THE DEACON'S MASTERPIECE; OR, THE WONDERFUL "ONE-HORSE SHAY,"

A LOGICAL STORY.

Have you heard of the wonderful one-hoss shay, That was built in such a logical way It ran a hundred miles to a day, And then, of a sudden, it-ah, but stay, I'll tell you what happened without delay, Scaring the parson into fits, Frightening people out of their wits,-Have you ever heard of that, I say?

Seventeen hundred and fifty-five, Georgius Secundus was then alive,-Stuffy old drone from the German hive ! That was the year when Li bon-town Saw the earth open and gulp her down, And Braddock's army was done so brown, Left without a scalp to its crown. It was on the terrible Earthquake day That the Deacon finished the one-hoss shay.

Now in building of chaises, I tell you what, There is always somewhere a weakest spot,-In hub, tire, felloe, in spring or thill, In pannel, or cross-bar, or floor, or sill, In serew, bolt, thoroughbrace,-lurking still, Find it somewhere you must and will,-Above or below, or within or without,-And that's the reason beyond a doubt, A chaise breaks down, but doesn't wear out.

But the Deacon swore (as Deacons do, With an "I dew vum," or an "I tell yeou,") He would build one shay to beat the taown 'n' the keounty 'n' all the kentry roaun'; It should be so built that it couldn' break daown: -" Fur," said the Deacon, "'t's mighty plain That the weakes' place mus' stan' the strain; 'n' the way t' fix it, uz I maintain, Is only jest

To make that place uz strong uz the rest." So the Deacon enquired of the village folk Where he could find the strongest oak, That couldn't be split nor bent nor broke,-That was for spokes, and floors and sills; He sent for lancewood to make the thills; The cross-bars were ash, from the straightest trees, The pannels of whitewood, that cuts like cheese, But last like iron for things like these; The hubs of logs from the "Settler's ellum."-Last of its timber, -they couldn't sell 'em, -Never an axe had seen their chips, And the wedges flew from between their lips, Their blunt ends frizzled like celery-tips; Step and prop-iron, bolt and screw, Spring, tire, axle, and linehpin, too, Steel of the finest, brightest, blue; Thoroughbrace bison-skin, thick and wide; Boot, top, dasher, from tough old hide Found in the pit where the tanner died. That was the way he "put her through." "There," said the Deacon, "Naow she'll dew !"

Do! I tell you, I rather guess She was a wonder and nothing less ! Colts grew horses, beards turned gray, Deacon and Deaconess dropped away, Children and grand-children-where were they But there stood the stout old one-hoss shay As fresh as on Lisbon-earthquake-day!

EIGHTEEN HUNDRED; -it came and found The Deacon's Masterpiece strong and sound. Eighteen hundred increased by ten;-"Hansum kerridge" they called it then Thirty and Forty at last arrive, And then came Fifty and FIFTY-FIVE.

Little of all we value here Wakes on the morn of its hundreth year Without both feeling and looking queer. In fact, there's nothing that keeps its youth, So far as I know, but a tree and truth. (This is a moral that runs at large; Take it .- You're welcome .- No extra charge.)

FIRST OF NOVEMBER, -the Earthquake-day, -There are traces of age in the one-hoss shay, A general flavor of mild decay But nothing local as one may say. There couldn't be,-for the Deacon's art Had made it so like in every part That there wasn't a chance for one to start. For the wheels were just as strong as the thills, And the floor was just as strong as the sills, And the pannels just as strong as the floor, And the whippletree, neither less nor more, And the back-crossbar as strong as the fore, And spring, and axle, and hub encore. And wheter it whole wit is past a dante

First of November, Fifty-five! This morning the parson takes a drive. Now, small boys, get out of the way ! Here comes the wonderful one-hoss shav, Draw by a rat-tailed, ewe-necked bay. "Huddup," said the parson .- Of went they.

The parson was working his Sunday text,-Had got to fifthly, and stopped perplexed At what the-Moses-was coming next. All at once the horse stood still, Close by the meet'n'-house on the hill. -First a shiver and then a thrill, Then something decidedly like a spill,-And the parson was sitting upon a rock, At half past nine by the meet'n'-house clock,-Just the hour of the Earthquake shock ! -What do you think the parson found When he got up and stared around? The poor old chaise in a heap or mound, As if it had been to the mill and ground You see, of course, if you're not a dunce, How it went to pieces all at once,-All at once, and nothing first,-Just as bubbles do when they burst.

End of the wonderful one-hoss shay. Logic is logic. That's all I say.

Blessings are the brightest after they have flown The sunlight would be a heavenly dream were it never to smile again. The song of the birds and Earth has none which can fill that vacant seat Not a tone like that of a cradle memory. Gentle the silent dews and green the turf where loved ones have lain down to rest. We shall see them again, and join hands forever, for we know that the Redeemer liveth.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can efficiel. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age pogsesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other medicines do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond anything which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs, and stimulating life and vigor -health courses anew through the blood. and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only; for when taken by one in health her produce but little effect. This is the perfection of l'ender children may take them with impunity ;-if they ire sick, they will cure them; if they are well, they will o them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated

traighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite eturn; see his clammy leatures blossom into health. ive them to some sufferer whose foul bood has burst out n scrofula till his skin is covered with sores-who stands. or sits, or hes in anguish. He has been drenched inside and our with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. ive him the e Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabe fail from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them o him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in us joints : move him, and he screekes with pain. He too as been soaked through every muscle of his body with imments and salves : give him these Pills to purify his session of the necessary qualifications, can confidence be blood; they may not cure him, for, ains! there are cases which no mortal power can reach : but mark, he walks with critiches now and new he walks alone-they have cured him Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it health; see the new man, See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away ; want of exercise, or mental inguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the intertal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion till they to their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is lone Give her these l'ILLs to stimulate the vitat principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and ifuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look againthe toses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow at joy bursts from every feature See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, te'l the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do ma, Consumptive Habits, Dimness of Sight, Dizziness, these things? Nay, are they not the marvels of the age?
