The publisher desires to urge upon the notice of all who wish to contribute matter of any kind to the ADVANCE's columnswhether it be advertising, news or notices of meetings, etc .- that the paper goes to press on Wednesday afternoons and, to ensure publication, their favors should be in the office not later than Wednesday morning.

The printing of the paper is frequently delayed by persons who hold back accounts of meetings, announcements of entertainments, etc., which they might easily send in days before that on which we go to press, but they seem to consult only their own convenience and often place them in our hands on Wednesday after the paper is made ready for press, and seem to think it a hardship because they do not appear; and, are really free list advertisements. We before, want to help every deserving organization in the community, freely, in every legitimate if you can possibly avoid doing so.

Heroic Proportions.

The new designs of wall paper are made in heroic proportions. Here are shown the most beautiful wall papers ever shown in the wall paper market. The idea has been to give the purchaser of wall paper all that excellence, good taste and judgment can put into papers at reasonable price. We aresure you will find just what you want.

Fit for a Queen.

Royalty never gazed on any more excel lent wall decorations than this paper design en by the artist to beautify the homes of this country this year. There are so many beautiful designs it is hard to name any special one. We believe that you will find just what you want, and the price will not be so much as to alarm you. The art-loving Antoinette or the beauty-lever Maintenon would have pronounced these papers exclusive, refined and pure. They are made to wear and will outlast the ordinary paper.

INCOMPARABLE.

You can hardly compare this stock of wall papers with any other. It is finer, larger relieves at once, clears the nasal passages, nd of a distinct quality not often obtainable for the money. There has been so much care taken in the designing of this paper that you will scarcely fail to get colors and figures to suit. We would like to have your approval. We are sure we will have your

Here they went into the general drive with the Sinclair Company's logs-all but those from the Clearwater stream -and the whole were then driven by the united forces of the Meantime, Mr. John Sullivan, with very effective driving crew, had brought along the North Branch of Sevogle drive consisting of about one and a half millione feet, which was all out past the Square Forks into the main Savogle last Thursday evening. Mr. Sullivan then put his crew on the South Branch drive to assist in getting that out. It was expected that the South Branch drive would be past the Forks on Tuesday of this week.

A mishap, which was, fortunately, at tended with no more serious results than the loss of some two hundred dollars' worth of supplies and clothing and other belongings of a number of the driving crew took place in the South Branch of Sevogle on Friday last. The Burchill baggage skiff had had no regular men to run it, and Mr. Murdoch Hare-an expert at the work-assisted by an Indian named Charley Cloud, were obtained from the Suclair crew to take charge. It was deeply laden and came auddenly upon a sunken birch that projected under water towards a ledge. Hare, in the emergency, called to the Indian to swing the bow clear of the obstruction, but the latter dropped his poll, and jumped safely to the ledge. Hare was unable to cope with the difficulty alone and the skiff swung around, col iding with the sunken birch and ledge causing it to turn over and dump nearly all of its valuable contents into the river. Hare went to his neck in the river and was carried down stream near the wrecked skiff until he managed to get ashore. When the remains of the boat were found next day a cask of molasses was also recovered. It had jammel in a fragment of the bow, but it was all that was saved out of the ou fit that had been on board. Fortunately, the Sinclair and Sullivan crews had some provisions to spare and these supplied the losing crew until Masses. Burchill's relief wagons arrived two days after with a dupl cate lot of stores. The men in charge of these drives are

This class of people have no particular interest in the preservation of game, and in nine cases out of ten when they succeed in getting a moose, the State of Maine received the credit for it. Under the law as amended visiting sportsmen who hunt in New Brunswick must engage local guides or none at all. The embargo placed on partridges for a many quarters and is likely to cause a great deal of kicking. Partridges are looked upon as game for amateur sportsmen and others who like to spend an occasional day in the woods, and it is this class who will feel the keenest disappointment over the action of the legislature. It is an admitted fact that partridges are becoming more scarce each year in some sections of the province, but so excellent authority as John Stewart of the C. P. R. says the sportsmen is not altegether to blame for this, According to Mr. Stewart, many of the birds are destroyed when young by a kind of worm, which its way into their crop. Whether this is the case or not, the law prohibiting the shooting of partridges is now on the statute books, and if it is properly enforced there cannot fail to be a great increase in the number of the birds between now and the autumn of 1905 .- F'con Herald.
