WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE.

He looked at my tongue, and he shook his head— This was Doctor Smart— He thumped on my chest, and then he said: "Ah, there it is, your heart!"

There is no Question in This House About the Boss-snip. "Oh, I guess I'm getting into the game now," chuckled the little man on the street car as he hugged his packages and smiled at the sympathetic man with glasses who sat next.

He looked at my tongue and he shook his head— "Your liver's a total wreck," he said, "You must take more exercise!"

It isn't for me to say; Myriad I cried when madly threw "That bitter stuff away!"

BUMPS AND BRAINS. Famous Novelist Who, Like "Bobs," Will Not Advertise.

The president of the British Phrenological Institution has asked Miss Marie Corelli whether she will allow her head to be "phrenologically examined" by an "expert" in such matters, and the result published in the institute's current year-book.

Dear Sir,—I have always been under the impression that my head is, to all intents and purposes, my own, and that the secrets of its working power are, so to speak, a strictly personal matter between it and myself, in which outsiders have no right whatever to share.

She Got a Seat. It was noon in a large quick lunch place. A young woman, come y as well as self-reliant, entered and glanced deliberately around in search of a vacant chair.

Hardly Thought She Could. At the conclusion of the opening address at the installation of the free refreshment room for the benefit of working girls who desire to improve their minds and now in connection I want you all to promise me that you will not think it necessary to put on your best attire when you come here.

Not a Cinderella. A certain regiment had a very small band; but the commanding officer's feet were—well, very large. One day the regiment was to march out, but the music was not forthcoming.

Basely Maligned. "I have good reason to be," said the young man when they asked him why he was so sad. "You know I appeared at the Fidelity Smarton ball as a first-class century Englishman."

An African Silhouette. "I wish to figure a little on the uncertainty (the cannibal chief knit his brows thoughtfully) of life. Bring me a blackboard."

A Harrowing Suggestion. The champion pugilist sprang from his easy chair. "Mary," he shrieked to his wife, "can't something be done to these internal steam pipes?"

An Explanation. Two ladies had called, and, while they were waiting for their cards to be taken up they examined the pictures. "This," said one, "must be one of the old masters."

Not Such a Fool. "My friend," said the city missionary, "do you not realize the foolishness of the course you have been pursuing?"

And He Was Caromed Off. Traveler (at a crowded hotel)—How much do I owe? What's my bill? "Hotel Keeper—Let me see; your room was—"

The World's Telegraph Lines. The actual length of the telegraph lines of the world is 7,900,000 kilometers—not including nearly 300,000 kilometers of submarine cable.

Howard Reed of Milford, Pa., started out hunting for partridge and woodcock, and was followed by the house cat. All efforts on the part of the young hunter to drive the cat back home were futile; it was bound to go with him, and it illustrated its ability as a hunter by its "pointing" a woodcock, which young Reed shot. Then it "flushed" a partridge, which was also bagged by the hunter. Reed says he would not part with the cat for the best bird dog in the country.

A Remarkable Feature of India is the number of deserted capitals. There are not less than three old Delhi's, all close to each other, and south of the present city.

Humorous.

ALL FOR HER.
