Obituary.

Mrs. Michael Morris, (nee Miss Coughlan, a teacher in the town schools and daughter of the late Thos. Coughlan, stevedore,) died at her home on Monday about noon, of pneumonia and other complicating troubles. She leaves a sorrowing husband and two daughters-one of three years and the other three weeks. She was a most estimable lady, and her husband, who is one of the town aldermen and superintendent of the Richards mill, has the sincere sympathy of a large number of friends embracing all classes in the community. At the funeral yesterday afternoon the Town Council attended in a bedy, and the floral offerings included a large cross from the Town Council, wreath from the town officials, one from the Richards mill employees; cross from Mr. J. T. Rundle, Mesers. Richards' business manager here, a wreath from the order of Hiberians and other offerings.

The funeral procession was a very long one. The service was said and sung by Rev. Father Joyner, assisted by the choir of St. Michael's pro-Cathedral. The pall-bearers were Mesers, F.E. Neale.

John Rundle, Jas. F. Connors, J. J. Noonan, W. C. Winslow and T. M. Gaynor.

leader since its organization, met last Thursday evening in the Town Hall to present him with a souvenir and address on th occasion of his departure for Fredericton, where he enters the Auditor-General's office A number of other citizens were also present. The souvenir was a $20 gold piece enclosed in a satin-lined morocco case. The presen tation was made, in behalf of the band, by His Worship Mayor Snowball, who said the duty was one which would be called pleasing by some, but not pleasing by others. To him it was a mixture of both. It was pleasing to find that one of our young men had gained the respect and confidence of his fellow citizens to the extent that Mr. Loudown had. We have too few such young men for us to spare any of them. As they had, last year, to say farewell to an esteemed member of the band, so had they now to do the same with Mr. Loudoun. He had held a higher position in the hand, and the organization must greatly regret losing him. He hoped the change Mr. Loudoun was making would be advantageous to him, and all felt assured that he would perform any duties that might fall to him faithfully as he had done those in connection with the band and in his commercial employment. The reading of the address from Mr. Loudoun's associates in the band, and which had been placed in his hands for that purpose, would be the pleasant part of the duty he had to perform and he did it most cheerfully.

The address was as follows : CHATHAM, N. B., 22nd May, 1902

zens' Band, Chatham, New Brunswick. DEAR SIR :- We regret to learn that the tide of events has decreed your departure for a position more suitable to your energy and talents. In reply, Mr. Loudoun said he hard! knew how to suitably express his appreciathe band, or his feelings over the kind i words of the address. In saying good-bye to them for the present he hoped to hear of their continued prosperity and On account of the death of his seventeen that he would always deserve the good wishes and friendship which they had expressed for him on this occasion.

> Later in the evening the members of the band and other friends, with Mr. Londour as guest, had a supper at Lahey's restaurant. Speeches in reply to toasts, songs and other music made the evening pass very pleasantly. Mr. Fred Eddy, president of the band, was chairman and Mesers. T. and J. #### Feeding and Management of Colts.

Many people think that a mare should est from work for several weeks before foaling. This is not so. If a brood mare has been accustomed to farm work, let her coninue at such work until a few days before she is due to foal. Moderate work is not only harmless, but beneficial to mares in foal, provided proper care be taken not to overload them. It is certainly better than keeping them tied up in the stable, or per mitting them to run at large in the fields with other horses. In the former case they suffer from want of exercise, and in the latter they are very liable to accidente from racing, playing or fighting with one another After the foal is dropped the mare should have a few days rest, not only for her own sake, but for that of the foal as well. When the time of foaling approaches the dam should be turned loose in a large box stall, or if the weather be mild in a paddock. When the mare is a valuable one, and the prospective foal is looked for with a good deal of interest, it is well to watch her closely, as many valuable animals have been list, which by a little attention at the right moment might have been saved. About the best time for foaling is the latter part of May, as there is then an abundance of grass, selfishness, we are heartily pleased to hear of and the heat is not excessive. Autum u colts will do well if carefully wintered. Colts born in midsummer-fly time-should be housed during the day, and the mare fed green feed. These extra cares are an objection to this time of breeding. For a considerable period before foaling the mare should be fed on soft food, so as to keep her bowels open and stimulate the flow of milk. The foods that have been found useful in increasing the flow of milk in the cow, will have the same effect upon the mare. Wheat bran is particularly desirable, fed in the form of a mash: oats, clover, hay and carrots are all good, but plenty of good fresh grass is probably the best aid to healthy and abundant nutrition, for both mare and foal,

It is of the highest importance that the young horse should start life in full health and vigor, and to this end he should very soon after birth take a good draught of the tion of the treatment he had received from | first milk of the dam. Colostrum has a purgative effect which is necessary in order to cause the bowel; to assume their natural functions. If this is not accomplished natunally, a gentle purgative of castor oil should be given. If the foal is born in the foetal membrane. it must be liberated at once, or it will suffocate. If the navel cord is not runtured, it may be tied tightly in two places near together and cut between the cordings, or it may be severed by scraping it with a dull knife about two inches from the navel.

The gathering broke up with three rousing Colts will bleed to death if the umbilical cord is severed too close to the body, and too soon after the colt is born; careful watching is better than luck at such times. Foals are very subject to a disease called joint evil, which is almost always fatal, and when not actually fatal, renders the foal not worth raising. Recent investigations have shown that this disease is caused by blood poisoning, the poisonous matter entering through the newly severed naval cord, from 3rd June, at 8.30 p.m.

The former is usually caused by over feeding. issued from the craters and fissures of the exposure to inclement weather, and should mountain, and the atmosphere throughout be checked at once by the use of such corand boiled milk. Constipation on the other hand may be relieved by the use of castor oil, and by injections of warm water to which soap has been added. In all cases of amount of feed of both dam and foal, thus will cease seoner. As soon as the foal is properly weaned, he should have the run of a good pasture, as there is no food better han grass, no medicine as good as exercise, fresh air and sunlight. As the weather grows colder the foal should be put in the stable at night, and fed a little oats and bran. As soon as the winter sets in he should if possible have a loose box and be let out every day for an hour or two for exercise, feeding a little bran mash, a few carrots and clover hay. With such care he will come out in good shape in the spring. Whenever it is practicable the colt should be broken to halter while yet a suckling, and the earlier in life this process is commenced the more easily it will be accomplished. He may soon be led by the side of the dam without difficulty, and when once accustomed to being guided by the halter, it will be an easy matter to lead him anywhere. By the time he is weaned, he will lead like an old horse, and when the time comes to break him to harness he will give little trouble; in fact he is already broken. When a colt is two and one half years old hitch him alongside of a steady, aged horse, and he will become accustomed to work, Use Ashes and pumice are falling slowly in the him to do light work the first winter and so seeding on the farm.
