

LOCAL BITS.

BUILDING.—Mr. O. Sharkey's new buildings are getting on their feet. This looks cheering.

PERSONAL.—The Receiver general, Mr. Adams, is in town, and is well presumed to death.

NO DISPATCHES this morning. Wires crossed in consequence of last night's gale. All right soon.

THE GOAT SHOW seems as if it intended to winter here. When it comes too cold for the "camp," "nanny" can go next door.

AGRICULTURAL SHOW.—Kingsclear show was held Thursday last and was quite successful. After our late Exhibition it did not receive very much attention from city folks.

CEREMONY.—The funeral of Mr. T. R. Robertson took place yesterday and was followed by a host of friends to the grave. Deceased was at one time Collector of Customs, and was always revered and respected.

THE REGATTA.—The "Ed" of the Telegraph is very ignorant on boating matters. Had it been a question of canoe or scow racing we should argue it with him, presuming he would know something about it. We excuse Mr. Elder,—that awful grammar—the sentence minus the predicate—tells the editor in chief did not write it. Know as much about boat racing as grammar, poor "Park" does.

Naval H. M. S. Bellerophon, carrying the flag of Vice-Admiral Inglefield sailed from Quebec for Halifax on Saturday, under a salute from the Citadel. The Argus and Sirius remain until next Saturday to escort the steamer on which His Excellency Earl Dufferin sails for England down the river. Halifax Reporter.

THE FREDERICTON ROWING FEVER. Wm. Russell, who spoiled the exhibition regatta by rowing into E. H. Allen, has challenged Mr. Allen to row a friendly two-mile race. Mr. Allen refuses the "friendly" overtures, and challenges Russell or any other Celestial amateur for a three-mile pull for $50 a side. Mr. Russell will have to put up or shut up. Sun.

That's just it. LOOSENESS.—Some people are sieves. They leak; they have no bottom. We are fully prepared for an article that is to appear in Saturdays Agricultural, which is to swamp everything. It will be just such another it is feared as annihilated Fisher there some time ago. If it does, the down town chaps will have to call on the hills to cover them and the valleys to hide them. We do hope 't will be nothing as serious as this.

JES A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—Mr. McCane was looking round for "de fellers that rowed down onions and broke his glass." On the list was Charley Hart and the STAR reporter. He called at the store for Charley, but "jos" where the mistake came was that this time Hart was out taking up a collection to repair the negro's windows and was as innocent of the break up as our reporter. The number laid before Mr. Marsh was about forty. Mr. Marsh dismissed the unhappy bridegroom.

CURLERS.—At a meeting of Curlers of this city held Thursday evening, at the Waverley Hotel, the following Officers, skippers, etc., were elected:— Col. Saunders—Patron A. F. St. Germain—President John B. Greives, J. R. Howe—Vice Presidents W. P. Flewelling Sec. Treas. Skips.—J. S. Neill, J. B. Greives, J. R. Howe, A. F. St. Germain, H. C. Rutter. Committee of Management.—Jas. S. Neill, J. B. Greives, G. T. Logg, G. Y. Dibley. Executive Committee.—T. C. Allen, W. P. Flewelling. Where is Sergt. Woodworth?—Rep.

THE PRESS ON THE "STAR"

The "STAR."—The Fredericton Morning Star don't twinkle much itself, but it appears determined to make some of its neighbors blink. Miramichi Advance.

Instead of "blinking" the Advance must have had its eyes shut in looking at the STAR.

THE MORNING STAR is the name of a sprightly sheet published at Fredericton by Mr. Joseph E. Collins. It was issued daily during Exhibition week, and will be published tri-weekly in future. St. Croix Courier.

The Courier has always been known to have the faculty of keen appreciation.

We have received the first number of a new daily newspaper just published at Fredericton, N. B., called the "MORNING STAR." It bids fair to be a lively, spicy, and readable daily visitor, and we have no doubt will be patronized by the good people of the "celestial" city. Truro Sun.

What a pity some of the Sun's intellectual light has never shone on our gloomy Globe.

THE FREDERICTON STAR. Fredericton's new paper, The Morning Star, which is published tri-weekly by Mr. Jos. E. Collins, is filled with well-written original matter. Yesterday's issue has articles on "Great Men," "Effects of Intellectual Culture" and "Matrimony," the subjects being treated philosophically, poetically, personally, and locally. Some of New Brunswick's Great Men will probably be given places in the series before it closes. We nominate John H. Reid for one. In the matrimonial article the following portrait is drawn:

Now look at the wretch, nobody to love, nobody loving him, skulking along the street anything, but cheerful looking. It is he who has no hopes of ever being married. Take for this last melancholy example, OURSELVES. Fredericton rumor gives the lie to this statement about "nobody loving him," and asserts that "he has hopes of being married very soon. He will find, however, that the Star will not leave him any time for prosecuting his courtship. St. John Sun. It will be seen the St. John Sun is the most appreciative of the lot. We are thankful for its notice about the paper which speaks volumes for its intelligence. But our "Matrimonial" matters we have in charge ourselves.

CORRESPONDENTS.

(For the STAR.) WEST END ITEMS.

A correspondent sends the following: This section of the town since exhibition week and its consequent turmoil, has at last settled on its beam ends; been restored to its usual quiet, waiting as it were for future developments. Yet, the general aspect of affairs, the recurrence of the last few days have not been devoid of interest. Two Benedicts have launched their barks upon the troubled sea of matrimony. One, a well-known engineer of an up-town establishment, preserving the usual business like tact and composure with which he would pull the whistle for dinner-time had the ceremony performed without any ostentatious displays, appeared at his station a few hours afterwards with untroubled composure.

The other, a sable descendant of Ham, attempting to abstract himself from the common herd, had the nuptials celebrated and endowed with two-fold interest by the obnoxious presence of a full band of seranaders, who pursued their musical and instrumental vocation far past the boundaries of the night. In vain did the unhappy bridegroom present his imploring visage at the window. He had barely time to crouch down and withdraw his head from its too prominent position, when a volley of every war-like missile, peculiar to the locality, crashed through the window. Finding himself absolutely besieged, he despatched one of his ebon retainers "by de near entrance," to obtain the assistance of "de constable." Upon the appearance of the latter, the meeting dispersed. The next morning while superintending the repairs to the domicile, he ejaculated, "that de law possessed some influence over 'shiverers,' but when it become a 'breakeree,' he wouldn't stan' 'dat' no longer." We wish both events a happy termination, as well as the parties concerned.

The valuable line of steam ships plying between Jilpoke Point and Nashis Haven, are running their regular tri-weekly trips when the weather permits.

Carleton County Sketches.

From present appearances there is no sign of an eclipse of the Morning Star. We have every hope it will shine with brilliancy in this more northern latitude than whence it first shot forth its beaming rays. Of late a new element in journalism has arisen in our county, and people appreciate that they are not compelled to be bored with state editorials and meaningless, insipid criticisms.

Many of our citizens have returned from the Exhibition and seem to look well. They speak highly of their visit to the Celestial City, and we have no doubts that what they have seen and heard will do them good.

There is some talk of a protest against the return of Mr. Connel being entered, but we are not in a position to state that all that is mooted will be carried out. We shall wait patiently for authentic information ere we make it public.

Numbers of our young men are now unemployed owing to the mills being shut down for the want of lumber. Some are preparing for the lumber woods, while others will shelter themselves with farmers during the coming winter.

To-day our streets are pretty muddy owing to a heavy rain on Saturday evening.

Farmers here would welcome a greater number, so that they could present their fall ploughing with effect. They have every reason to be thankful for an abundant harvest; in general their barns are filled with hay and grain. The root crop with the exception of the potato has been very satisfactory. The principal stir is made by the few potato buyers from the United States, who are picking up all the good ones, and leaving the poor "christy" to supply the local market.

They are worse than the "rust." If the price keeps as at present, we venture to say that in a few weeks there will not be an early rose potato for sale in the county. Some farmers are foolish enough to think that this is the first fruits of "Protection" and those who support the great (O) Connell, take pleasure in boasting that their words came to pass. The sudden rise in the price of potatoes will benefit the farmers, but those who have to work for their daily wages will grumble much at paying $1.40 to $1.50 a barrel for this article. However, we will wait in anticipation of the golden harvest that all are to reap when Sir John launches forth his "Protection" ship on the much troubled waters of this New Dominion.

Our worthy mayor intends leaving for Boston early in November to spend the winter at some hotel, where he will enjoy more "Protection" than he has heretofore had here.

We send you a subscriber for the MORNING STAR, and we hope soon to send others, trusting that Carleton County may assist to counteract any "transit" which may be prophesied to mar the brilliancy of the newly discovered heavenly orb.

A fire occurred here Thursday destroying Mr. Richard Cliff's barn and dwelling. Though the firemen were promptly on hand nothing could be done to save the buildings. Cause of fire attributed to incendiaries. The loss is $1100; insurance $700 on British Mercantile.

Our correspondent wants us to offer inducements to the Marquis of Lorne and "His Royal Lady" to visit Fredericton. We don't know about that just now. Perhaps poverty, for we have not an overflush chest here, is not a fit match for Royalty.—Ed.

(For the STAR.) MIRAMICHI.

Comparatively little is known to the dwellers on the St. John, and the inhabitants of the western portion of New Brunswick, of this part, but few of us are aware of the vastness of the extent, and greatness of the capabilities of the region to the northward of us drained by the Miramichi River, and its tributaries. Emptying into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, it forms at its mouth, a capacious bay with several islands, and a ship channel for vessels of a thousand tons. It is navigable for upwards of thirty miles from the sea.

Chatham, Nelson and New Castle are the principal towns romantically situated on the river bank, near the head of tide water. At these points during the summer months, the greatest activity prevails, the waters of the bay and river being whitened with the sails of hundreds of vessels engaged in carrying the products of the virgin forests to the crowded marts of the old world. Almost ten miles above the head of the tide, the river divides into two branches, one running southwest, the other stretching its silvery length away a hundred miles through the trackless forest to the North and West. Here the silence is seldom broken, save by the melancholy sighing of the winds through the tall pines, the howl of the distant wolf, the hoarse bellow of the gigantic moose, the stealthy tread and loud snort of the bear. Mangled with these, when "night draws her sable mantle round," are the cry of the owl, that ghostly watchman of the night who makes the lonely woods reverberate with the echo of his whoo-who-who-who, which is without a doubt the most blood-curdling, infernal sound ever produced by any animal in any forest in either hemisphere.

Few people now alive remember the dread catastrophe, that without a moment's warning rendered desolate a hundred smiling farms and blasted a hundred peaceful homes. It is thus graphically described by an eye witness. The summer of 1825 had been unusually warm. During July and August extensive fires had been raging in the forest of Nova Scotia, particularly in the eastern portion of the province. The protracted drought of summer acting upon the vegetable mould of the forests had rendered them more than naturally combustible; and thus facilitating both the dispersion and the progress of the fires that appeared in the first part, produced an unusual warmth. On the 6th of October, the fire was evidently approaching Newcastle; at frequent intervals fitful blazes and flashes were observed to issue from parts of the woods, particularly up the northwest, at the rear of Newcastle, in the vicinity of Douglastown and Moorfields, and along the banks of the Baribogue. Many persons heard the crackling of falling trees and shriveled branches, while a hoarse rumbling noise, not unlike the rolling of distant thunder, and divided by pauses, like the intermittent discharges of artillery, was distinct and audible.

YORK ELECTIONS.—"Writs will be issued now right away," say the Government. It is certainly time.

END OF THE WORLD.—The world is to be destroyed on the 11th of July, 1879. This startling prediction comes from no less a personage than the revered Mahomet, who has been quiet and dead since the year 632. A few weeks ago he left his tomb at Medina, and made an unexpected call upon a Turkish priest of that Arabic city. After introducing himself—for although the priest had frequently seen pictures of the prophet, he failed to recognize the form on which the worms had feasted over twelve hundred years ago—the spectral visitor gravely assured his astounded listener that Mussulmans are very scarce in Paradise; that only seven of them had been deemed worthy of entrance there since his death; that the world is becoming worse and worse; and that Allah is so dissatisfied with mankind, that on the 11th of July next the entire population of the world will be called to judgement. Strange as it may appear, a proclamation to this effect is posted on nearly all the mosques in Northern India.

THE STORM.

Rudder Torn from the Steamer Dominion.

The steamer Dominion, Capt. Clements, left this port about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, and from the appearance of the steamer and the account given by the captain and passengers she felt the full power of Saturday night's gale. She left St. John Friday, for Boston, and Yarmouth Saturday afternoon at 5 p.m. She had a crew of 22 men and a passenger list of 30 including many ladies, who had been passing the summer in that vicinity. It was stormy and the wind was blowing moderately when the boat left Yarmouth. The wind kept increasing and the sea rising until about 8 p.m., when the steamer had made 30 miles from the port. From that hour until 10.30 p.m., the steamer sent before the north-easter. It was the most fearful gale, Captain Clements says, that he ever met in the Bay of Fundy.

At 10.30 the captain did not think it would do to send any longer and he then hove to until 5 a.m., Sunday, the hurricane began to abate, and gradually, although still blowing heavily, the wind went down, until 2 p.m. Sunday, when it was quite moderate.

Sunday morning, at 5 o'clock, the officers found that the ship did not obey her helm. It was found about 2 p.m., that in the hurricane the rudder had been torn from the stern of the vessel and she was without any steering apparatus. A huge spar was arranged as a drag with lines, and by beating or tacking, and using both jib and steam power, the steamer got under Mt Desert Light Sunday night and signalled for a pilot. During this run the wind blew one jib completely away from the ropes and a new one was tove.

Monday morning, when off the isles an Aaut, Capt. Clements attracted the attention of the schooner Bonita, Capt. Clark, bound west. She hove down to the rudderless steamer and a bargain was made to tow the steamer into Portland. The two vessels were lashed side by side, and the schooner's rudder fulfilled the necessary duty for both. All went well, until evening, when off Seguin the wind increased, and the schooner during the night had her side somewhat damaged by the steamer. At about 9 p.m. a "chock" through which one of the connecting lines passed, gave way, and the heavy iron truck the mate of the Bonita, who was steering, on the head, tugging him quite seriously. As soon as the accident was known on the Dominion, the purser, Mr. Albert Clements, collected $78 from the passengers for the injured man, and a steward from the steamer watched with him all night. At 6 p.m. the steamer reached Union wharf. The passengers speak well of Capt. Clements, his officers and crew, and say they acted with great discretion and skill.—Portland Argus.

END OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.—A curious East Indian "legend," treating of the future of the Mogul empire, and based upon the prediction of a priest made many years ago, has been put into verse in Dresden, and is now in circulation in that city. It describes how the great Mogul monarch, Arangzeb, when following his recollection to expiate the English from Hindostan, was stopped in his work by a holy Brahmin, who held before his face a magic mirror, in which he saw the continued growth of the British power until only a shadow itself was swept away and another imperial throne was set up, with a lady seated in its chair. The priest had given assurance that 200 years of expiation and servitude were necessary in order to free Hindostan from the evil powers that controlled her destinies, and for that reason all prisoners had been set free by Arangzeb. The legend goes on to say that when the lady becomes seated on the throne, the scene dissolves in a thunder clap, and India resumes her sway. The priest's prediction is well known, says the legend, to the natives of India. The first part of the prophecy, it continues, has been fulfilled already—a woman sits on the Mogul throne.
