Desnitory.

From the New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Despatch we take the following account of a shocking murder committed in New York, on the Carleton, Merchant, made to me pursuant to the directions the County of Carleton, Yeoman, made to me, pursuant 27th October:

The family consisted of his second wife, who was enciente, two sons, aged 19 and 14, and a daughter aged 16, by his first wife, and a boy 7 years old, as well as a girl five and one 21 years old, by his next. A couple of servant maids completed the catalogue. The young gentleman of 19, had been expelled from school and sent to sea. He had been placed in various places of business and dismissed; more, however, on account of his incorrigible indolence and inertiae, than on account gagement was in a hardware store, and while stock, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, as the time there he provided himself with a three-barrelled and place for a meeting of the Creditors of the said pistol, a hatchet, and a large knife, by way of personal armament.

The father of this precocions youth instead of suppl, ing him with on pocket money, or else suffi eient, deposited the immense sum of fifty dollars, in the boy's name, in a saving's Bank, to be drawn out when he should have become of age! The boy obtained possession of the book, and drew ten dollars last Monday. That day and the next he spent all of it but twenty cents. On Tuesday chided him for his extravagance, but his mother DAY the seventh day of Fabruary next, at my office in awaited him with a nice supper for his especial Woodstock, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, as the time gratification, At 101 P.M., the boy sought his room, and, brooding romantically over his troubles set about his remedy. I wall A. The first thing he did was to remove his hat, coat, boots, vest, watch, sleeve-buttons, cravat, &c., placing each article up in its appropriate place, as if he had retired for the night. Now, he probably thought, "I will have my revenge! I will murder the old man, and, if disturbed, murder every one who may chance to be a witness. on the second floor, where his father was just extinguishing the gas for the night. With a single blow he split open the old gentleman's skull, and left him lying senseless in his own gore. He then proceeded to his mother's chamber. Alarmed at the noise, she had arisen in her bed to listen; when, exclaiming, "Oh, mother! mother!" the boy-assassin caught her by the arm, crushed her skull with a blow on the head, gave her two more as she leaped to escape, and left her also unconscious and bleeding upon the floor!

first servant girl. The other girl disarmed him, and fled to her room, but the door being unfastened he rushed in, wrested the hatchet from her grasp, dashed in her brains, as he presumed, and sought his sisters. The noise had induced his elder sister, who slept with her two younger sisters, to open her chamber-door; but seeing a gore-dripping burglar struggling in the hall, she instantly fastened In the matter of JOHN FLANAGAN, an Insolvent Debher door again in great alarm, and screamed murder. Frem long practical observation of the treatment pur-sued in the various institutions of London and Paris for those diseases referred to in the above work, the author has had somewhat unusual facilities for acquiring that accuracy of diagnosis, and uniform success, which have characterised his practice for so many years in this country, in which the lamentable neglect of those diseases by medical men generally, and their fatile attempts to cure by mercury, copaiba, sarsaparilla, &c , have produced most distressing results. Lasting benefit in such cases can only be reasonably expected at the hands of the legal. ly-qualified medical man who devotes his chief attention to their removal; and to him only who can show his possession of the necessary qualifications, can confidence be safely extended.
