So believing, Professor Holloway has availed himself of every channel of information and intercourse that could facilitiate the diffusion of his Pills and Ointment in all quarters of the globe .-His energy and enterprise, stimulated by a noble desire to heal and save and strengthen the martyrs of disease in every land, have carried these hygeian preparations over shore and sea to the ends of the earth. What impediments will it not overcome !-It nerves the heart of the patriot to save his country, it lights the lamp of the philosopher to amend man, it invigorates if it does not inspire the Christian physician in his combats with the destroying Swinton Boult, Esq., Secretary. angel. Success, uniform and universal, has crowned the efforts of this great humanitarian. In all climates his medicines have curtailed the census of mortality. The attention of governments, institutions, men of science, the press, the masses, has everywhere been attracted to them. And this is but " the beginning of the end." Should their sale and dissemination continue to increase for ten years more in the ratio of the last five years, there will not probably be a square league on the accessible portion of the globe unincluded in the area of Policy includes the risk from lightning. motto of their indefatigable inventor, as he directs loss. the vast system of transit and correspondence, whose centre is in this city, and whose ramifications extend to the utmost limits of the circle of trade .- London " Mark Lane Express."

LOLA MONTEZ' LECTURE ON GALLANTRY .- A mong many other things, she said she thought there is little of the ancient feeling of gallantry left in England, the aristocracy of that country having caught the business, money-getting propensities of the United States. A business and commercial mation might, she said do a great deal of courting, but it required leisure and the cultivation of romance for the spirit of gallantry to nourish in.

Gallantry in England and the United States, meant now nothing more than flirtation. The Americans, especially, are great adepts in courting. A real American will manage a lady's heart as a man was regarded a dull fellow in this country, who cannot win a lady's heart, make a thousand dollars, and establish a new bank with the prospective capital of three millions, before breakfast; and she believed it was no unusual thing for him to lose his money, his bank, and his mistress, before supper of the same day.

"The gentleman," said Lola, "who called my attention to this pretty piece of gallantry, affected to laugh at its extravagance and bad French, but I answered him that I had never known a Frenchman who would not forego the idea of Paradise altogether for the sake of a pretty woman."-Phil.

WOULDN'T CONTEND .- A cross-grained, surly man, too crooked by nature to keep still, went over same hour, daily, Sundays excepted to his neighbor, Mr. F——, a remarkably cool, ealm non-resistant, and addressed him thus: "That piece of fence over there is mine, and you and reliable cathartic, in a liquid form, agreeable to the taste, and one which purges without violence, is a desideratum in medicine; this fact will be admitted by all. Such a discovery has been often attempted, but without success, until the introduction of the above-named remedy. No patent medicine ever met with such ready approval by physicians as this. Many regular practitioners are using it daily, all of whom have spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Persons, for the want of a better, have been obliged to resort to the use of those drastic, nauseous, and oftentimes injurious purgatives, such as castor oil, salts, senna, rhubarb, jallop, alees, gamboge, &c., all of which cause more or less debility, and fail to accomplish the object for which they are taken; on the contrary, they often increase the difficulty, and render the patient less curable. None of these enter into the composition of this invaluable remedy. It is composed of barks. roots and seeds, the medical properties of which are exactly adapted to the cure of those complaints for which it is recommended. By a combination of those properties, the public were put in possession of the most valuable pre-paration ever produced. This medicine is not intended simply as a cathartic; its value as such is insignificant when compared with its power of purifying the blood from all humors, regulating the action of the bowels, curing PATENT MEDICINES of every description now before be public.

Dyspepsia, restoring the appetite, producing a healthy action of the Liver, freeing the stomach from bile, and invigorating and strengthening the whole system.
