Catelon Sentinel;

WANTED W

Wevoted to Agriculture, Literature, and General Intelligence.--- Neutral in Politics.

"Truth, Justice, Freedom, here shall find a home."

THE PRESENTE BE.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1849.

THE ST. JOHN RIOT. TERRALS OF THE REDEERS.

[REPORTED EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE CARLETON SENTINEL.] ST. JOHN CIRCUIT COURT.

August 15th, 1849.

(Continued from our last.)

crowd was very much excited and violent; heard them cali his father "an old scoun- saw him after he had been beaten drel," and also heard them say "down with them." Got his father by the collar and Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie, -Saw no arms in the hands of those who stood near hauled him out from the crowd. Saw a boy strike the Mayor in the back part of the the arch. Supposed there were about 12 or 15 persons there, chiefly lads. head, and from the effects of the blow thinks he must have had a stone in his hand .- JAMES TRAFT,-Was at York Point after the procession had passed through; it hands up, and rushing forward. Knew him previously.

(Here witness described the procession.) The procession had just passed through was walking to and fro, looking up to the arch as though it was under his charge.ter the contention commenced, until there were probably from 300 to 400 persons | vented a man from kicking him. Saw Hegan clasping one of the poles of the arch.

James N. Thain,-Went to York Point on the morning of the 12th of July, about | Crass-examined by Mr. Ritchie,-Hegan appeared as though he had been drinking, came near the arch, the spectators hung back. As soon as the head of the procession passed through. reached Union Street, they were assailed with a shower of brickbats; the horse at the Josian Wermone Jr., Esq.,—Is an Alderman and Magistrate. On the 12th of head of the procession shied; then heard shots fired, and saw the smoke; supposed July his attention was called to an arch across the street at York Point, saw the Mayor them to have been fired by people in the procession. Was up in Union Street when and Mr. Gilbert coming up Dock Street, and went with the mayor to remove it: there the procession passed; afterwards saw the Mayor, Mr. Gilbert, und Nixon arrive, and were two or three policemen there. The Mayor asked who had put up the arch, and went down near the spot. Saw Hagarty in the crowd, and thinks he saw Hegan there, some one replied they did not know. The Mayor then told Nixon to take it down. but is not positive. Saw the Constable attempt to take down the arch, and saw him when a man stepped out of the crowd (not one of the prisoners) and asked the Mayor cellar; saw a boy, from 16 to 18 years, strike the Mayor, and nearly knock him down. trate of the City. The policeman was resisted. The prisoner Corchray was one of time to get off. Then received a blow with a brickbat, was knocked down and beat- one say "down with the first man who attempts to pull it down;" this came from the cellar, and if the crowd spoke loud enough to be heard where he stood, the confusion waited there until the Mayor came up in company with Mr. Frederic Coster. The was so great that he did not notice what was said. Thought the shots fired were from Mayor had lost his hat, and his head was bleeding. the procession, but was so far off at the time that could not be certain. His impresand supposed there was from one hundred to one hundred and fifty persons present. quite sure of his identity, but now feels quite confident that he is not mistaken.

To a Juror,-Had no particular reason to conclude that the shots were fired from fired on their assailants. on Mr, Rankin's new building. Went to work at 6 o'clock, a. m. The arch across Saw Corchray there, and heard him say "the green boughs shant come down." the street was there then. Between nine and ten o'clock the Orange procession came along. When the leader on horseback came in sight the prisoner Hegan was stand- Corchray stood on the other side of Mill Street. Saw shots fired as the procession ing under the arch, in the centre of the street; as the leader approached Hegan wa- passed. Did not see Corchray do any thing. ved his hand as if for him to stop; then as the procession drew nearer he again waved his hand to the man on horseback, pointing for him to turn down Union Street. The sword and came on. The man and horse were then both assarled with brickbats, and ing down Portland Street between half past nine and ten o'clock, and overtook Cor-The head of the procession were then also assailed with brickbats, and fell back a ness is a butcher by trade, carries on business in the country market under the Mar-

Mr. Ritchie,-The shots he had spoken of were the first which' had been fired; they were fired from the procession. No one fell when the shots were fired, nor is witness aware that any one was hurt. Could not say that the procession would have been attacked if the man on horseback had not drawn his sword. When the procession first came up there might have been present some 20 or 30 men in the mob. There were some children in the street, but did not see any women except those who were passing through.

WILLIAM SMITH,-Is a mason, and on the 12th day of July was at work in Union Street, on a new building, about 150 feet below the end of Mill Street. Saw the arch standing across Mill Street at 6 o'clock, a. m. When the procession was coming, went up to the corner to see it pass. Saw the prisoner Hegan there, he was walking to JAMES S. GILBERT,-Went to York Point with his father on the morning of the and fro under the arch, drunk; there was a parcel of boys around him, and appeared 12th of July. Thinks the crowd there numbered about 150 people; they were most- to be making fun of him. When the procession came up, Hegan put up his hand, and ly on the sides of the street. There was a wreath across the street, -apparently a seemed to turn the horse's head off, and immediately the boys threw stones at the horse rope with green boughs hung around it, and supported upon two poles. The Mayor and rider. The Orangemen then came up and fired. Witness then went off to his had reached York Point in advance, and having passed under the arch, ordered it to work. From the building saw the procession pass under the arch; some went up to be removed. The Constable went to execute the order, upon which the crowd made | pull it down, but others said "don't pull it down," and they passed on and left it standa rush in the same direction. The Mayor then went to help the Constable, and the ing. Knows the Orangemen had to lower their flags to pass under the arch. Saw crowd then rushed on him, and attempted to press him and Mr. Gilbert senior into a Omnibuses pass while the arch was there, and when they passed near the contre of cellar. Saw Hagarty there, with a small stick, or whip-handle in his hand. The the street the driver had to stoop. Was not present when the Mayor came up, but

Mr. Gilbert senior caught the boy, but the crowd rescued him. The Mayor lost his was then about ten o'clock a. m., saw the arch standing there; saw coaches pass unhat. Knows the cellar towards which the Mayor was pressed, and thinks that if he der it, and the drivers had to stoop their heads to pass. Supposed the arch to have had been thrown in he must have been seriously hurt. The rush that was made was been about eight or nine feet high. Saw Hegan there; kept his eye upon him; he by some forty or fifty people, or perhaps more. Saw Hagarty in the crowd with his was very officious; thought from his conduct that if there would be any shooting going on he would be the very first that would be shot, as he was placing himself in that Cross examined by Mr. Ritchie. - Knew nothing previously to Hagarty's discredit - position; and thought that if any one deserved to be shot he was the man. Hegan York Point before he (witness) arrived there. Saw some women and children in the The boys then began to collect and pile stones on the roofs of the houses. Witness street, but those around the posts were men. A number of new buildings were be- then went on to the next (or Haliday's) corner, and all along the street the boys were ing erected in the vicinity. Saw some stones thrown, and saw one strike the Mayor collecting stones on the roofs of the houses. On his return saw the Mayor in the in the head. When the rush was made has no doubt but the object was to precipi street, with a crowd around, but was not near enough to see him beaten; saw him tate the Mayor and Mr. Gilbert, sentor, into the cellar. The crowd accumulated af afterwards with his head cut. Saw Mr. Thain down apparently insensible, and preand appeared rejoicing as though it were for a triumph gained.

fifteen minutes to ten o'clock; he was induced to go there through motives of curiosi- but did not think him drunk. Was in Dock Street when the procession passed up ; ty, to look at the procession. As the procession reached the head of Dock Street, and saw brickbats fly, and heard shots fired, but did not go up until the procession had prevented. Saw the crowd attempt to thrust the Mayor and Mr. Gilbert down the what right he had to take it down. The Mayor replied that he was the Chief Magis-The Mayor was then running, and the crowd rushing after him. Ran forward and those standing near the western pole, where the policeman was resisted; Saw Corcried out "stop." The crowd paused a moment, and looked, and that gave the Mayor chray speaking, as his lips were moving, but did not hear what he said. Heard some en until he was insensible. Thinks that if the Mayor had fallen he would have been direction in which Corchray stood, but could not say that it came from him. The killed. Did not see Corchray present. Hagarty was one of the leaders of the mob; Mayor then went to pull the arch down, when the mob rushed upon him, crying out he had something in his hand. Did not hear the expressions made use of by the mon. It down with him, clear him out, kill him;" did not see the Mayor then for some time. Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie, -Stood on the opposite side of the street from the land thought he had been shoved into the cellar. Then went into Dock Street, and Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie, -Did not see Corchray touch the Mayor; saw him sion at the time was that as the procession was attacked, they fired in self-defence. - lift his hands, but he was not near enough then to strike the Mayor. The act of Mr. Did not see any arms with the procession with the exception of the sword in the hands Gilbert seizing a man was the first laying on of hands he saw. Thought there were of the leader, and that was not drawn when he saw it. Would swear he saw Hagarty about 150 persons present, about one half of them boys from 16 to 18 years, and the there, and that he was noisy and violent. Could not swear as to what he said, but other half men. 'Did at a preliminary examination of the prisoners before Mr. B. L. saw him brandish something in his hand. The crowd increased after the Mayor came, Peters say that if Corchray has a brother with a similar cast in his eye, he was not

MICHAEL NEILL, -Was in York Point after the procession had passed through .the procession; it was merely his impression that when they were assailed they had Saw the Mayor there, and heard him tell the Constable to take the arch down. Heard Mr. Gilbert and Son say the green boughs shall come down. Resistance was made, James McKenzie, -Is a mason, and on the 12th of July was at work at York Point, and the Mayor was struck with a stone; saw it done, but does not know by whom. -- Cross examined by Mr. Ritchie, -Stood in Union Street at the time of the rio", and

(Here the evidence for the prosecution closed.)

The first witness called for the defence was,

man on horseback then stopped, and spoke to those behind him; he then drew his | Charles Gillespie - Knows prisoner Corchav; on the 12th July last was comthe horse belied and turned up Union Street, towards Judge Chipman's residence. - chray just below his own residence, which is opposite Morrison's brick house. Witlittle at first; they then rallied, came up and fired several shots. The mob immedi- ket House, Market Square; prisoner is also a butcher, and carries on business in the ately ran, and in a short time there was not a man to be seen in the street but those upper Country Market. Came along together to their business in the Market. On in procession, which then passed quietly on. After the procession had gone through arriving at York Point saw a crowd there wrangling; saw the people shoving and mob reassembled. Hegan appeared to be the leader, walked to and fro and patted hauling; Corchray came through in witness's company; did not see him do anything, boys on the back; the boys then went, as though they were instructed, and col nor hear him say anything; prisoner could not have spoken without his (witness) hearlected bricks on the roofs of the houses, wherewith to attack the procession on its re- ing him, unless he did so in a very low voice, nor could be have done anything and tarn. (Witness ben corroborated what had been said by former witnesses about the witness not see it. Came right through the crowd, then turned and looked back for attack on the house and Mr. Gilbert.) Saw Thain knocked down and kicked by the a moment, and then prisoner and witness came down to the Market House. Coming mob. Saw les whole time among the crowd; was not near enough to hear down Dock Street they advised people they met to turn back, as there was a row at York Point, and prevailed on one man to do so.

Cross-examined by the Att. General, -- Prisoner accompanied him to the lower Coun-