The New Highway Act.

The new Highway Act introduced the Legislature by the Local Government is a great improvement on the old one All bridges of forty feet span, and under, are to be built by the local superintend ent of roads. Each superintendent will be furnished by the Public Works Department with a full set of working plans of a king-post truss bridge - the kind used for e worked from.

The special poll tax of $1 is to take the place of the $1.50 formerly proposed and valuation on property owners will cash. If a man owns a property say $1,500 he will pay $1.80 besides his poll tax, or $2.80 in all, which is a very reasonable sum for the maintenance roads and much better than having to d statute labor as under the old system.

Provincial Subsidies.

[Gleaner 26th] Sir Wi'frid Laurier was questioned the House of Commons yesterday in re gard to the subject of provincial sub sidies. The question was put by th leader of the Opposition and was base on the paragarph in the speech of the Lieutenant Govornor of Quebec on ope ing the Legislature. Sir Wilfred Laurie according to the Sun's report, said subject would have to be dea't with at early date. His reply is a complet justification of the statement made by Dr. Pugsley in our Legislature, which was s much carped at by the Opposition and the St. John Sua. There is no more doubt of the Provinces receiving th amounts they are asking of the Dominic Government than there is of the existence of Confederation. The justice of their claims is fully recognized and when the matter is taken up by the Dominio Government it will be dealt with promptly. New Brunswick will have about $200,000 added to its revenue which wil make things very easy and enable th Government to deal liberally with all claims upon it.

Ottawa. In the House of Commons on Wednes day of last week, the Speaker's gallery was crowded with delegates of the W. C. T. U., Mr. McLaren of Huntingder introduced his bill, or rather a resolution to introduce it, to prohibit the importation, manufacture and sale of cigarettes in Canada. In a forceful, yet temperate, manner, he explained his measure, supporting his position with a startling array of facts and tigures, gathered chiefly from Upited States sources, showing the demoralizing effect on the rising generation of the use of cigarettes, which were tobacco alone, as they contained other ingredients of an even more harmful nature. Provincial legislation to the evil had been tried, but after all the remedy was up to the federal parliament He argued that evils should not licensed and that the old commandment. "Thou shalt not," was as imperative today as when Moses handed down the

The debate was continued up to six o'clock by Richardson, Oliver Holmes, Lavergue, McCarthy, Osler, Henderson, Puttee, Douglas, McPherson, Ross Victoria, N. S., Borden of Halifax and the premier. Borden agreed with the member for Victoria, that the use cigarettes by the youth was to be deplored, but contended that the proposed legislation did not strike at the root of the evil. So long as tobacco was the country boys could roll their ewn cigarettes, if they could not buy them. We had heard that cigarettes contained sedative ingredients, but be that as it may state interference with parental control of Magazine. Large commissions. Cash prizes. Write the youth was a delicate matter. It was J. N. Trainer, 80 East Washington Square, New a subject that should engage the most thoughtful consideration of parliament. of the honse would do the same, to grapple with this great evil. Sir Wilfred followed. He said the proposed bill was not of a practical nature. He admired the spirit and intent of its mover, but felt that so long as tobacco was allowed to the grown and used Canada, such legislation would have little effect. If reform is needed, let us protect the boys from the use of tobacco in any form, but that was the duty of the parents. (Applause.) So far as legislative interference went, it rested, he contended, with the provincial legislatures instead of with the federal parliament To the good ladies who advocated this measure, he would say that the remedy was in their own hands. Good cooking and noble home surroundings would do more to set the youth of the country on the right path than all statutory enactments that could be devised. Can we in his answer to a question had contradicted that, I would prefer to see the leader of the faithfully and in so acceptable a manner.

Before going into supply on Friday, Sir Wilfrld Laurier, roplying to a question by occasions last year by the Premiers of all the Provinces, with a view to having a readjustment. The project has not yet been taken up by the Dominion Government, but he had stated personally to one or two of the Prime Ministers that in his judgment this matter will have to be at a very early date the subject of very serious consideration by the Government.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated on Friday that after a conference with the leader of the opposition it was decided that all details regarding the modifications of the Grand Trunk Pacific contract would be laid on the table Monday next and the subject would come up on April 5, immediately on the house resuming after recess and the debate would go on daily

Rearing Chickens on The Farm.

There is every indication that there will be a great consumption of poultry in Canada this year. The demand for every class shows a striking increase during the last few years. Mr. F. C. Hare, Chief of the Dominion Poultry Division, does not believe it possible for the farmers to rear, for at least five years to come more utility-type chickens than can sold with profit on the Canadian markets alone. Moreover, commission merchants 40 ft., and smaller spans - and these will in Great Britain can handle profitaby at least $1,000,000 worth of our poultry yearly. Last year the export of chickens to Great Britain was materially reduced on account of the great demand in Canada The poultry experts from Canada to Great Britain were only $160.518, a small preportion of the $5,154,002 imported by the Mother Country. The greatest value of poultry was exported from Russin, Belgium, France and the United States. Each of these countries shipped over $1,000,000 worth. It is a short-sighted policy on the part of our farmers neglect this industry, when there is unsatisfied demand for pout y; infor mation with regard to any branch of the business can be had gratis, and the business is a profitable one.

It will pay almost every farmer to im grove his flock before the breeding season begins. There is a greatly increased profit in breeding from utility-type specimens rather than from cemmon barnyard stock. It is preferable to select the eggs for hatching from a breeding pen of weive hens and one cockerel rather than from the larger number of laying heus on the farm. As a general rule, the egg that are incubated on the form are eggs from the poorer lavers. A utility type Plymouth Rock cockerel should bought and placed at the head of breeding pen. A great improvement will be noticed in any flock of farm fowls by crossing with the Plymouth Rock.

The eggs for hatching should be kept in a coel place (40 to 60 degrees). chickens should not be hatched later than the middle of June, May hatched chickens are preferable. It is quite possible for almost every farmer to increase the number of chickens reared with lit le extra labor.

Sitting hens should not be allowed hatch chickens in any place they choose about the farm buildings. They should be in one pan, set apart for this purpose The next boxes should be made without fleor and placed around the sides of the pen. Two or three shovelfuls of earth should be thrown into each nest box and a hollow space scooped out for the eggs: the earth should be covered sparingly with straw. A board is required in front of the nest to confine the hen at will, This nest will give outdoor conditions in an indoor pen. The sitting hens should be thoroughly dusted with sulphur kill the vermin. All of them should be fed on whole grain and grit, and watered at the one time. The hens should be placed on the nests and closed in when feeding. It is advisable to start several hens together. The infertile eggs can then be tested on the ninth day and one or more of the hens reset. There is a great loss in farm reared chickens, caused by the mother hen having her liberty, The hen wanders through the wet grass; the chickens follow her and become chilled and the weaker i ones die. This loss can be prevented by confining the hens in a brood coop, It is more satisfactory to have a large brood coop that will be a shelter during inclement weather. A packing box of three four feet, each dimension, is none too large. The cover of the box can be used for the floor. The bex is reversed, foren end on the greund) and an opening one eral, the language used by the latter was not the superintendent need not admit patient foot high is made across one side of the box against the open end. Two one inch by two inch cleats are nailed on the two ends of the box at the ground; the cover or floor is reduced in size so that it wil slide in on these cleats. This allows the floor to be removed for cleaning. The box should be covered with tar paper to make it water-tight and there should be 10 by 14 inch pane of glass in the front. This glass should slide in cleats for ventilation. In front of the one foot opening at the ground there should be crate 15 inches high covered with laths two inches apart. The hen comes out into the lath crate to be fed and watered; the chickens run through the laths. This form of coop will house safely one her and thuty chickens. The number of do all in his power and felt that the bulk | coops is thus reduced. The hen and chickens should be placed in a grass field This will reduce the mortality due to the chickens being reared on intected ground around the farm buildings. A number of cases have been reported to the Poultry Division of chickens and turkeys dying because of feeding on ground previously
