last person to choose DANIEL in preference to NOAH. The former was a master of Rhetoric, but his dictionaries will never increase, either in magnitude or weight, the burden which has been laid on the badly galled back of poor "Sufferer." Now, sir, I think you will agree with me as to the gravity of the charge which, through a misunderstanding on the part of my newly found sister, has been made against me. This is a matter of no small moment to me. It has caused me a great deal of worry. For a few days after reading Miss Alice's communication, I found myself like the Israelites in the time of King Aha's, "halting between two opinions." Too well did I know what the "Printer's Devil" could accomplish on the one hand; and I fully recognized the enormity of the disparagement on the other. But I was somewhat relieved from my perturbation when, on looking over a number of your GAZETTES of this year, I found that you had made such a marked improvement in typography. I congratulate you, sir, not only on your advancement in this regard, but on the general improvement of your journal. A careful review of the back numbers of the GAZETTE very quickly enabled me to choose what course to adopt. Do not think, sir, that I attach an undue importance to what would at first seem to be a trifling matter. A very slight typographical error will sometimes alter the import of an entire article. A striking instance of this was noted in the Rev. W. G. Corey's reply to Episcopalian, which appeared in your paper a few weeks ago. The omission of a small prefix not only made the writer appear ridiculous, but laid him open to the charge of endeavoring to throw dirt on the Episcopalian society. If your readers will go back to the issue containing Mr. Corey's letter, and, in looking it over again, add the prefix UN to the adjective qualifying dog, using the past tense of the verb preceding it, they will find there is not the slightest inconsistency, and that the Rev. gentleman did not for one moment intend to insult the Anglican Church.

Now, Mr. Editor, one word more ANENT "Subscriber" and "Sufferer," and then I will follow the example of my sister, who manifested such an aversion to prolixity. Both of these poets (?) hail from Douglas Harbor. The people of Scotchtown and Douglas Harbor do not believe that either of them belongs here at all. I hope they do not, and that if they write again, (which the gods forbid,) they will date their doggerel from their true places.

In conclusion, let me say that I hope my sister Alice will not think hardly of me for writing this disavowal; and, I do not see how she can, especially since I have not been unkindful of the injunction which she laid down; and have strictly confined myself to prose.

Thanking you, for space, Mr. Editor, I am,
Very respectfully yours,
BLACK-HAWK.

Nine Drowned.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., May 14.—The schr. Nelson, deeply laden with a cargo of coal, foundered in Lake Superior, off Grand Marais, last evening and carried down all hands. So far as known here, no one escaped from this, the first disaster of the season, except the captain, a report from Deer Island, Mich., stating the captain was saved.

The Nelson, which is owned by the Mitchell Transportation Co., of Bay City, Mich., was in tow of the steamer A. Folsom, which had the schr. Mary B. Mitchell as a consort. The Folsom and Mitchell turned back and arrived here this afternoon without serious damage. Capt. A. E. White, master of the steamer, at once reported the disaster to the owners. At the time of the disaster the wind was blowing a gale of 50 miles an hour and freezing hard, and the three boats were being coated with ice, and this, added to their cargo of coal made them ride very low in the water.

The beach at Grand Marais was but four miles under the lee of the boats and Capt. White determined to try the dangerous expedient of turning the tow in the sea and running before the wind for Whitefish Point. Before the turn was finished the Nelson was seen to turn toward the shore and it became evident that the line had parted under the strain or had been cut. Soon it became apparent that she was sinking. There was no chance of rendering any assistance however. The crew of the Folsom had their hands full in taking care of their own craft and the Mitchell. In a few minutes the Nelson threw her stern into the air and dived straight for the bottom, where she sank in 300 feet of water.

The sinking ship disappeared so suddenly that her crew had no time even to lower their yawl boat, which hung on the davits of the stern. The Folsom and Mitchell show marks of the heavy weather through which they passed.

The crew consisted of the following: Capt. Anthony Hagnhey of Toledo; captain's wife, two-year-old child of Capt. Hagnhey; Fred Haas, sailor, residence unknown; six sailors, unknown.

The Nelson was formerly one of the crack vessels of the lake fleet and when she first came out in 1866 was considered an extremely large schooner. She measured 766 gross tons and 163 feet long and 32 feet beam.

Papal Bay.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The papal bull issued in Rome within the last few days that the year 1900 shall be a jubilee year throughout the church, is expected here shortly, and will be announced in all churches throughout the country. The issuance of a bull on the subject gives it a special solemnity. It has been the custom to hold jubilees of the church every 25 years, and at one time these were the occasion for the gathering of a vast concourse of people at Rome to receive the special dispensations and indulgences allowed during jubilee years. It is expected, however, by the highest church authorities here that the jubilee next year will be quite generally celebrated throughout the world, thus giving it a more universal aspect, instead of being centred at Rome, and the gathering there of distinguished churchmen. The jubilee next year is considered more important than that held every 25 years, as it ushers in a new century and comes at a time when Pope Leo is old and very feeble, his ninetieth year having been completed in March.

Another Railway Accident.

UTICA, N. Y., May 13.—The special American express west-bound train crushed into the rear of the south-western special in the Central Hudson yard at this station this morning about 2.50. The Wagner car Pokanoket, two express cars and the engine of the moving train were telescoped, derailed and smashed. There were three passengers in the Wagner car. Two escaped, but Mark Neat, assistant superintendent of the Wagner Company, a resident of Buffalo, was so badly injured that he died about eight o'clock. Other injuries to persons were confined to bruises and shock from the force of the crash.

The wreck immediately caught fire, but the Utica fire department was summoned and prevented conflagration. An investigation is being held as to the responsibility for the accident.

Spicy News Items Gathered by Gazette Correspondents

To EDITOR OF QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE
SIR: A copy of your issue of 25th April has just been sent me. Will you kindly permit me to correct the astonishing and mischievous falsehood contained in a paragraph, re. L. J. King and clerk of Baptist church. The facts are these: Lewis J. King who had already forfeited his membership by studiously absenting himself from the church was for this and other reasons justly expelled. His so called license which was merely a kind word in his behalf to sister churches—and which gave him no authority either to preach or to teach was there and then annulled. Hence, it is needless to say, he has neither countenance or membership here. The letter we gave him and of which he has proved himself quite unworthy, we have notified him to return. It is no longer of any value even should he presume to make use of it.

Respectfully yours,
G. A. HAMMOND,
Clerk 2nd Kingsclear Church,
Hammondville, May 10th, 1899.

Boiestown.

May 10.—The very commodious school building which has served the town for many years was completely destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon. The wind was blowing a gale, and it is supposed that a spark from some quarter alighted upon the roof, as it was there the fire originated. Every effort was made to save the building but to no avail. Some very valuable apparatus, including an excellent library and a good chemical outfit, was saved, but the remainder of the fixtures were destroyed.

Steps are being taken to erect a first class building, which will be ready for occupancy in August. In the meantime, Mr. Thorne and his scholars are comfortably located in one of the large rooms in the Forester's Hall.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. E. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys, and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists, every bottle guaranteed.

St. John.

May 8.—Your correspondent has had the pleasure of visiting Mr. N. C. Scott's farm on Mahogany Road, and has found that it is a beautiful farm—having all modern conveniences. There is water in all his buildings. It is, without doubt, one of the prettiest farms on Mahogany Road, and being so near the city, it is well worth any one's while to go and see it.
Though the spring is very backward for farming, Mr. James E. Owens, who is foreman for Mr. Scott, tells me he has 45 bushels of oats sown now.
Owing to the fog and rust very few potatoes are grown by the farmers of this place.
Mr. James H. Gallagher, of "Summer Neath," has gone to Boston.
It is expected that this will be a very good summer in St. John.
Your readers are surprised to hear nothing from the Cross Creek gold fields of York, this spring.
The water is very high at Indiantown—the people of Indiantown say the highest since the high freshet.
Mr. William Gallagher, of Petersville, is engaged with Mr. Barnhill, of Fairville.
