CHATHAM VS. MOUNT ALLISON. The Monnt Allison football team and a team from Chatham, composed mainly of former college players, met on the Mount Allison gridiron on Saturday. The ground was wet and muddy, and the ball became greasy and hard to handle soon after the game commenced. Two twenty five minute halves were played, and in both the home team had the advantage. Soon after the start of play, DeLong secured the ball the visitors' five yard line and bucked across, scoring Mount Allison's fi st point. The kick for goal failed, but Motver soon after wards added three more to the score by nice rush. Jakeman converted, making the score 8-0. A few minutes later the ball was sent from one end to the other of the Mount Allison half-back line, and Land went across the line. The kick for goal was successful, and the half ended with a score of 13-0 in Mount Allison's favor. It the second half the play was in Chatham's territory continually, and Paisley, Black and Captain Hume added to the home team's score. Lane also crossed Chatham's line twice, but Referree Rhodes, Amherst, refused to allow the claims for tries. Chatham also touched twice for safety in this half. The features of the game were the magnificent work of the Mount Allison scrimmage, Wright's kicking at half, and the strong running of Lane and Black. Fo Chatham Gibson and Troy, both former

An incident of the storm was that the weight of wet snow on the wires caused a contact in several places between those of the electric light and telephone systems. The result was that the light current entered the cable box-or pole house at the rear removed with her parents to Peters' Mill-, of the central telephone station-which protects the cross connecting board communicating with the station switch board. The Toronto World says :-Rev. Canon Welch of St. James Cathedral has announced that on the first Sunday of each month, when hely communion is celebrated, certain portions of the regular morning service will be dispensed with in order or accommodate those who would otherwise find the service too lengthy

Canon Welch says : "It has long been felt by many members of the congregation that the morning service on Sundays is too long for those who com municate at a midday celebration. Some find the strain of a service which lasts from 11 o'clock till, occasionally, 1.15, too severe, while others find that they get home so late that their domestic arrangements are seriously affected. Requests have frequently been made to me to have the service shortened in some way, and made, too, by regular communicants whose motives are not frivolous but deserving of all possible consideration. But I have never found any plan which seemed free from serious objections until I heard recently of a church in another diocese where a practice has been adopted to which, I think, little objection

"The plan is to break off the office of Matine at the Benedictue and to follow i immediately by the communion office. instead of going on to the third collect as we do at present. By this plan there would be omitted, the Apostle's Creed, the Lesser Litany and Lord's Prayer, the Versicles and Responses, and the three Collects and also the anthem; a great deal of what it is proposed to omit is repeated elsewhere. It may, however, be said that we have no authority for such omission, and I frankly admit that it would be irregular; but we have already taken the law into our own hands, so to speak, by not going further than the third Collect in Matins or by omitting the Litany; and it does not seem more irregular to break off at the Benedictus than to break off at the third Collect."
