DEEP BREATHING.
The Habit of Lazy Lungs May Be Overcome.
So much stress is laid in these days upon the value of fresh air that it is impossible for anyone to miss the lesson. Good ventilation is taught in all our schools; if it is not always practised; and treatment by the open-air method is becoming more and more advocated for certain diseases, especially tuberculosis.

In all this spread of knowledge and good sense it is unfortunately very possible to lose sight of the real issue. It is of holding the breath that many a one who can glibly patter off the number of cubic feet of air necessary for each one to breathe rarely draws a full breath. Fresh air is a free gift, but it is like most of the gifts of Heaven, in that we must do our part of work to benefit by it. No one would expect to have a good fire just because a pair of bellows hung on a nail by the chimney, but this is exactly what many people expect of their lungs, which are really only the bellows given us by which to keep the fire of life burning bright and clear within us.
It is not too much to assert that lungs properly used in a comparatively close room will do more good than lazy lungs in an open field. This trick of lazy lungs is a habit, like any other, and may be overcome by persistent effort. Many persons, for example, are afflicted with a nervous habit of holding the breath unconsciously. These are the people who, in spite of plenty of time spent

The Tragedy At Holmwood.

We were a large house-party at Holmwood that winter, numbering eighteen guests, besides the family, and the two Anstruther girls—Mary and Evelyn—were the life and soul of us. We had gathered round the big wood-fire in the old-fashioned hall, and settled down in our cosy chairs and most comfortable cosy-corner seats we could find, to listen to Captain Wilbraham's story.

"One name," he began, "was Isabel, and she was the only daughter of Sir Pierce, whose portrait hangs over there.

"Sir Pierce, so rumor says, was every wit for his day, and as unpleasant an old gentleman as his picture makes him. He had lost his life, and there were some unjust things to a cousin, a Captain Wilbraham, who had loved the Lady Isabel and told her so, had been turned out of the house by his uncle, who was now somewhere in the backwoods of America, trying to forget his lovely cousin, while she moped at home.

"Barely an hour after Sir Pierce's departure Lady Isabel retired to the head of her room, the room next to your room, Miss Evelyn.

"The conversation of the cousins lasted late into the night, and three was striking from the old clock on the turret when Captain Wilbraham kissed his young bride one long, last kiss, and, as he seemed to be gazing into the corner where the light from the window was still there, he said, 'In three days, dearest,' he said to the weeping girl, 'I will return and claim you from your harsh, unnatural father.'

"That you may do now, if you have the courage! said a grating voice from the doorway, and Sir Pierce, for it was he, strode into the room, and slashed his daughter's husband across the face with his riding-whip.

"In another moment, the two men, young and old, were engaged in a struggle which one at least of them would not survive, for there was bitter hatred in the hearts of both, and both forgot the presence of the fair young girl, who, in her white chamber robe, covered in the corner of the room and watched her father fighting for the life-blood of her husband.

"The captain, a better swordsman than his uncle, younger and more active, was victorious in the end; but a sudden movement of the elder man sealed his own fate, and the father of the Lady Isabel fell with his head on the floor in his side.

About the House

"Tomato Soup—One full pint stewed tomatoes. Rub through a colander, and then through a wire strainer. Add 1 pt boiling water, 2 teaspoon soda, and after it effervesces, turn in 1 pt fresh milk, butter the size of an egg, salt and pepper to taste. When the soup boils up, stir in 1 teaspoon cornstarch dissolved in a little cold milk. Some prefer this to oyster soup.

"Apple Fritters—Pare slice and core 2 or 3 apples; steam until tender. Make a batter of 1 teaspoon sour milk, 1 egg, 2 teaspoon soda, 1 full tablespoon sugar. Dip each slice in the batter and fry in a kettle of hot lard dripping. When done, dip each fritter in powdered sugar, serve warm, as a vegetable, if preferred.

"The Annual Demand in the States is 22,000,000 Axes.
James Oswald, of Madison, Wis., is said to be a great authority on timber and the lumber trade, and in a recently published article he gave some figures showing how great is the consumption of wood per year in the United States.

"Over 4,000,000,000 feet of pine lumber is used annually for matches, the equivalent of the product of 100 acres of virgin forest. On American railroads about 620,000,000 cross ties are required annually. The amount of timber used every year for ties is equal to 3,000,000,000 feet of lumber. In this country there are now standing nearly 7,500,000 telegraph poles. The average life of a pole is ten years, so that about 750,000 are required every year for renewals. These figures do not include telephone poles or railway telegraph poles, and the amount of timber consumed annually for poles and ties is equivalent to the timber grown on 100,000 acres of virgin forest.

"For making shoe pegs every year the amount of timber used is equal to the second growth of 3,500 acres of hardwood land. Lasts and boot trees require about 500,000 cords of wood. Although the making of paper from wood pulp is a comparatively new process, the annual consumption of wood for this purpose is equal to over 800,000,000 board feet of timber, for which it would be necessary, were the trees all growing to cut about 80,000 acres of forest. We are now using in America for the lumber and paper trade about 40,000,000 feet of lumber a year, which is equivalent to about 4,000,000 acres of virgin forest—an area equal to Rhode Island and Connecticut. These figures do not include the wood used for fuel, which is four and one-half times as much."

"It will thus be seen that, without taking any account of the forests destroyed each year by forest fires or in the pursuit of agriculture, the present annual demand in the neighboring republic reaches the enormous total of one and a half times the size of Nova Scotia.

LIGHT WEIGHT HOGS.
A good many farmers in Eastern Ontario are still adhering to the very foolish practice of marketing hogs that are too light in weight, and quite unsuitable for packing purposes. The Geo. Matthews Company Limited report that during the month of January their receipts of hogs graded as follows:—
Select 1398
Light 1840
Heavy fats 390
Stags 27
Cripples 21
Stores 123
A total of 4,154 hogs, of which only 1398 or about 33 per cent. were suitable for the manufacture of first class export bacon. If the trade in Canadian bacon is to be increased and maintained at its present volume, it is absolutely necessary that only hogs of proper weight and quality be sent to the packing houses.

NEARBY TREASURES.
Lucie—"I always give the prettiest embroidered things I do to my mother."
Marie—"That is kind and thoughtful of you."
Lucie—"Yes; then I can borrow them, you know."

THE REVERSIBLE PURSUIT.
Paul—"Percy, what is your idea of success?"
Percy—"My idea of success? Well, I'm having people run after me; you used to run away from me."

A Sufferer From Backache.

Every day adds scores of names to the long list of persons who have been cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and among those who are now enthusiasts in praising this great medicine is Mr. W. Gilroy, the well-known merchant of Blenheim, Ont.
"I am a sufferer from backache, and I do not know why he did not use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the first place, instead of experimenting with now-forgotten and untried remedies. There is no doubt about the exceptional virtues of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and thoroughly cure complicated ailments which cannot be reached by ordinary remedies.
