DEATH OF REV. BENJ. SHAW .- A letter rom John E. Clerk, of Johnston. was to have held religious services as that place on Sunday, the 23rd ult., died, after a few hours' illness, of congestion of the lungs, on Saturday, the 22nd, aged 47 years and 8 months. Requiescat in pace. - Sun.

Rev. Mr. Shaw was Inspector of Schools for Queen's and was an inestimable gentleman. He was a strong advocate of liberal education, but disapproved o much of what he called the "impractical nonsense" of our Free School System. He was a minister of the Episcopal Church, and beloved and respected by all who knew him.

The Willis pop gan went off Monday but overshot the mark.

The foresight of the News, the organ of the opposition so far transcends the vision of all and every newspaper that we know anything of, that we can with justice say, 'tis equalled only by the poor fellow who was enterprising enough to take a peep through the millstone Just one day bef re the debate on th address, Mr. Willis announced that on the coming day the house would declare to his honor the Lieut. Governor. that his Government did not enjoy the c aff lence or the country. The morrow arrived serenely as ever. There were no earthquakes or "disasters on the sun," no eclipses, nor any such dreadful harbinger, but the day passed on and with it the address, proving beyond question, that Mr. Willis, as a politician it would be difficult to make an esti mate of.

St. John Notes.

Two Jewish looking fellows, hailing from the states, opened a murble shop here, where they manufacture tombstone: for memorial puposes. They have two long flag staffs (with golden balls at the top) at each end of the shop, and when they hear of any one being at the point of death, and not likely to recover, they have two flags which they hoist half-mast, and they remain so till after the funeral, when they lower them altogether.

Guards in Cenada --- Sir John Q. C., says: The Rev. Benj. Shaw, who to Resign, --- Mr. Costigan, ---Letellier.

> There are many rumors affoat in the capital now. One is that after the closing of the douse a company of the Royal Guards will be stationed as Canada. It is also current that after this session Sir John will resign and be appointed Ambassador at Washington. In such a case it is thought Mr. Tilley would take his place.

> It is argued by many that Letellier's days of grace are drawing to a closethat he will be "called up" before the House, and probably answer for hicharges by dismissal.

In view of changes soon to be mal in the personnel of the Cabinet, the friends of Mr. Costigan are pressing his claims as the Irish Catholic Supporter. and the Government it is thought will be obliged to recognize his claims.
