THE ELECTIONS IN NOVA SCOTIA. - Now that the excitement and violence of party feeling, consequent upon the great political contest through which the country has so lately passed, has somewhat subsided, it may not be amiss briefly to review the whole case, and note the leading features of the strife and the results. When the Government of Nova Scotia changed hands in 1857, in consequence of the conduct of the | Suza* Roman Catholic members of the last House, and those representing Catholic constituencies having apostatized, there were but twenty three members left in Opposition, out of a House of fifty-three.— 0 Of these twenty-three, four-Parker, Rhinard Geldert, and Davidson-voluntarily retired from publie life. The other nineteen came forward as cano didates at the recent election, and with the exception of Bennet Smith, Esq., have been every one returned-elected-most, if not all, taking the circumstance of the new division of counties into consideration, with largely increased majorities. Of the thirty Government supporters, eight declined the contest, viz. : Bourneuf, Bill, White, Bent, Ruggles, McLearn, McKeagny, and Hyde. Four of these eight seats have been filled by Opposition candidates—those of Bill, White, Bent, and position have been seized by the Government, unless B. Smith's shall be lost. Of the remaining twenty-two Government candidates eight have been defeated at the hustings, viz. : McFarlane, Marshall, Fuller, C. Campbell, Ryder, Brown, Wil-0 kins, Moses : and of these eight seats, seven have been carried off by Opposition candidates; but of

THE NEW PARLIAMENT. - The constituencies have answered Lord Derby's appeal. The question put to them by the Government was precise and rudimentary. They were not called upon to express themselves upon any great point of domestic or foreign policy-upon wise reform at home, or dignified neutrality abroad-but were simply asked to O declare whether they had or had not confidence in Lord Derby and Mr. Disraeli as the proper, or the best possible, Ministers of the Queen under all the alarm. circumstances in Europe. The answer is recorded, The new Parliament will have greater confidence in these stastesmen and their colleagues than the last had, to the extent of about twenty votes, and no further. It remains to be seen whether these twenty votes will be sufficient for the purpose of those by whose zeal and exertions, and, we may add, by whose money, the result was obtained.

The Liberal party owes it to itself as soon as Parliament assembles-and it ought to be sitting at this moment if Ministers had as much regard for the public interest as for old precedents-to declare itself as emphatically as the constituencies have done. The question put to the country by Lord Derby must be put to the Parliament itself, in one form or in another. The result will either restore 5 0 0 period in the possession of the Conservatives. St. John is not the only place in the British dominions where Austria finds sympathisers. The friends of Austria elsewhere, however, speak out more holdly than they do here. They will serve to We have delayed going to press with our mail open the eyes of some of our people, unless they are determined that their eyes will be shut to such things. We copy an interesting extract below. (says the St. John Globe) from the Dublin Irish-

This martial struggle, the smoke of which it may be, now rises above the green garden land of North Italy, is but the prelude after all, of the great giant war which is to be fought again between the proud rivals for the mastery of Europe.

And now the heir of the great Corsican warr ior comes forth at last, armed for retribution and re-So England reads the grim riddle whose fearful solution is approaching. So should we read it And she prepares for the strife: with the pale Napoleon remained at Alessandria planning sickness apprehension at her heart that it will be a bloody wrestle of death, where no quarter will be given. In London and Liverpool, in country and in town-amid the green lanes of Essex, or the murky wastes of Cornwall or Cumberland, there are anxious wistful eyes and pallid cheeks; for the funds are cruelly low, and markets dull. In Ireland, what is there? Maybap, kindling eyes, hearts that heave with almost painful hope, cheeks that flush with eager wondering expectation.

Ah, friends, the recruiting sergeant is abroad. Bounties are high and tempting. The royal proclamation goet forth for "ten thousand loyal men" to fill the British navy. The barracks are astir. The dock yards are busy. The militia is called out. And everywhere there is the haste and stir and hot bewildering bustle that tell of sudden terror and

Here is the shilling, my brothers! and Ten Pounds bounty. Will you not rally now to up-
