Farm and Household.

Food Value of an Egg.

Six large eggs will weigh about one pound. As a flesh producer, one pound of eggs is equal to one pound of beef. About one third of the weight of an egg is solid nutriment, which is more than can be said of meat. There are no bones and tough pieces that have to be laid aside. Practically an egg is animal food, and yet there is none of the disagreeable work of the butcher necessary to obtain it. Eggs at average prices are among the cheapest and most nutritious articles of diet. Like milk, an egg is complete food in itself, containing everything that is necessary for the development of a perfect animal. It is also easily digested, if not damaged in cooking.—Presbyterian Banner.

Skim Milk for Chickens.

A test of the value of skim milk for chickens was made last year at the Indiana Experimental Station with two lots containing ten Plymouth Rocks and ten Houdans. Each lot was given all they would eat of a mixture of crushed corn, bran and ground oats, 2:1:1. Both lots were also fed cracked bone, cabbage and lettuce and had access to water. The amount of these articles consumed is not recorded. The two lots received the same treatment in every respect except that Lot 2 was given all the skim milk they would eat in addition to the grain ration. The test began July 11 and closed September 5. During the test one chick in Lot 1 died. Lot 1 consumed 179.9 pounds of grain and the average weekly gain per chicken was 2.62 oz. Lot 2 consumed 217.3 pounds grain and 90.4 pounds skim milk and the weekly average gain per chicken was 4.46 oz. The following conclusions were drawn: "If skim milk be added to the ration fed to the young chickens it will increase the consumption of the other foods given. The great increase in average gain was coincident with the periods when the greatest amount of skim milk was consumed. Skim milk is especially valuable as a food for young chickens during the hot, dry weather and becomes of less importance as the chickens grow older and the weather becomes cooler."

Timely Dairy Notes.

A cow that can fill the milk pail is all right provided the milk pail is big enough. It takes all kinds of people to make a world, but it does not take all kinds of cows to make up a dairy. Good dairymen select the best. The man who believes in sheltering pigs, calves and poultry in the same stable with cows is only one step in advance of the peasant who keeps his live stock in a section of his dwelling house. The term "good milk" signifies a great deal. It means that it comes from healthy cows and healthy, nourishing food, and that it is not contaminated by the hands of the milker, or from other sources after it leaves the udder. If you have a cow that coughs, and tends towards emaciation on good feed, regard her with suspicion, and at once isolate her from the rest of the herd till she can be tested for tuberculosis.

Seed Bed For Onions.

Land where onions are to be grown should always be fall ploughed after at least one year's cultivation since it has been in sod. This will enable the sod to rot, and if it has been top dressed with manure, will turn both the rotted sod and manure to the surface, where repeated freezing and thawing will bring both to fine tilth. It is impossible to grow onions on a newly turned sod, no matter how rich it may be. The seed will start to grow all right, but the rotting of the sod beneath it, will cause the soil above to fall away leaving it full of crevices, letting in air to the tender roots. There should be no deep cultivation in spring where onion seed is to be sown. The finer the soil two or three inches below the surface the better for the crop. That will cause the roots to spread horizontally, growing large, flat onions. If the soil is deep and, rich below the seed bed the roots will run down and produce a crop of scallions.

Keep Only First-Class Cows.

The chief difficulty in making dairy farming successful is the great number of cows that do not pay their keep and whose products are always sold at a loss. If one-tenth of all the cows owned were fatted at once and sold for beef it would remove from the market the surplus butter and cheese, which are now keeping prices too low for profit. Prices might be temporarily a little higher until the stock of the best cows can be made large enough to supply the demand. Then, with prices no higher than they have been and perhaps not so high, all dairymen would make money. Getting rid of the poorest cows will also do away with most of the inferior butter. When a farmer knows that his cows are not paying he grows careless and often uncleanly in the dairy. When his butter is found to be inferior he is apt to blame it all to his luck, and thus, instead of trying to improve, making matters worse. The best way to arouse such farmers to better method is to increase the milk and butter capacity of their cows. When they

The Old Woman's Sermon.

A carping old woman once said to her pastor: "Dear me, ministers mak' uckle ado about their hard work; but what's two bits of sermons in the week tae mak' up? I could do it myself." "Weel, Janet," said the minister, good humoredly, "let's hear you try it." "Come awa' in a text then," quoth she. He repeated with emphasis, "It is better to dwell in the corner of the housetop than with a brawling woman and in a wide house." Janet fired up in a minute. "What's that ye say, sir? Dae ye intend anything personal?" "Stop! stop!" broke in her pastor, "you would never do for a minister." "And what for no?" said she. "Because, Janet, you come over soon to the application."—Christian Budget.
