ROUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

FREDERICTON, Feb. 17.

Mr. McPhelim hoped that the House would not be called upon to vote the Supplies this year before ting to the probable expenditure and receipts. He said that last year they were emphatically in the dark when they voted the supplies.

Mr. Tilley promised that all the required information would be given. He laid before the House certain Returns and reports, comprising returns of He was much gratified to receive, as he had, the and additional to, Chapter 116, Title 30, of the Fire Insurance Companies, Banks, etc., and Reports of Commissioners of Light Houses, of Lunatic As- in the course he had adopted; and he felt justified Action," Mr. Mitchell in the chair of the comylums, etc.

lations relating to the Post Office. Attorney General presented a petition of the Rev. Dr. Brook, Rev. Mr. Coster, and 220 others of Fredericton, praying that Sunday labor may be discontinued in the Post office. The House then went to dinner, and on resuming, the order of the day upon Mr. McPhelim's Resolution respecting the Post Office, was taken up. Mr. McPhelim referred to the new regulations and the old ones; he said that the present measure was only a half one; he described how mails were still received, made up and despatched; if the country were desirous of a change, and wished to have Sunday labor abolished, why not put a stop to the travelling of couriers and to work of every kind .-The hon, gentlemen went on to show that the battles of Waterloo and Balaelava were fought on Sundays, that a treaty of peace had been concluded on a Sunday, and advanced various arguments con-on Sunday. Mr. McLellan was opposed to doing work in the Post Office on Sanday, and he held this opinion in common with his constituents; he spoke of the effect that all present or proposed regulations having in view the sholition of Sunday labor, meet with the concurrence of the House.

Mr. Read would go for any measure that would put a total cessation upon Sunday labor. The present regulations were useless. He did not want to see the labor diminished, but he wanted to see it has handed us a copy of a pamphlet entitled, "The ter General had good intentions, but he had no
