> ORIGIN OF THE WORD "TEETOTAL."-The simple facts are that when the question of reviving the old temperance pledge was under consideration in Preston, a working man of the name of Richard Turner applied to the proposal, not a cant word, but one long in use as an idiomatic local expression-the term "teetetal." He had probably heard and uttered it hundreds of times before, in the sense of completely, absolutely, without any exception .-and force. Its application to total abstinence from inebriating liquors was accidental, and the use of it by Richard Turner would probably have escaped observation, had he not, through a habit of stammering, drawn the attention of the people to the distinction he was wishing to convey. No one would have been more suprised than he to learn chitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Boils, Seurvy, and the Prostrative Effects of Lead or Mercury, General Debility, and all Diseases requiring a tonic, or alterative Medicine, is now beyond question. The proofs of its efficacy are so numerous so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid. The Peruvian Syrap does not profess to be a cure-all, but its range is extensive, because many diseases, apparently unlike, are intimately related, and, proceeding from one cause, may be cured by one remedy. The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses are accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible. Those who may wish for an opinion from disinterested persons re-specting the character of the Syrup, cannot fail to be satisfied with wing, among numerous testimonials in the hands of the Agents The signatures are those of gentlemen well known in the community of Boston, and of the highest respectability.
