Communications.

Victoria County, General Sessions.

July Term, 1854.

THE Grand Jurors beg leave to present to the Court their Report upon the several matters laid before them at the present Term.

1. Until Thursday afternoon, they were left without any papers or documents from which to judge of the moentary state of the County. On Friday morning they were furnished with certain papers relating to this subject, and were attended by the Auditor, the Clerk of the Court, and also by His Honor Mr. Justice Beveridge, who offered his assistance in explaining the action of the Court at its Special Sessions held since the January Term. As the result of their deliberation on the affairs of the County, the Grand Jury refer your Honors to the Auditors Report thereon, and which they append hereto as a part of this their report.

2. It seemed to the Grand Jury very desirable, that the Audit of the Public Accounts, which had been brought down from the erection of the County to the 10th day of January last, should be continued with the like precision and regard to the just interests, both of the Rate-payers and of the several persons having claims against the County; and they exceedingly regret that from the want of proper information, they have been unable to discharge this part of their onerous duty.

3. The Grand Jury feel themselves called upon to express their astonishment at the fact, that so large a sum as £38—due from the collection of St. Basil, on the assessment of 1850, should still remain to be accounted for by Mr. Justice Amiraux, (it being admitted on all hands that the money has been received by him)—and their surprise that the Court should accept the flimsy excuse of the said Justice, and allow this matter to remain over until January next.

4. The Grand Jury feel it to be their bounden duty to remark that this state of the Public affairs can only arise, either from the total incapacity, or the wilful negligence of some person or persons whose duty it is, or ought to be, to lay before them the necessary papers and documents connected with the Administration of the Public services of the County.

5. Several accounts against the County have been submitted to the Grand Jury, and a list of those passed and allowed, is hereto annexed.—From this it will be seen that the constables accounts for the late General Election have been disallowed. These services are not properly a County charge. For the expenses attending such Elections, the Sheriff renders an account to the House of Assembly, and it is paid by warrant on the Provincial Treasury.

6. The Sheriff's account of £26 13 4d, has been allowed at £16 13s 4d. The Grand Jury are of opinion, that the charge of £10—in this account for the annual Jury list, is much too high; but the item deducted is, "Salary for Jailor, half year, £10—," the Jurors being of opinion (as no Jailor is actually employed) that the occupation of the Jail and premises by the Sheriff, and the perquisites of the situation, are a fair and equitable remuneration by the Public, to the Sheriff for the services performed by him in the capacity of Jailor.

7. The account of Joseph Murphy of £5 18s. 0 for expense incurred about one Rose, is not allowed for the reason, that Rose committed the crime in the County of Carleton, where he was subsequently tried and convicted: And the Jurors are of opinion that, by Law, all the expenses of apprehending and bringing criminals to justice, are properly chargeable against the County where the offence was committed;—and they recommend Mr. Murphy to pursue his claim against the Municipality of Carleton.

8. From the best information which the Jurors can obtain the debit against the County stands thus, viz:

Amount of account passed January last, not yet paid,	£166 0 0
Less paid W. J. Wilnot	25 0 0
	£141 0 0
Due Mr. Wm. Hartt on debetures,	75 0 0
Amount of Accounts passed this Term,	54 10 0
Do. Contingencies for ersuing
half year,	66 0 0
Do. Insurance on Court House	7 10 0
Total,	£344 0 0

To meet this it is apprehended, that there will be received from Tavern Licences and fines,

	£150 0 0
To be collected from sources now due the County,	62 0 0
Cash now in Treasurers hands,	32 10 0
	244 0 0

Leaving the sum of £100 0 0 to be provided for; and the Grand Jurors recommended an Assessment on the County for the sum of £100,—to pay off the said debt, and to meet the probable contingencies.

9. The Grand Jury would have been pleased had they found the County accounts, and the returns from the several persons charged as defaulters at the last Audit, in such a state as would have justified them in including in the order of assessment a sum sufficient to fit up an office for the Clerk and Registrar of the County; but a due regard to the interest of the Ratepayers, and a sense of their own duty renders such a recommendation quite impossible at the present time.

10. The Grand Jurors respectfully beg leave to refer your Honors to the Report of the Grand Jury in January last, and to press upon your Honors attention the necessity there is to have the balances due the County adjusted in some proper and satisfactory manner; and also that your Honors will enforce proper and formal returns from all officers having returns to make to the Court connected with the County and Parish Rates;—The Grand Jury being satisfied that nothing short of this will prevent that confusion, and suspicion, and injustice which attends the present course of managing the County affairs.

11. The Grand Jurors thank your Honors for laying before them the Communication of Mr. Hartt to the Legislature, on the subject of his business transactions with the County, as it enables the Jurors to bring more forcibly under the notice of the Court, the certain results of this confusion of accounts which they, and all former Grand Jurors have complained against.

12. It is evident that had the Treasurer kept his accounts on a different system than he has done, the misapplication of public monies, charged by Mr. Hartt to the Court, could not have so easily happened. The monies levied for contingencies should have been kept in an account separate and distinct from the monies levied on the County, and drawn from the Province Treasury for County building purposes; and a distinction should have been observed respecting these two funds both by the Court and the Treasurer. The Jurors hope that this exposition will lead to reform, and more carefulness in this branch of the Public service.

13. In view of Mr. Hartt's claim against the County on debetures, the Grand Jury are of opinion, and so recommend to the Court, that justice to Mr. Hartt requires he should be paid off in preference to all other creditors of the County.

14. The Grand Jury have had laid before them charges of neglect of duty, against the Supervisor of the Great Road, and the Commissioner of Highways, in allowing the Public Streets and Highways, to be encumbered with lumber and other things during the months of April and May last. These charges are preferred by C. A. Hammond, Esq. While the Grand Jury do not think it advisable for them to take any action in this matter, they must at the same time give expression to the sentiments, that, if these officers, who also hold the high offices of presiding Judge, and Sheriff of the County, are neglectful of their duties, it is setting a very bad example before other County and Parish Officers, who cannot be expected to square their conduct by that nice sense of honor and duty which is looked for in those gentlemen.

15. The Grand Jury are exceedingly pained by feeling it to be their duty to remark, even in the mildest terms, upon the failure of the Administration of criminal justice lately witnessed in this Court. Too great carefulness cannot be observed in this particular, lest the moral influence of the office of the Judge be lost, and the Law and the Court be alike brought into contempt.

16. The Grand Jurors respectfully beg leave to call the attention of your Honors to the necessity that may exist for the appointment of a stipendiary constable for the shire-town, Grand Falls, whose duty it shall be to see that the Law, and the regulations respecting the sale of spirituous liquors, be properly enforced;—and that he be paid such salary as the Court see fit, out of any monies in the County contingent fund.

To be concluded in our next.
