

as bad, having half a dozen poor ones?" He must have thought the shoe fitted, and so he put it on; but whether it fitted or not, he was wrong in his conclusion, for I had not the least thought of the Journal when I wrote my letter. The truth is, and I care not who knows it, I had a very short time before that stopped the paper which I had been taking, (it is unnecessary to say what the cause was,) and at the time I wrote to you I was not taking any paper at all, so that his conclusion is a charge against you that is entirely false. But if he is obliged to write for a paper I suppose he does not much care whether he writes truth or falsehood, if so be that he can only gratify his malice by writing against any person he has a private spite at, and I am informed he bears malice to you—the reason why I need not tell at present.

I remain sir, yours truly,
Wicklow, Dec. 6, '54. AN OLD FRIEND.

To the Editor of the Carleton Sentinel.

The following paragraph is extracted from the columns of the last Journal.
"Fluid versus Candles. It affords us much much pleasure to be enabled to congratulate the Episcopalians of this place, upon the introduction of a New Light in St Luke's Church. We sincerely hope it will prove efficacious in enlightening the Gentiles."

When a new light, of a proper kind, is introduced into St. Luke's and the Parish Churches, it will be a matter of gratulation to all who have their welfare and prosperity at heart, especially to those who recollect the simplicity of the mode of worship, which in former days obtained in them, but which has now been superceded by certain new fangled notions. And especially would the gentle portion of the Congregation be enlightened, if a detailed account of the disbursement of the fund raised from the proceeds of the Bazaar got up some few years ago, to repair and adorn St. Luke's Church, was made public. If this were done the Gentle portion of the well-wishers of the Church, would not only be really "enlightened" but "exceedingly rejoiced."

The Carleton Sentinel.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1854.

The redemption of our promise last week to furnish as full a detail as possible of English intelligence, has filled our columns to the exclusion of editorial matter. We know that our readers are deeply interested in the progress of a question that is absorbing the attention of the civilized world, viz, the war, and shall endeavour to keep them well posted up in the matter. Local and other matters will meet with attention in due season.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE FROM EUROPE.

The following has been received via St. John. Boston, Nov. 9, '54.

Pacific arrived to-day.—Nothing decisive from the seat of war.—Reinforcements arriving rapidly. No serious battle had occurred since the 5th of November.
The Allies refuse to treat on the old basis. Russians have captured two English cruisers. A terrible gale occurred in the Black Sea on the 14th. Thirty two English transports lost.—Three mail steamers stranded with considerable loss of life.—Ship of the line, Sans Pareil, driven ashore and took fire—Britannia ashore with five feet water in the hold—Retribution saved by throwing all guns overboard.—French ship Henry IV. lost, and several others damaged.—Parliament soon to assemble.—New taxes necessary.
Western Canal Flour 42s to 43s 6d. Baltimore and Philadelphia 43s 6d to 44s. Corn, Yellow & White 43s 6d to 44s. Mixed 43s to 43s 6d. Consols 91 1-2.

The President's Message to the American Congress, which was looked for with some degree of anxiety has been received. The following digest which we take from the New Brunswicker will give our readers a tolerably good idea of the leading features of that document.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Last evening we received the Boston Daily Courier of Tuesday last, containing the President's Message to Congress, which is a very lengthy document. The President refers to the eventful year now closing, and the vicissitudes through which the people have been called to pass, but still as a people, finds ample grounds for thankfulness to the God of Grace and Providence.

The wise theory of the Government of the United States is encouraged, but the President says that one or another of the powers of Europe has from time to time, undertaken to enforce arbitrary regulations, contrary in many respects to established principles of international law. That law, the United States have uniformly respected, and they cannot recognize any such interpolations therein, as the temporary interests of others may suggest.

After reviewing this question at some length, the President refers to the Reciprocity Treaty, and recommends to Congress the favorable consideration of a proposition for authority to refund the duties and cancel the bonds given on fish sent to the American markets by British subjects, before the final execution of the Treaty.

The unsettled boundary line between England and the United States in the Pacific is alluded to, and a commission is recommended on the part of both Governments to settle it.

The cordial relations with France, heretofore existing, the President hopes will not be interrupted. The position of affairs with Spain remains as at the close of last session.

The affairs of Central America have caused serious misunderstanding, and a re-adjustment of the provisions of the treaty of 1850 was under consideration. The President says that the American Minister at London has made strenuous efforts to accomplish this desirable object, but he has not yet found it possible to bring the negotiations to a termination. The Greytown affair is noticed at length, and the President labours hard to justify the destruction of that piece by the sloop-of-war Cyane.

The President refers to the tragic nature of the marine disasters during the last few months, and recommends more stringent laws for the protection of life and property at sea.

The remaining portion of the Message is occupied with matters of a generally local nature.

We perceive by the 'Royal Gazette' that the Honorable William Henry Steves has resigned the Office of Surveyor General, and that His Excellency has appointed the Honorable James Brown to the same.

Mr. Brown will have to return to his constituents for re-election, which the 'St. Stephen Patriot' says will take place immediately. Mr. Brown it is said will be opposed by G. J. Thompson, Esq., of St. Stephen. It is supposed that the contest will be a warm one.

The Legislature of Nova Scotia met on the 2nd instant. The Reciprocity Treaty had not passed at the latest advices from Halifax.

Prince Edward's Island had adopted the Treaty.

York is to test the question, next Tuesday, whether that County will become incorporated or not.

We have been requested by Messrs. Olmstead & Carle, Daguerrians, to state that next week will positively conclude their visit to Woodstock at this time, and that persons wishing to procure a good likeness would do well to avail themselves of the present opportunity.

Our fair readers will not be dissatisfied, we hope with the arrangements of the present No. of the 'Sentinel.' Next week we shall cater for them as usual.

We are indebted to the politeness of Mr. Newman of the firm of J. W. Telford & Co., for a copy of "Mrs. Partington's Carpet Bag of Fun." Any person troubled with "ennui" or the "blues" had better procure a copy at once. They have 100 copies on hand.

Liver Complaint, of Ten Years' Standing, Cured by the use of only two boxes of Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Liver Pills. NEW YORK, August 2, 1853.

This is to certify, that having been afflicted with Liver Complaint for ten years, and after having tried nearly every known remedy without finding relief, I was at last induced to try Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Liver Pills, and after using only two boxes was perfectly cured. I now take pleasure in recommending them to the public, as the best Liver or General or Antibilious Pills, ever offered to the public.

MRS. ANN MALONA,
No. 17 Rivington street.

P. S. Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Liver Pills, also his great Vermifuge or Worm Destroyer, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in this city. Purchasers will please be careful to ask for, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills. There are other Pills, purporting to be Liver Pills now before the public.

Deaths.

At his residence, in Woodstock, on the 24th ult, after a protracted illness, which he bore with patient submission to the Divine Will, James B. Peabody, Esquire, in the 65th year of his age—deeply lamented by a numerous circle of relatives and friends.
