GAGETOWN, JULY 27th, 1897. E. G. SCOVIL, Agent Pelee Wine Co.

Dear Sir:—My wife has been afflicted with nervous prostration for several years, using every kind of medicine recommended, but obtaining no relief until I procured some of your Pelee Wine, which I am delighted to say, has had the desired effect. It is the greatest tonic of the age, I think too much cannot be said in its praise and no house should be without it. We have recommended it to several suffering from a gripe debility, with like good results.

I am, yours gratefully, JOHN C. CLOWS. E. G. SCOVIL, Tea and Wine Merchant, 62 Union St., St. John, sole agent for Maritime Provinces. Telephone 523.

Humorous. Bob's Examination. Old Bob conceived the idea of having his life insured.

"How much do you weigh?" asked the examining physician. "I weigh 'bout fifteen poun's more den my wife does."

"Well, but how much does she weigh?" "I've dun forgot; but she's a whopper, lemme tell yer."

"How tall are you?" "Who—me." "Yes, you." "Lemme see. Does yer known Abe Sevier, what worked for ole man Plummer?"

"No." "Wall, I see sorry, fur I ain't quite ez tall ez he is." The doctor, after weighing old Bob and measuring his height, asked: "How old are you?"

"Yes, of course you. You are being examined." "Dat's a fact. Wall, lemme see. My birdfay comes in July, an' now what I wants ter git at is how many Julys I ken recollect. Ain't dat de pint?"

"Yes." "Wall, lemme see. Blame if I knows. Suppose we make it August, 'stead of July?" "What difference would that make?" "Doan' know, but it's jez ez easy."

"I'll put you down at fifty." "Put who down at fifty?" "You, of course." "No, boss, doan' put me down at fifty. Jes' say seventy-five." "Why do you wish to appear so old?"

"Wall, yer see, I see winter git er 'vorce from my present wife an' marry er young gal. Ef a man dat's got er house an' lot is mighty ole, er young gal will marry him, 'cause she thinks dat he will soon drap off an' den de house an' lot will show her up mighty fine in de market."

Farm and Household. THE SETTING OF MILK SOME RULES THAT IT WILL PAY DAIRYMEN TO OBSERVE.

The Best Manner of Shallow and Deep Setting of Milk—Convenience for Cooling—Milk Should Be Set as Soon as Possible After Being Drawn From the Cows.

1. All milk should be carefully strained immediately after the milking is completed. 2. When shallow pans are used, they should be placed in a room with a pure atmosphere, at a temperature as even as possible at between 50 and 60 degrees Fahr.

3. When deep setting pails are used, the water in the cream tank should be kept below 45 degrees Fahr. or as near 45 degrees Fahr. as is practicable. It is advantageous to have a supply of ice for use in the water. 4. When an abundant supply of cold water from a flowing spring is not available, the cooling power of fresh cold water may be applied economically by conveying it in a pipe to the bottom of the tank or creamer, and allowing the warmed water to run off from the top.

5. It is advantageous to set the milk as soon as practicable after it is drawn from the cows. In a test with deep-setting pails, it was found that the quantity of butter fat not recovered in the cream, and consequently left in the skim-milk, was 11.48 per cent. greater when the setting of the milk in ice water was delayed one hour, than when it was set immediately after it was drawn.

6. There was not much difference in the percentage of butter-fat recovered into the cream, due to the temperature at which the milk was set, when between 88 and 98 degrees Fahr. The loss of butter-fat unrecovered from the skim-milk was 2.53 per cent. greater when set at 73 degrees than when set at 98 degrees Fahr. 7. The milk should be left undisturbed for about twenty-two hours. The quantity of butter fat not recovered into the cream was 8 per cent. greater when the milk was set for only eleven hours than when it was set for twenty-two hours, in deep-setting pails in ice-water.

8. With ordinary milk, there is no gain from adding water "to thin" it when it is set. There was practically no difference in the percentages of butter fat not recovered into the cream when (1) twenty-five per cent. of water at 160 degrees Fahr. added to the milk, (2) twenty five per cent. of water at 60 degrees Fahr. added to the milk, and (3) no water added to the milk, were the differences of treatment in the setting of milk, in deep-setting pails in ice-water. —From Prof. Robertson's report.

AN EXHIBITION COOP. It is Roomy Enough for the Birds to Appear to Advantage and to Be Comfortable. We have several requests for directions for building coops for exhibiting fowls at fairs and shows, and give below an illustration of such a coop. The illustration explains itself so well that but little by way of explanation is necessary. This coop is 30 inches high, 30 inches wide, and 24 inches deep—but these dimensions are by no means obligatory, as coops are built of various sizes, to suit the taste and purpose of the builder. We would urge, however, that exhibitors who supply their own coops make them roomy enough for the birds to be comfortable in; nothing is so certain to make the birds appear at a disadvantage as too close quarters. We would make a frame of 1 1/2-inch stuff—the ends, back and top being covered with stout serrievable boards, and the front being made of half-inch rods set into top and bottom of frame 2 1/2 inches apart, excepting that the two or three center rods are set into a sliding bed piece at bottom, and pass up through the top frame, giving access to the interior. The bed piece of the gate should slide upon the rod on each side. Short rods are set in the front, upon which to suspend cups for food and water. A curtain for the front, to be let down at night, and in day time be rolled up as in the illustration, adds to the neatness of the structure, and ornamental brass-headed tacks to secure the duck ends, etc., improves the appearance. The EXHIBITION COOP. Sheep and Their Care. Ensilage is good for ewes if not fed too bountifully. Sheep always seek the highest ground when they sleep. Unprofitable sheep often consume as much as profitable ones. Keep the lamb growing as you would any other young animal. If you mean to feed sheep during the winter feed only good ones. Do not keep sheep and hogs or sheep and cattle together in one yard. Ten or twelve feet space should be allowed in the barn for each sheep. Mangels, carrots and oil cake will be good feed for sheep in winter. If a sheep does not yield eight pounds of wool it is not the sheep you want. Sheep that are kept in robust health will not likely be attacked by vermin. The Collie and Sheep. Do you think that you can throw an untrained collie into the midst of a flock of sheep and not create a rumpus? The collie knows how to manage sheep only when he is taught to manage them. Cabbage for Cows. Cabbage is a good food for the milch cow; and besides the leaves there are soft heads that are good for nothing else. A clean soft bed is the right of the maid, who literally earns her bread by the sweat of her brow, and if she has a comfortably appointed room to retire to she will be likely to take all the more pains with herself and her work. Generous pitchers and wash bowls, with everything necessary for thorough ablutions, will do away with all necessity for making toilets in the kitchen.

Fashion is a fickle mistress. Its latest decree concerning visiting cards is that the woman who leaves her husband's cards at the conclusion of a call doesn't know anything at all about good form. This will be good news indeed for that large class of fashionable women attached to wholly unfashionable husbands, for nine times out of ten they have to order and pay for their husband's cards out of their own allowance.

Farming in the Maritime Provinces. Differs materially from farming in Ontario and the West. Conditions are different and our markets not the same. A product profitable in those sections would not pay the tillage here, and a suggestion valuable to a westerner, would prove disastrous if followed by our farmers. In subscribing for an agricultural publication it is well to bear this in mind. There's only one paper that treats of farming from a Maritime Province standpoint. It is the
