The want of a suitable and secure building for Court H. use and Gaol for this county has long been felt, and Judges from their places have year after year brought the subject before grand jury after grand jury, but somehow Santa Claus passed us till at length the great dilapitated state of the Court House made it unsafe for use and the gaol became no gaol. Some powerful denizen of the air but no doubt very greatly assisted by the County Council and their constituents came to our rescue, and all obstacles Mr. Clyde Johnston is visiting his parents | are now overcome, the work is now admirably accomplished, the workman's hammer and axe and iron tools have ceased. All is harmonious and well done. When we look at the immense granite blocks of which it is composed, we think of the strength and endurance of the everlasting hills, and the great monumental stones of the Great Pyramids come before us.

Well then may we congratulate each other and the County Council, the building commit tee and the master builder and indeed the whole people of Gloucester who have given their sanction and approval to the grand under taking. Is it then a wonder that the leading people of the County should desire to mark the opening of the building with a grand social? For that purpose we are assembled here tonight and I am desired by the Com mittee to thank all for their kind attendance, and especially those living outside the county, who doubtless at more incon venience have come to give eclat and importance to the unique occasion.

And what is the moral significance of the great building? As I walked up and down Il King Street, St. John, a few months ago on the memorable occasion of the visit of the new Prince and Princess of Wales, there was erected across the street, in their honor a beautiful substantial arch, the grandest have ever seen. There were several arranged mottos breathing loyalty and the Grand Imperial Policy. Among them was

May we not then fairly claim that these walls are for these purposes of a sacred character? And to emphasize these matters little further -the Divine law says-"Thou shall do no murder" "Thou shalt not steal" "Thou shalt not bear false wit ness." Our civil laws also say the same things. Ministers of religion endeavor constantly with God's help to teach and inculcate these things and duties, but unfortunately experience shows that they are not always able to do so. The offenders of course take the ultimate consequences and penalties. We lawyers claim that our code has the same Divine foundation, and with this addition that it is our duty to deal with offenders "in presenti" and mete out such punishment or penalties as are appointed for the offences, and we can rely on the strong coercive power of the civil sword to carry grateful satisfaction at the success of the them out immediately, and the present punishment sometimes at least acts as

What then is the proper mode of dedicating these and similar public buildings ? Some difference of opinion may exist. But who had so effectively contributed to the in the cases of new churches and chapels success of the occasion and hoped that more there can be no question as to dedicating such assemblages would follow from time to these with a religious service. Its appro this religious sentiment has existed since the dedication of the first great Temple at Jerusalem. The reason is not far to seek and I think it is very forcibly referred to in the words of that unique dedication. "Bu will God indeed dwell upon the Earth Behold the Heaven and the Heaven Heavens cannot contain Thee. How much less this house that I have builded."

But under our existing circumstances think I may, with heart and soul wish, to this building "Good luck in the name of the Lord." May it prove all that we hope from it. This surely is within our province and is in no way unseemly or out of character. for even pagans, in beginning and carrying out any great enterprise, did the same. At the regular monthly meeting of Chatham Town Council on Monday evening, alderman Nicol was chosen to preside, in the absence of Mayor W. B. Snowball. The minutes being read-

Ald. Maher objected to the record of the passing of the Bye-law relating to construc tion of buildings, which he claimed should be expunged, on the ground that it was not regularly passed.

Ald. Nicol said the minutes were only the record of what had been done at the meeting, and as they were correct they must stand. If there was any objections to anything that had been done at a former meeting there was a regular way to remedy it. The minutes were confirmed.

The section was struck out. The bill, as altered; was referred to the Finance Committee to be advertised and placed for passage before the next session of the Legislature.

A number of salary bills were submitted and ordered to be paid.

On motion of ald. Murdoch, the Finance Committee was authorised to borrow to the extent of $10,000 Bank of Nova Scotia for sewerage purposes to be repaid out of the first money realised in the new issue of $40,000 water and sewerage debentures.

It was ordered that a number of payments be made on account of water system con tracts.

Ald. Murray objected to any secrecy in conducting any part of the public business. A secret ballot in this matter was a direct blow at responsible government. The people should know what their representatives do. Such a mode of voting is only a refuge for a man who is too cowardly to let the people know how he conducts their business. He spoke at some length on the subject and said members of council should be above working in a concealed way.

Ald. Maher objected to tampering with the by-laws. Ald. Hocken said he was in accord with the sentiments expressed by ald. Murray.

Ald. McIntosh was for the by-law as i was, and opposed any change. Ald. Murray urged further reasons for the change he proposed, in raply to aldermen

He wished the Association every success in their efforts to further the interests of its members and the farmers throughout the

A. G. Dickson, of Chatham, replied to the address of welcome, thanking the Mayor for the hearty reception which had been accorded the members of the Association.

Alex. McNeal, Walkerville, Ont., was then introduced and gave a most interesting address on "Apple Culture." He began his remarks by stating his conviction that as far as he had been able to observe the conditions here, that apples could be grown successfully in very many sections of New Brunswick, and advised the farmers to turn their attention to this important branch of agriculture. In his opinion, five acres of apples of the right varieties and well taken care of, will yield a larger cash return than five acres of oranges in either Florida or California. Every one hundred acre farm in New Brunswick ought to have at least five acres devoted to orchard, choosing, if possible, a Northern or Eastern exposure. In selecting trees for planting, care should be taken to secure them from a reputable nursery firm. He would advise buying vigorous stock of either Duchess of Oldenburg or Talman Sweet and grafting this stock with the varieties best suited for the market, and the different localities in which the orchard is situated. If ever asked to recommend a list of varieties, he would name Ben Davie, Baldwin, Greening, Thorough cultivation of the orchard was all important. Thorough working of the soil should commence as soon as the land is fit to work in the Spring and kept up till about the first of August, at which time it is best o cease cultivation and sow the land to lover, either Mammoth, late Red or Crimson. Cultivation is stopped at this time to prevent late growth of wood, as such a was moved by Chas. Smith, of Woodstock. growth of unripened wood might be apt to and seconded by Thos. A. A first-class pump, which will give a steady pressure of 100 fbs. to the square inch, should be used, as on the steadiness of the pressure depends thoroughness, and consequently, the efficiency of the spray. Do not drench the trees, but cover all parts of the leaves with a thin and even coating. The codlin moth, which causes wormy apples, and the apple scab or black spot are the two greatest pests to contend with. For the latter four sprayings should be given, of a five years rotation as follows :-1. Grain seeded to clover.

3. Grain with clover seeded.

4. Clover Hav.

5. Hay or pasture. He believed in shallow cultivation and keeping always the humus in the soil as pear the surface as possible. Cultivation was all important to make plant food available and furnish a comfortable growing place for the plant, while a rotation of crops requiring different constituents of the soil and with different habits was very essential to a

The Growing of Corn and Roots. Simpson Rennie, of Milliken, Ontario. spoke at some length, giving in detail his experience in growing hoed crops on a very heavy clay soil. He had not been able to grow anything until he had underdrained his land. He was able to grow roots of enormous size and outlined his method of deep and constant surface cultivation.

Essentials to Dairy Success. Mr. Rennie's talk ran over into the afternoon session and was followed by Prof. J.A. Ruddick, Chief of the Dairy Division, Dept of Agriculture, Ottawa, who spoke of some essentials to success in co-operative dairying, outlining very carefully the best methods of caring for the milk on the farm and the construction of cheese and butter factories.
