Northumberland Circuit Court.

The case of Wm. J. Kelly vs. J. Creaghan was heard before His Honor Judge MeLeod at an adjourned sitting of the Northumberland Circuit, held in St. John last week. There is also a case of the same plaintiff against the School Trustees of the Town of Chatham which stands on the same footing as to its merits.

It appears that in July 1890 Wm J. Kelly lent $4,000 to William Muirhead, of Chat ham, on a mortgage on his homestead and field property to secure the money lent. Afterwards, in February 1891, Mr. Muirhead's interest in these properties was sold out by the Sheriff under execution, and bought in by Hon. L. J. Tweedie for $1 for Astarwards, by Mr. Twee-lie's instructions, the Sheriff gave his deed of the properties to the Merchants Bank of Halifix, at Newcastle, for further security of his endorsement of a $5,000 note of Muirhead & Co.

It was claimed by the Bank that the property was sold under the Dick and Stewart executions, which had priority over the Kelly mortgage. Memorials of these judgments had been recorded before the registry of the mortgage, and executions placed in the Sheriff's hands prior to the date

It was also contended by counsel for the Bank that the Sheriff's deed, having recited these executions, the plaintiff was not in a position to contradict it and that, therefore, the action at law must fail as against the defendants, and that whatever remedy the mortgagee would have would be in the Court of equity and not at law.

that recitals in a Sheriff's deed were only prima facie evidence of facts stated, and was open to him to contradict such statements by parole evidence, and that under the Supreme Court Act the Judge had a right to allow equitable pleadings and to deal with the matter, to all intents and purposes as fully as a court of equity could do. The Judge, taking that view, allowed the loaned; Mr. John Lyons testified as attending at the Sheriff's sale and that notice was given to the Sheriff of the Kelly mortgage and that the property was sold subject to that mortgage.

Mr. W. C. Winslow also testified to the facts, as also d'd Messrs. R. H. Anderson and R. A. Lawlor.

Mr. Tweedie was also examined and stated positively that he had given notice to the Sheriff of the Kelly mortgage, and that the sale was made subject to it. He also proved that he had arranged the Stewart judgment with the Sheriff and that, outside of the real estate, there was ample personal property to satisfy the executions that had come into h s hands prior to the mortgage. It was also shown that Mr. Dick had agreed to take the Foundry property for his judgment.

It was further contended on the part of get along amicably. There was no reason the plaintiff that the execution on the Dick | why they should do otherwise.
