some way the two former were thrown from the cab into the water. Clarke was under the boiler and was drowned. It was very dark at the time and neither driver nor fireman knew that the other was saved for some minutes. McAuley was thrown over the engine into the water on the fireman's side and the latter was thrown some feet distant up to his neck, but managed to reach the ferry. Neither was hurt but both were soaked with water.

Eighty Marries Twenty-Two.

A London cable despatch of Tuesday's date to the New York Herald says that just five weeks ago the Marquis of Donegal who all his life has been a head of the old school was presented to the beautiful Canadian, Miss Violet Twining, of Fredericton, who created quite a sensation when she was presented at the King's first court by Lady Strathcona.

BUSINESS TRAINING is a very important thing and the necessity for it constantly grows the greater because of the increasing keenness of business competition in this strenuous time. Young men in a position to do so should not neglect the opportunity which Kerr's St. John Business College offers to acquire an equipment in this regard that will in after life be worth its cost a hundred fold. The next term opens January 5th. A term or two at this institution would be worth a thousand "Christmas boxes" to any young man intending to engage in commercial life.

NORTHERN RY—The Kent Northern railway was sold at Richibucto on Friday by W. C. H. Grimmer, referee in equity, under a decree of the Supreme Court in Equiv. The property was purchased by Thomas Ritchie, of Halifax, who is to hold the same in trust for other parties interested. The amount paid was the nominal sum of $5,500. This railway has been much improved during the past summer, and it is understood that the management will run it more efficiently than ever. Everybody who is interested in its traffic—either freight or passenger—will sincerely hope so.

An Alleged Yankee Cheat.

Connecticut, which is reported to have originated the wooden ham and nutmeg industry, which was, of course, not a long-lived one, has the distinction of originating the story of another swindle to meet a domestic demand. A press despatch says that many persons in the town of Derby in that State are looking for a benevolent stranger who sold them crushed stone coated with tar, as coal. The man said he represented a syndicate which from philanthropic motives was distributing a limited quantity of coal throughout the State, and that he could send to one non-holder not more than two bushels. He said the price to all was fifty cents a bushel, which just covered the cost, including delivery, and that orders taken would be filled the next day, cash on delivery. He took many orders, and the next day he delivered the alleged coal from a large wagon and received the money. The fraud in nearly all instances was discovered within a few hours, but the perpetrator of the swindle appears to have escaped.

ATTEMPTED SELF POISONING.—A Boston despatch of Monday says: Caroline Arsenault, who she came to Boston from Kingston (N. B.) five years ago, tonight quarrelled with an admirer, the police say, at 68 Cambridge street, where she was known as Carrie Arndt. Currie took a generous drink of sulphur-naphthal and almost immediately aroused the house with her agonized screams.

At the relief hospital, within 10 minutes, the officer was subjected to the vigorous action of a stomach pump. In one of the operating rooms, after the poison had been removed and the girl's hysteria subsided, she insisted on leaving the institution and eventually did so, although advised to remain until morning.

Obituary.

We are sorry to record the death of Donnie J. Buckley, a promising boy of fifteen years, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Buckley, of Rogersville. He died in Moncton on the 19th inst., having undergone an operation there for appendicitis. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents, as, not a year ago, they buried their little daughter, Geraldine, who died in Newcastle county while attending school there.

The funeral took place Saturday morning from the parental residence to St. Bernard's church where a Requiem Mass was sung.

Press Specimens.

Carelessness in the editing of matter in newspapers now-a-days was exemplified on 18th inst. in one that reached us from St. John. The paper placed over a press telegram the heading: "A $50,000,000 rag picker." The telegram referred to a Jewish rag-picker who had been admitted as a charity patient in the general hospital at Toronto and died there, and sewed in whose vest (waistcoat) was found $50,000 in securities. The yearly income from these securities was said to be "estimated at fully $44,000."

There can be no reasonable excuse for publishing such absurd statements as news. The $50,000,000 heading was the editor's. Whose the $44,000 income from $50,000 worth of securities was will never be known. The same paper refers to an accident on board of a steamer, in which it said a man sustained a "complicated" fracture of the left leg.

Railway Fatality.

The switch, about 150 yards east of Dorchester station, was on Tuesday morning the scene of a fatal railway accident in which Walter Clarke, of Moncton, brakeman, lost his life and Driver James McAuley and Fireman Albert Chapman had miraculous escapes from a similar fate. The wrecked train, The Oceanic in charge, left Moncton at 4.10 o'clock and not having any orders to stop at Dorchester slowed up considerably, as is customary, after passing a station. The signals ahead were noticed by the engineer to be all right when, suddenly, at the switch the engine dropped on the sleepers and plunged along the ties and in an instant toppled over into a ditch which was filled with about seven feet of water. Driver McAuley, Fireman Chapman and Clarke were in the engine. Clarke was in the brakeman's forward seat in front of the fireman. The engine after plunging along the sleeping bed suddenly raised on the right side and toppled over into the water. McAuley, Chapman and Clarke were completely submerged, but in Marconi says he has fully Succeeded.

The Floating Saw Mill.

Up on Lake Champlain they are operating a floating sawmill with a great deal of success, says a Vermont exchange. It is a two-story, arched affair, built upon a heavy float or scow.

The boiler and sawing machinery occupy the entire main deck. The upper story is divided into living rooms for the crew. As soon as the mill has finished one batch of logs a small tug tow it to the next cove. The mill can be hauled by the week or by the job, just as horse-power wood cutters and threshing mills are on the Miramichi and in other parts of New Brunswick, and in some cases the logs have been cut on shares. The result has been that farmers along the lake have been able to cut their trees and market the lumber with profit.

There was a time when Lake Champlain was one of the greatest lumber marts in the world. Burlington was the center for a vast business and its water front was a network of mills. A shortage of timber on the shores of the lake and in the immediate back country dwarfed the industry.

Improved transportation facilities have made it possible to send mills into the woods and ship out the lumber directly. The lake is no longer a necessary adjunct to the trade. Now, by means of the floating sawmill, the stray ends will be picked up and the last sign of marketable timber will disappear.

The floating saw mill has gone into winter quarters behind the Burlington breakwater, where it attracts much attention. A high stack rises out of the house at the stern, giving the craft the appearance of an antiquated steamer. In the same end are the saw carriage after being hauled up a portable slip. The sawdust and scraps are carried into the fire room and furnish the fuel. The mill will start on its round of the lake as soon as the ice breaks up in the spring. Now that the success of the scheme has been proved the floating mill will have to work overtime, as the farmers will do much logging this winter.

A Promising Mine on the Taxis River.

(Fredericton Globe, Dec. 18.) Knowing that Mr. W. T. Chestnut had been out with Mr. Griffin of Green Hill deer hunting the Geometer called to see him and get what information he could in reference to the reported opening of a mine in the Taxis river country by the Carnegie people.

Four years ago, said Mr. Chestnut, Mr. Griffin showed me some of this ore and said he would like to have some one take hold of it. I knew nothing of mining and did not care to invest the amount of money required to open it up. Last year I drew Mr. H. F. Waugh's attention to it, but nothing was done about it, until last spring Mr. Griffin sent me some samples to the government mineralogist at Ottawa. His report was that the ore is what is known as zinnifer and carried a large percentage of lead and silver and some gold.

This fall while hunting moose with the Carnegie party one of them became greatly interested in the ledge and took some samples of the ore back to the United States with him. These samples were just knocked off the ledge with an axe and the best of it could not be got at in this way.

About two weeks ago Mr. Griffin received from Mr. Carnegie a substantial check and order to have the ground at once surveyed and claim filed in the Crown Land office.

Mr. Carnegie also gave instruction to have the ledge opened up and further said that if the rock continued as good below as it was on top to let him know at once and he would come and buy.

Mr. Griffin employed Mr. Malone of Stanley, the well known surveyor, and he acting under orders from the Crown Land office has surveyed the area. Mr. Griffin now intends to go to work at once with dynamite and open up a good piece of the ledge and report to Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Chestnut further states that Mr. Griffin used up three sticks of dynamite (all he had) and found the rock at least twice as rich as the samples Mr. Carnegie took away.

One or two small samples of the ore can be seen at the store of R. C. Chestnut, but still will give a good idea of the appearance of the ore. The claim is on the lumber lands of the Wm. Richards Co., 17 miles from Stanley, and the ledge crosses the portage road on top of a hardwood ridge two miles north of Taxis River. A piece of the ledge can be seen along the ridge for a half mile or more and there is enough of it to furnish work for a large plant for 25 years. It is rather remarkable that no one ever noticed the ore before, as it is very bright and the Miramichi portage runs directly over it, and Lynch, Welch and Richard Co. teams have been hauling over it for 25 years.

The Small-Pox Situation.

The Health authorities have not found it all plain sailing in handling the small-pox outbreak near Rogersville, although the situation is practically the same as it was last week. There are sixty-five cases—all confined to the houses which were quarantined in the first place—but the Board has been obliged to place the Porrier Hotel near Rogersville Station in quarantine, under circumstances which illustrate the difficulty of securing observance of the law and obedience to the Board's instructions, even from those who ought to be in willing accord therewith. It appears that a physician named Bourdette came a month or so ago to Rogersville presumably to practice his profession there. He is not registered in New Brunswick, and it is understood that he took the ground that the Board of Health and the physicians advising it were wrong in their diagnosis. He made visits, however, amongst the people of the affected districts, in Welford, Kent, visiting at least one house where there was small-pox. He made his home at the Porrier Hotel. He was joined by the Northumberland Board representatives to Rogersville. Dr. Donald in cases of any kind of rash which might occur under his observation and he agreed to do so. Dr. McDonald, however, found that he was not reporting as promised. He had been visiting houses which were infected and, in disregard of reasonable precaution, gave also to patients in non-affected houses and returning to the Porrier house at Rogersville station. Dr. McDonald commuted on the subject with Dr. Keith of Welford where Dr. Bourdette had been visiting, and the facts ascertained justified Dr. McDonald in attempting to place the Porrier house and its inmates in quarantine. Dr. Bourdette included. These people, however, refused to submit to the quarantine and Dr. McDonald telegraphed the facts to the Chairman of the County Board of Health, who with Dr. Hayes, the secretary, proceeded to Rogersville on Saturday, when better counsels prevailed and the quarantine of the Porrier Hotel and its inmates, including Dr. Bourdette, for twenty days, was accomplished. The place is now under the surveillance of two constables from Chatham.

The action is, of course, entirely precautionary, but has been rendered necessary in the public interest by one person setting himself and his views up against the constituted health authorities.

It is reassuring to learn that, in some of the houses that have been isolated in Rogersville parish, convalescence is so far advanced that disinfection and liberation from the quarantine are to take place in a few days.
