a few years since the popular P. C. Corsets made their appearance in the market, and the success which they have attained in that short time is hardly credible. The proprietors of the P. C. Corset Company are young and enterprising men, and are always on the alert for novel and practical ideas for the benefit of the ever increasing corset trade.

Only recently they have secured Belcher's Patent Safety Pocket Filling Process, invented and patented by J. D. Belcher, for years representative in these provinces for the Crompton Corset Co. of Toronto. This little invention (small as it is), fills a long felt want in the manufacture of Corsets. It is a neat metal pocket securely fastened to the body of all their Corsets. It is filled with fine ribbon spring steel. This filling is now the most popular with all American and Parisian Corset manufacturers. By the use of the Safety Pocket the filling is positively prevented from puncturing or cutting through the Corset at the top and bottom, and at the same time it makes a ventilated corset and yet allows the fine strips of rib-n spring steel to be inserted without securing them to the corset. Thus the corset filled in this manner conforms to the shape of the wearer in the most comfortable manner.

Large and extensive alterations in the way of machinery and plant for the manufacture of this patent is now being made at their already commodious and well equipped factory in the city of Quebec, and the new invention will be fitted to the popular lines of the P. C. Corsets and these will be put on the market together with their regular samples at an early date for fall trade. We will watch with interest the progress of this enterprising firm, and we have no doubt that in a short space of time it will be one of the largest concerns of its kind in the Dominion.

The P. C. Company have also engaged J. D. Belcher, the inventor and patentee, to introduce this patent throughout the Dominion, making his trips from ocean to ocean, together with ten regular travellers selling P. C. Corsets. The first ground to be covered includes the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Belcher's long and successful experience in the Crompton Co., together, assures with his inventions his new employees of a successful career.—(Quebec Chronicle.)
