She is not disposed to censure harshlyfor ske can hardly think that her late husband had a single rebscriber who would wish to wrong his widew or her famerlees children. She knows by experience that times are hard, and that it is difficult to realize money. But meely, now that returns from Timber are being made, she may look with confidence for a final settlement of all such mearages. They are small, it is true, but they would be of very great assistance in supporting her little family dur pectfully urges that all such arrearages may be arranged on or before the 1st of August next, ensuing.
