Desnitory.

PORTUGUESE WOMEN .- The Portuguese are certainly an industrious people. I have often watched the stone-masons who were employed next door to us, and the clink of whose hammers and chisels was to be heard from sunrise to sundown.' The men rested at nine o'clock, for one half hour, to take a second breakfast; then they set to again and no cessation till half-past twelve. At two they began again and went on till after sunset; and this day by day, till their work was ended I was surprised NOW ready for inspection, a splendid assortment of to observe that the workmen courted rather than DRESS GOODS, in all the latest patterns. RIBBONS, maxim, "Quick Sales and Light Profits." shunned the burning sun; for the blocks of granite Flowers, Gloves, Parasols, Mantles, Sewed Muslins, which they were hewing into shape, were all arranged on the sunny side of the street, when it would have been equally as convenient to themselves and ROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, VEST I must say a word or two of the industry of the what came under my own observation. The occu- FURNISHING GOODS. pation of the won an I am about to give as an example, was to drive away the little thieves of birds from a crop of Indian corn, in a field adjoining our garden, and extending up a steep slope towards the light-house. This woman got up with the birds, (before four o'clock,) and went to bed with the birds, (about eight,) and never left the birds all day, but ran to and fro across the sloping ground under, a burning sun, or a blustering wind, or a pelting rain, never once resting her poor legs, as far as I could discover, and I chanced at the time to be confined by illness to a room that overlooked this field. She was busy the while too with band and voice; one loud and shrill note was forever repeated, to an instrumental accompaniment not more harmonious-a sort of watchman's rattle. Another instance I may quote, of a tall and handsome young girl who came daily to the house where we were staying. She acted as aguadera, the water-carrier, bringing from the fountain all apr 30. the water that was required for the day; helping in the garden, weeding and watering, and willing and ready at any moment to be sent up to the city, three miles off, on any sort of errand. Thither she | A Dried Brandywine CORN MEAL, for sale by went regularly, every other morning; let the weather be what it might, she was off before four o'clock and home again by eight or nine, bringing on her head, in a large basket, everything used or consumed in the house except the coals. LYING IN BED .- No piece of indolence hurts the health more than the modern custom of lying abed too long in the morning. This is the general practice in great towns. The inhabitants of cities seldom rise before eight or nine o'clock; but the morning is undoubtedly the best time for exercise, while the stomach is empty and the mind refreshed with sleep. Besides, the morning air braces and strengthens the nerves, and in some measure answers the purposes of a cold bath. Let any one, who has been accustomed to lie in bed till eight or nine o'clock, rise by six or seven, spend a couple of the public. without doors, and he will find his spirits cheerful which we would particularly notice the and serene throughout the day, his appetite keen and his'body braced and strengthened.

How Kindness Saved Him.—It is easy to ruin and it is easy to save a young man. One of the leading brokers of New York had a young man in An excellent article for retailing. his employ. The vast amount of money in his hands was a great temptation to him. Small sums were missed day after day; one quarter, then fifty cents, then one dollar, then two dollars were missed. He was charged with the peculation. The broker showed him how he could detect the abstraction of TWO HUNDRED PLOUGHS! the smallest sum of money; the young man stammered and confessed. "Now," said the broker, "I shall not discharge-I shall not dishonor you. I intend to keep you and make a man of you. You will be a vagabond if you go along in this way. Now let me see no more of this." He went to his work. He did not disappoint the confidence. He did honor to his employer. And the other day he was introduced into one of the banks in an honorproclaimed his dishonor—perhaps he would have ended his days in the State Prison, or been sent to the Tombs in the gerb of a corriet.

THE URCHINS SELECTING A PROFESSION .- "Joe, when you grow up, do you mean to be a lawyer or keep a confectionery store?" "I have not made up my mind, Tom, but ma wants me to be a minister.' "Oh, don't be a minister, Joe, for you can't go to the circus then." "I know that, Tom, but a minister, ma says, is the best profession. You know Mrs. Lovegrew adores Mr. Prettyface, and would'nt you like to be adored, Tom?' "Perhaps I should, but then you can't drive fast horses.

"O yes, I can. Ministers drive fast horses now days; and besides that, Tom, when they have a bilious attack, the worshippers send them on a foreign tour; and then he gets remembered in wills, and often has nice presents; and ma says it "won't be long before every minister has his country Corner Queen & Regent Streets, Fredericton. seat, and a collegian to write his sermons. Won't that be high?"

Tom acquiesced, and the juveniles indulged in another game of marbles.

VERY PRETTY .- A lady's cheek is compared, by flowery poets to a rose. If a lover steals a kiss, we suppose it becomes "a cabbage-rose!" Truly fine natures dislike finery, but coarse ones may dislike fineness and finery.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints: SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AF-FECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEU-RALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYS-PEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR St. Anthony's Fire, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from Impurity of

THE BLOOD. This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown. Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else. During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.
