A DISAPPEARANCE :- Considerable speculation exists locally as to the whereabouts of Mr. Paul Longley, who has been, for about a year, paying teller of the Bank of Montreal here. He left town on Friday evening after paying his bill at the Riverview Hotel, where he boarded and has not yet been definitely traced. Rumors of his having taken the train of Saturday morning at Newcastle for Moncton, and also of big having gone away in a ship are going. He was a young man of excellent character and correct habits, sober and attentive to his duties. His record at the bank is a goo one, his accounts all right and he left a balance to his credit. His father, Attorney General Longley of Nova Scotia has been communicated with.

A St. Stephen despatch of Tuesday says: of Milltown and the uncle of Mayor Murchie of St. Stephen.

Tuesday was the day appointed for th testing of the stone crusher purchased by the Chatham Town Council last fail, and which has stood idle ever since, because, in the hurry of the members of council to spend the money for the machine, it was not realized by the mivor and aldermen that a motive power was required to drive it,

The council, however, did the best could-according to its light-in the way getting a boiler and engine, and there was an attempt made to test the crusher on Tuesday. The engine ran the machine fairly well, so far as crushing was concerned, aud the carriers deposited the broken stone in a heap under the point of discharge. "Mr. Roger Flanagan, of Chatham, was The power was, however, clearly insufficient to work the crusher up to its capacity, to say nothing of the screening attachment,

It turned out that the boiler and engine were bought second-hand from the Robb concern in Amherst, and Town Engineer Craig said that his examination of the crown sheet in the fire-box led him to the conclusion that it would be unsafe to have more than 50 lbs. pressure to the square inch. After about two tons of stone were crushed the test was abandoned with the understanding that the boiler would be subjected to cold water pressure up to 100 or more

It would be right to have the screening part of the crusher run in the official test, whenever it takes place, for that was, it is said, a part of the bargain. Whether this will be done or not, it is not easy to determine, for there did not seem to be anybody officially connected with the exhibition of Tuesday who knew very much about what a test of such a purchase really ought to be.

Re-Stocking Angling Waters, wick, under the direction of the Surveyor General, began the planting of lake and ses trout in the Loch Lomond lakes, St. John, in the summer of 1896, when he put in 1600 two year olds taken from North Shore waters. In 1897-'98 and '99 he placed in all nearly 100,000 sea and lake trout fry in the same waters, plauting them in the spring brooks leading into the uppe part of the first and the lower part of the time, been reported as very satisfactory Heretofore the trout of Loch Lomond were the white lan 1-locked variety, which were quite abundant up to twenty years ago, but so very scarce in later years that anglers thought them hardly worth fishing for. The government's efforts at re-stocking with the genuine salmo trutta and salmo confinis have been so successful that the work will, no doubt, be continued as soon as preparations now being made for breeding the fry are completed. We are glad find, in the St John Globe of Monday last the following item of news, which indicates how the Loch Lomond Lakes are improving from the angler's standpoint :-

Mr Chas. H. Wright, who is staying at Mr. Ezekiel Johnston's place, Loch Lomond, is in the city to-day. He is loud in his praise of the action of the government in restocking the lake with red trout. For about twenty-five years he has summered and fished around Loch Lomond, but never beand Capt. Fleming in four days succeeded in making a good catch at the Thoroughfare. The fish weighed all the way from threequarters of a pound to a pound and a quarter, all red trout. What is interesting too to anglers is the fish are now taking the fly. Mr. Stephen McAvity on Siturday captured quite a large white trout. A couple of roung men also caught about thirty pounds of red fish in the creek. The roads are good, and Mr. Johnston's place is becoming quite a resort. Twenty-five bicyclisis put up there yesterday. Fish Warden Alex. Johnston went to-day to pricare some more young fish to put in the lake. Lock Lomond no doubt will and its shores pretty well dotted with fishermen as the season

Queen's Birthday in Chatham

Enginneer Calvin Craig and Capt. Ed. Burke of the Chatham Fire department are entitled to much of the credit of Chatham's celebration of the Queen's Birthday. They had, of course, loyal, efficient and generous assistance from other workers, and contributors of horse and other services, free, but the pageant which paraded the streets and was the great feature of the day's celebration owed its conception and success to their initiative and faithful work in connection

There was a greater and more general decoration of the streets and buildings of the town than on any previous Queen's birthday, and it is probable that there never was such a putting up of new flagstaffs of different kinds for any other holiday as took place on Wednesday last. These evidences of the desire to honor the day being so general as they were, showed that there was something out of the ordinary course as a motive, and this was not far to seek. was in the realization by the people, in a greater degree than heretofore, of the fact endeavored to force the season by going to that Victoria is the Queen of Canada quite as much as she is of England, and in honoring her birthday the citizens of Chatham were animated by the spirit and influences It was a party that went on the usual which, during the last few months, have Queen's Birthday Miramichi Yacht Club developed the imperial idea from end to end cruise in Commodore Miller's steam yacht of the Empire.
