From "Godey's Lady's Book" for July. GROWING OLD.

BY SARAH JOSEPHA HALL. Growing old, growi g old! Do they say it of me? Do they hint my bright fancies are frozen or fled? That my garden of life, like the winter-swept tree, Is faded and dying, or fallen and dead ?

Is the heart growing old, when each beautiful thing, Like a landscape at eve, looks more tend rly bright, And love sweeter seems, as a bird's wandering wing Draws nearer its nest at the coming of night?

Is the nind growing old, when, with ardor of youth, Through the flower walks of wisdom 'is winning its way, Or seeking new shells from the ocean of Truth, And shouting " Eureka !" like childhood at play?

Is the soul growing old? See the planet of even, When rising at morn, melts in glory above; Thus turning from earth we creep closer to Heaven, Like a child to its Father's warm welcoming love.

Does the mortal grow old, as years roll away? 'Tis change, not destruction; kind whater will bring Fresh life to the germ and perfect it. Decay Holds the youth bud IMMORTAL, and heraids its spring.

Growing old, growing old! Can it ever be true And hopes sown for others are blooming anew, And the rainbow of Peace smiles over the storm?

Growing old, growing old! No, we never grow old, If, like " little children," we trust in the Word, And, counting carth's treasures by Heaven's pure gold, We lay our weak hands on the strength of the Lord.

> the devil quotes Scripture .- Jewish Chronicle. NARROW ESCAPE OF NAPOLEON .- In his visit to the field of battle at Montebello the Emperor Napoleon narrowly escaped being made prisoner. He had pushed on as far as Castegio, and was observing with his telescope the movements of the enemy between Barbianello and the Portico del Stella upon the Po, when suddenly a detachment of Austrians presented themselves before him, only two hundred paces distant. Whether they had lost their way, or whether they had advanced thus far from mere hardihood, cannot be told; but it is probable that the latter supposition is correct, inasmuch as the advanced post of the Austrians are much more energetic and during than those of the Franco-Sardinian . Directly, however, the Emperor. saw honor to the winner of the Derby. Louis Napoeon has faults, it must be admitted; but that of wantonly exposing his person to the enemy cortainly cannot be numbered among them.

> PROPOSAL OF PEACE. - A correspondent of the London Times writing from Paris, states on what it represents the best authority, that two of the most influential powers of Europe, probably Engand and Prussia, had agreed to propose the folowing arrangement as a basis of peace

I. That the territory gained by the victorious party shall be accepted by all the European powers as the basis of a Congress. 2. The entry of the French into Milan supported by a popular manifestation, shall be considered by he European powers as a convincing proof of the disapprobation in Italy of Austrian policy. 3.
