Doctry.

SUMMER.

BY MARY BOWITT. 'Tis summer-joyous summer time ! In noisy towns no more abide; The earth is full of radiant things, Of gleaming flowers and glancing wings, Beauty and joy on every side.

Tis morn; -the glorious sun is up, The dome-like heaven is bright and blue; The lark, yet higher and higher ascending, Pours out his song that knows no ending; The unfolding flowers are brimm'd with dew.

When noon is in the flaming sky Seek we some shadowy, silent wood; Recline upon a mossy knoll, Cast care aside, and yield the soul To that luxurious quietude.

Above, waves wide the linden tree, With humming bees the air is thrill'd, And through the sleeping hush is heard The sudden voice of the woodland bird, Like sound with which a dream is fill'd.

Oh pleasant land of idlesse ! Julity bides not neath the trees, But thought, that roams from folly free, Through the pure world of poetry, Puts on her strength in scenes like these

And sweet it is by lonely meres To sit, with heart and soul awake, Where water lilies lie afloat. Each anchored like a fairy boat Amid some fabled elfin lake.

To see the birds flit to and fro Along the dark-green reedy edge; Or fish leap up to catch the fly; Or list the viewless wind pass by, Leaving its voice amid the sedge.

The green and breezy hills-away My heart is light, my foot is free, And resting on the topmost peak, The freshening gale shall fan my cheek,-The hills were ever dear to me !

I stand upon the mountain's brow, A monarch in this region wide; I and the grey-faced mountain sheep The solitary station keep, As Awing things were zone beside.

> 'Tis summer eve, a gentle hour; The west is rich in sombre sheen; And mid the garden's leafy trees, Springs up a cool, refreshing breeze, And the pale stars are faintly seen-

The white owl with his downy wings And hooded head goes slowly by; The hawkmoth sits upon the flowers; And through the silent evening hours The little brooks make melody.

And walking 'mid the folded blooms At summer midnight shalt thou feel. A soften'd heart, a will subdued A holy sense of gratifude, And influence from the source of good, Thy bitterest grief to heal.

Select Tale.

SALT WATER BUBBLES.

MARRIAGE GOES BY DESTINY.

Richard Wargravo arrived in Boston harbor one fine morning in the ship Porpus, from South America, having successfully completed his first voyage to sea before the mast.

Richard was a good looking young man, about twenty-two years of age, of a generous disposition, well-educated, and although somewhat frank, free and open in his address, and caring little for the conventionalities of society; he was one of those men we often meet with in every rank of life, who are gentlemen by instinct, as Falstaff was a coward

Without being addicted to any vices, Richard Wargrave, owing to an exuberance of animal spirits. had acquired a character of being wild and unsteady. and had caused anxiety to his parents, by manifesting a repugnance to settle down quietly and happi-It in a pleasant country village, until he had seen more of the world and studied human nature in other lands. He had made this voyage in a ship Belonging to a friend of his father, by way of an experiment, and with his father's consent, who flattered himself with the belief that one voyage before the mast would effectually "kill the sailor," and that his son on his return would be sensible of his folly,

But on revisiting his native land, after an absence of many months, Richard was still undetermined in regard to his future career. He could not immediately decide whether to embrace the exciting, and, to his bold spirit, attractive occupation of a mariner, with a prospect of speedy promotion, as the business of his life, or settle down permanently and at ones in the pleasant, thriving town in which he was born, and join his father in a respectable and profitable business, but of a more quiet and humdrum character than that of a sailor.

While he was revolving in his mind the wisest course to pursue and making arrangements for a visit to his home, having requested the Captain of the Porpus to keep a berth open for him, as in all Ifkelihood he should conclude to join him on another voyage, he received a letter from his father which upset all his calculations, and alarmed him exceedingly. The letter was as follows :-

MELROTH. Oct. 28. has arrived safe in Boston harbor. You must have got sick of the sea long since, and I sincerely trust, have grown steady and reasonable: Your mother dence that she was a girl of spirit, worthy to become twice during the Summer, to make sure work. and I have arranged a plan for keeping you with us, and make you happy for life. We intend to have you bound in siken fetters-married, you rogue! What do you think of that? And to the daughter of my worthy old friend, Colonel Conway of Tivoli, as fine a girl as there is in the country!

We have settled all matters with the old folks, the parents of your intended, who are quite pleasd with the project. Their daughter of course will jump at the chance, as she is a good and sensible girl. Thus On landing in New York in the afternoon, he insist-nores the "thine," and acts seemingly upon the at home, he would be in a condition to continue the you see all the trouble of courting will be taken off ed on seeing the bewitching damsel conveyed to the "mine," as if the conqueror imagined the whole war in Sicily. It was therefore necessary to attack your hands. All you have to do is to haul alongresidence of her aunt in a populous and respectable world to be his, and nobody else to have a right to a him in his vital part, and no doubt the moment

So lose no time in coming home, Dick. Your her health mother and I long to see you, embrace you, and con-

Your loving Father.

ABNER WARGRAVE.

girl that I never saw in my life, and that was years vows. ago, and then she were a short calico frock, had Richard called several times on Miss Florence; Prussia were surrounded by a conclave of German war bound for Sicily. Precaution, however, had white hair, pink eyes, and a freekled face! Ugh! and while every interview revealed some new and Princes at Baden-Baden. They breakfasted toge- been taken to clear out for Malta, and, as she was The idea is dreadful! I won't be married! And charming trait in her character, and served to ther; they dired together; there was a happy in- captured in the direct course to that island, the so it seems the fascinating fair one will jump at the strengthen the chain which drew him to her presterchange of courtesies, and two or three consulta- Sardinian Embassador has demanded the restoration chance. Perhaps she will. Well, let her jump, ence, he exulted in the belief that his visits were tions. These, apparently, were not what Louis of the vessel, passengers, and crew, and his demand and miss it, and tumble everboard if she likes! 'The not considered impertinent or unwarranted. He Napoleon wanted, but he had desired, -a private is backed by the British embassador. A refusal, of trouble of courting hae been taken off my hands!" was always welcomed as a valued friend, and treat- conversation of three-quarters of an hour with the course, would justify a declaration of war, by Vic-Iudeed! I ought to be under great obligations for ed with as much consideration and kindness as he, Prince Regent. What pass-1 at this interview is tor Emmanuel, which would instantly seal the doom being relieved of the unpleasant duty! But the a stranger whose character and position in society inferred rather than asserted, and some time is like- of Francis II. In all this business people are eager matter looks serious. My father is in earnest, and were unknown, had a right to expect. if I am not in Melroth by to-morrow night, he will One memorable day, as Richard Wargrave, scat- on the matter. On Saturday night the Emperor the conclusion that in the event of this annexation be here on the following day, accompanied perhaps ed in Mrs. Longford's parlor, was engaged in con- returned to Paris, and on Monday the Moniteur an- taking place, Louis Napoleon will demand further than Egyptian bondage." vices on board the Porpus, and booked himself in was justly entitled.

was indecorous and offensive; but at length unable Wargrave?" to resist the influence of the drowsy god, he became 'Most certainly I am. There cannot be a shadow the life of the present Emperor of the French his of his perplexed companion, and actually leaned his this? You seem no stranger to my name.

urged him to press forward upon the slightest indi- an imposter!' cation that a woman was in need of aid or protec- Richard stared, and changed co'ar, but looked stoop from the glory he had obtained to the meantion, had witnessed with unmitigated disgust the increduluous. She resumed, 'I am Florence Con-ness of annexing territores of no value whatever to solecisms in politeness on the part of the thickhead- way of Tivoli!' throat, his patience became exhausted, and leaning which was not your own?

ed his eyes, and glanced fiercely at the young sailor; mined that I should be sacrificed, and therefore I Prussia an extension of territory in the direction of but seeing the resolute expression of his features, ran away!

lor, his open and honest countenance invited confi- altar.

of her mother, who resided in that city. Richard was confident from the musical tones of her voice, her timid demeanor, and her light and graceful figure, that she was not only youthful, but beau- June in laying their eggs where the young may find clear, however, that if he made a proposal it was ened in his bosom increased every moment, and he their share of the mischief, they die. In about fif- of misrepresentation in announcing that peace was her personal attractions dissipated. tunity to gaze upon her features, and take, if he where they keep as snugly ensconced as a turtle in scheme; and it is not at all improbable that the wished it, an inventory of her personal charms. He its shell. Like the turtle, some of them carry their policy for which the Emperor of the French has got and become submissive to parental advice and au- fo nd her more levely in appearance than even his covering around with them. As they grow, they credit proceeds, not from mental fullness, but from hood, with the complexion of a Hebe, and faultless settling in a piece at the sides when necessary .- to the peace of the world on that account—quite the features lighted with a smile and suffused with a Thus they pass the Summer; they take a winter contrary. At Baden-Baden neither Russia nor blush, she seemed to Richard something too pure and nap; change to c'nrysaliss in Spring, and in about Austria were represented. England, it is believed, beautiful for earth. His heart was transfixed on the twenty days, emerge as perfect insects, to flutter was solicited to give attention to the subject, but spot; he surrendered his affections to the fair stran- about, find their mates, and raise another enterpris- she was present only indirectly through the policy ger without a struggle, and impelled by feelings too ing family. Now is the time to route them out .- of the royal family. That policy, no doubt, exerpowerful to be resisted, and which he did not at- Take all woollen clothes from drawers, clothes press- cised considerable influence over the Prince of tempt to analize, he secretly resolved in his inmost es, etc., and with a light cane give them a thorough Prussia.

mained in Providence, and during the remainder of among clothing, and the drawers and boxes contain- is establishing a Government. Taxation, of course, the journey, Richard Wargrave was exceedingly po- ing it, will sometimes prevent their return. House- is one result but free trade is another. The cruellite in his attentions to the young lady, and made keepers sometimes find the moth, notwithstanding ties—we might say the butcheries—of the Neapoliher comfort his peculiar care. By a glimpse at the this or some other strong aromatic had been applied tan army are now established on the testimony of way-bill where his own name was registered as El- liberally, because they had not first beaten or shaken Admiral Mundy. In his dispatch to Lord John ward Dalrymple to avoid giving a clue to his where- out the intruders already in their quarters. Empty Russell he describes the outrages of the soldiers as take place. The announcement was received with of the Privy Council. He will occupy the Palace slaver was "Miss Florence." The fact that this articles subject to moths—they have sense enough to no earthly purpose, but that of savage revenge, a young lady was travelling alone, unprotected, a long eschew tobacco. Ground black pepper sprinkled district in the city, of one hundred by three hun-DEAR DICK: Tsee by the papers that the Porpus Journey by stage and steamboat, which might in upon the floor is useful to keep them from carpets; dred yards, was totally destroyed, the inhabitants are specifically destroyed, the inhabitants are specifically destroyed falling walls. those days have given rise to misgivings on the score they should, however, be thoroughly beaten twice a perishing in the ruins and falling walls. of her prudence, was regarded by Richard as an evi- year. It is also well to give furs a beating once or While Bomba's generals were accomplishing this the wife of a Paladin, or even a sailor. London, and in procuring proper accommodations, taining wealth. The first is by violence. It seizes Neapolitan troops capitulated when the enemy, and in cheering her spirits during the dense fog what is already accumulated by the exertions of apart from the mob, did not exceed 2,000 men. The which prevailed on the following morning, and others, and appropriates it. This was the mode of soldiers all left the city, and it is said the majority threatened to prolong the passage to an indefinite the ancient Romans. It is too much in vogue of them have gone to Messina. Garibaldi, appreperiod, the gallant young sailor had abundant op- among several modern nations that are given to wars ciating all the circustances, had wisely resolved to portunity to make himself useful, and deserving of of conquest to a degree inconsistent with the doc- carry the war into the mainland. He felt, no doubt, her sweetest smiles, which were gratefully dispensed. trine of meum et tunens-" It ig- that while the King of Naples was allowed to rule side, as the sailors say, throw your grappling irons part of the city. He took leave of her at the door, square foot of it, beyond the space necessary for ingracions permission to call shortly and enquireafter ber or the pirate.

gratulate you on your delightful prospects. It is and called at Mrs. Longfords on the following day process is less cruel. But often it is scarcely more of prudence will operate on them as well as on other now toward the close of October. You shall be and inquired for Miss Florence. The servant girl just. It is sometimes robbery, in fact, though people; and, on personal considerations, the milimarried on Thanksgiving Day, as sure as there is a stared, grinned, looked exceedingly knowing, and called "trade" in theory.

said, " Miss Florence is at home." of welcome and a degree of cordiality, which proved the field and the mine, the forest and the quarry. It baldi, he considers the dagger a safer weapon than Richard read this letter carefully, and pondered that she remembered and was grateful for his servi- alone is productive. It alone increases actual poss- the sword; and it is asserted by by the very able on its contents, but it admitted of only one inter- ces during the Journey to New York. It is no essions of the world, its aggregate wealth and pos- and impartial correspondent of the Times, who pretation. The fact was stated in the clearest lan- wonder that he forgot the object of his visit to that itive values. And its processes alone are "honest" writes from Palermo, that there is no doubt whatguage that he was to be married to Miss Conway of great city, which was to join the first ship he could in the strictest sense of that almost obsolete word. ever of a band of brigands having been dispatched Trivoli, on Thanksgiving Day! He was frightened; find bound on a foreign voyage, and thus by a cow- Those engaged in this latter mode may be represent- to assassinate the general. Sardinia, of course, and with reason—for his father although indulgent ardly flight escape from the marriage noose. His ed as the corn-planters. All the others belong to gives its entire sympathy to Garibaldi. The latter and cast in silver.

"Married!" quoth Richard to himself, "and at viding he could be at liberty to select the partner my time of life! The idea is absurd. And to a to whom he should be called upon to pledge his

by the sheriff of the county, holding in his hand the versation with the bright being whose chains he felt nounced that his visit had the most happy conse-territorial guarantees against the increasing power bridal noose, and insisting upon putting it around proud to wear, she intimated a wish to learn some- quences. It preluded the permanency of peace for of Sardinia. All is quiet in Rome, excepting the my neck! I have no time to lose, there is safety thing of his situation and prospects in life. He the Continent, and, by inference, give credit to his little healthy rows which have been got up by the only in flight, if I would save myself from worse then determined with that impulsive energy which Majesty for the result. The Regentand the German Ivish recruits. His Holiness has had enough of Richard Wargrave hastily packed his trunk, matter to a crisis, or to hasten that event by assu- The Regent made a speech, the Princes held a kind letters from the Eternal city convey a wish to Irepocketed the wages which were due him for his ser- ming the name, character and condition to which he of German conference, and the fair inference of all land that no recruits will be forwarded, and insin-

the stage coach for Providence and New London, He began by acknowledging himself as impostor. failure. Where so many met, as at Baden, it was greatly desired by the Pope. The Pope, in point of with the intention of taking the steamboat for New His name was not Edward Dalrymple, Miss Flor- difficult to keep intact the real secret of the result, fact, has a larger army than will suit his finances; ence changed color and seemed greatly distressed .- and accordingly his Majesty had hardly returned to and as for fighting, twice the number, in the event On entering the stage coach, Richard found sev- Richard hastened to assure her that he had not Paris when it was known, by rumor, that he had of war, would be of no possible use. eral persons already comfortably accommodated changed his name in consequence of any dishonorable not succeeded in the way he intented. It is quite * * therein. A stout, heavy moulded gentleman was conduct on his part, but to avoid a marriage proseated on the back seat, and a woman very neatly jected by his parents with a girl whom he could significant in its assertions and its omissions. He dressed, with a veil covering her features, whom he never love; whose mind was uncultivated, whose never once mentions France, never alludes to what itself it will be deprived greatly of all its novelties, supposed might be a daughter of the stout gentle- tastes were unrefined, and whose features were re- took place at the interview, nor names the Emperor. for the press has devoted so much attention to it man, was seated by his side. This was the only wo- pulsively homely. For himself, he said with a tone These omissions, under the circumstances, must be that members of Parliament will find it difficult disposed to accept lower prices. man in the coach, and Richard, who prided himself and manner which he intended to be particularly regarded as significant. What the Regent stated to say anything new. A return of the strength on being a connoisseur in female beauty, thought, significant, he had long since determined to marry was not less significant. It was to the effect that of the country shows that one-third of it now confrom her appearance, that she might be young and only a woman he could truly love. He acknowledged the unity of Prussia and Germany was essential, sists of volunteers; and Her Majesty has added to beauti'ul. He endeavored in vain to get a glimpse that he had deceived her also in regard to his place and that he would continue to pursue the further growth af this great movement by a reof her face, but she seemed shy, and was evidently of residence; he did not belong to Boston; his line of policy he had hitherto pursued. Now it is view of volunteers in Hyde Park, amidst all the cirfather resided at some distance from the metropolis, known that one part of his policy was to put his cumstances which can give eclat to the occasion. He was soon convinced, however, that the woman, in a town called Melroth, and was a man of wealth army on a war footing, and, as he is to continue it whether old and homely, or beautiful and young, and respectability. Richard paused abruptly on on that footing, it is quite clear that in his mind HORRORS OF THE INQUISITON-A DREAD- present on this oceasion, including a fair sprinkling was neither the wife nor the daughter of the man seeing Miss Florence exhibit symptoms of agitation. the time for the assurance of peace is not yet arrivwho shared with her the back scat. He seemed as She seemed deeply interested in this revelation .- ed. At a subsequent conference of the German sleepy as a city watchman, and nodded in the most 'Well,' said she with some impatience, 'proceed! Princes, it was proposed to assimilate the policy of grotesque manner as perseveringly as a Chinese What is your real name?' 'Richard Wargrave!' the Confederation to that of Prussia, but there was Mandarin, and occasionally bobbed his head against The young lady seemed overcome with surprise at a difference of opinion in respect to such a course. the shoulders of his fair companion, who, so far this announcement. She blushed, she smiled, she and it does not appear that anything more than a from appearing gratified, was evidently annoyed by rose from her chair, she went to the window and tacit understanding was come to. The royal perlooked into the street. She returned, and gazing sonages then left Baden, and the crowds who went The sleepy gentleman recovered himself once or fixedly in his face, exclaimed in a voice, carnest and there to see Louis Napoleon were gratified, if the twice and opened his eyes, in consequence of signifi- animated, yet manifesting satisfaction rather than Sovereigns were not, for the Emperor walked about cant hints from the veiled woman that his conduct displeasure, 'Tell me truly, are you really Richard and rode about m private dress.

unconscious of the hints and gentle remonstrances of doubt of the fact. But what is the meaning of intentions are betrayed by rumor before he proceeds heavy head against her shoulder with a degree of His attempts to solve the mystery were interrupt- ed that his object was to create a Confederation of firmness and obstinacy which defied her efforts to ed by the singular conduct of the young lady, who Italian States, and in furtherance of that object a shake it off; and, as if laboring to sound a note of was most unaccountably seized with a paroxysm of semi-official pamphlet appeared, containing a protriumph, a pean of victory, he gave utterance to a mirth, and appeared to be going into convulsions gramme of what might be expected. After the war, -of laughter!

been attentively watching these proceedings, and said, with a comical effort to be serious. Oh, sir cession of Savoy add Nice from Victor Emmanuel. imbued with an instinctive feeling of gallantry which pray excuse my rudeness, and know that I also am As usual, this was strenuously denied. Those who ed gentleman. But when Richard saw to what ex- 'Florence Conway! my intended bride! from the Emperor were wrong and rumor was right. We tent he carried his rudeness, and listened to the whom I have been flying as if from a fary! But why have now the result before us. On Thursday, M.

over the middle seat, he laid his hand on the collar 'Do you think,' replied Florence with an arch annex tion had taken place, and justifying it by of the unconscious offender against propriety gave look, that others cannot take bold steps to avoid a what he considered sufficient reasons. If the past him a vicerous shake, and sharply exclaimed, 'Wake disagreeeable match as well as yourself? You be- he any guide to the future, in reference to Louis up sir! wake up! Do you know you are trouble- lieved me ugly and uncultivated and ran away! I Napoleon, we ought to place some reliance on the looked upon you in the same light, and hated you rumor which preceded his journey to Baden-Baden.

and doubtless aware that his conduct was unjustifi- This explanation was followed by an explosion of obtain that territory on the Rhine which France has to the ground by one of the assistant jailors and A letter from Coburg says:—Preparations are able, he shrunk into the corner of the coach and laughter from Richard, long and loud, in which the so long ambitioned to possess. Although the po- carried back to her cell. The monster whose vio- being made for the reception of Prince Alfred of said not a word. The woman seemed surprised and maiden heartily joined. Their merriment shook pulation are not in the secret, courts contrive to lence had brought upon him this fearful retaliation Great Britain, who will shortly arrive here and live gratified at this prompt interference, and bowed a the house, and alarmed Mrs. Longford, who had obtain private information for their guidance. The absolute'y died from the effects of the wound. The alternately at Coburg and Gotha. The reigning observed with some anxiety the frequent vis- Regent of Prussia no doubt divined what was in- circumstances were forwarded to Naples, and the duke not having any chaldren, Prince Alfred his When the coach stopped to change horses the its of Mr. Dalrymple. The good lady hastily en- tended; for, to every overture for an interview, he answer received was, that no resource was to nephew, in his presumptive heir. stout man disappeared, and Richard eagerly took tered the parlor to inquire into the cause of this gave a refusal. Louis Napoleon, however, was not be left unemployed that might obtain the valuable A letter from Genoa in the Secle says :—Garibal-dence, and his good-humored remarks, gradually Richard and Florence both relinquished all op- proposed to meet him there. Politeness could hard- felt her own and her husband's life might fairly be FRANCE.—By the death of Prince Jerome the Emoperated in his favor, and induced her, unconscious- position to their parents' wishes. From being the ly refuse an offer so friendly, but the Regent con- pledged, she indicated the place of his concealment. peror gets the patronage of a million france a year ly, perhaps, to cease her monosyllabic responses, most rebellious and contumacious of children, they ditioned that at the interview the princes of Ger- It was in a cellar of his own house, but the moment which falls into the civil list. and enter into conversation, in the course of which suddenly became the most tractable-models of obe- many should be present, and the Emperor, having his door was forced, knowing he had nothing to hope he ascertained that she was a sensible and intelli- dience. Richard abandoned at once and forever the no other alternative, consented. It is very possible, for, the husband blew his brains out. She was the gent woman, who belonged to Boston, and was now idea of becoming a sailor. Under no borrowed names as has been suggested, that his Majesty retained for following day seized with the pains of labor and died, ourneying to New York to visit a relation, a sister they returned together to their homes, and agreeably himself the privilege of saying much or little. He and it is from one of her jailors that these facts have tiful. The interest which her appearance had awak- their proper food, and when they have thus done rejected, and the Moniteur did only its usual office longed for the time when the edious covering would teen days, the eggs batch, and the little whitish, established, whereas the suspicion is, that only the be removed, and every lingering doubt concerning sharp-toothed caterpillars or moth worms begin groundwork of hostilities was laid. soul to leave no means untried to win the fair maiden beating, to dislodge the eggs, and expel the dust Garibaldi is now complete master of Palermo. in which they delight to hide their progeny. Gum statesman as well as a general, he is rapidly organ-It is hardly necessary to say that while they re- camphor in coarse powder, plentifully sprinkled izing things in Sieily-he is creating an army; he

On assisting her on board the steamboat at New The Corn-Eaters.—There are three modes of obgreat man. To the surprise of Englishmen, 14,000 aboard, and she will surrender at once, and fire a after having obtained, without much pressing, her odorous burial! This mode is but that of the rob-

The second mode of getting wealth is that of traf- it is equally well known that the soldiers were not Richard gladly availed himself of this permission, fic. Here Cunning takes the place of Force. The disposed to fight for a ruined cause. The instinct

The young lady received her visitor with a smile tion of skill and labor to the resources of nature—to on arms than on intrigue. In reference to Gariin some respects, was notorious for his obstinacy— views had undergone a change. He no longer wished the class of non-productive corn eaters;" those redoctive corn eaters; those redoctive corn eaters eaters eaters eater and could not endure to be thwarted in any of his to go to sea, and would gladly have acceded to his ferred to, by any sensible Roman, as fruges consu- and Count Cavour meditates, no doubt, the annexa- tons each for the French navy, to be built in Lonfather's wishes to become a votary of Hymen, pro- mere nati; "born to cat up the corn."

From the Scottish American Journal. AFFAIRS IN EUROPE.

Our readers have, no doubt, observed that during to action. Long before the Italian war, it was statrumor again became intelligent, and announced Richard Wargrave, occupying the front seat, had As soon as she could recover her equipment, she what he demanded as a reward for his services—the admired his Majesty thought it impossible he could France. The fact, however, was that the friends of transmit to the different Courts, stating that the The stout man raised his head with a start, open- most intensely. My father was obstinately deter- That rumor was that he purposed proposing to

way to visit certain relatives. The Emperor at once teet herself against an abomination, for which she whom were mode important revelations." to Mr. Wargrave's original intention, the wedding no doubt left the circumstances the declaration he been effected. M. Fould said, 'I have the names Although the veil partially obscured her features, took place on Thanks giving day.—Boston Journal. intended to make, and it is barely possible that his of all the parties in my bureau. real intentions were disclosed at the previous inter-Tye Motus,—The Moths are busy in May and view between himself and the Regent. It is quite their nefarious operations. They furnish themselves | Louis Napoleon has shown in all his conduct that His curiosity was gratified on the arrival of the with food, clothes, and lodgings, from the fabries he is a schemer. Like other schemers, he deludes stage at Providence, where the passengers were de- they destroy; gnawing the substance, and rolling bimself permanently and others temporarily. A tained an hour to dinner, and Richard had an opport p the fragments into small tubes with open ends, touch of insanity will account for persistence in a horrid work, Garabaldi, on the testimony of the admiral, exhibited all the qualities of a good and known that the navy was especially disaffected, and tary will no doubt, fraternise with the people.-

Piedmont. Naturally this sympathy has become active on the first occasion. A Neapolitan frigate The Emperor of the French and the Regent of captured a vessel laden with men and munitions of ly to clapse before the public are perfectly informed to detect the finger of France, and precedent justifies was a prominent trait in his character, to bring the royalties remained at Baden two or three days after. their capacities for fighting; and even the friendly this is, that the Emperor's interview was an entire uate that the return of those already sent would be most anything heard of in the middle ages. Thumb- Canadians would be one that would show the exuscrewing, the rack, ir m-headed chains, drowning in because of their loyalty and the depth of their devosacks and subsequent restoration, simply for the tion to the Mother Country. purpose of repeating the immersion, are only a few | Prince Jerome Bonaparte is dead Haneyer, and probably Belgium, and in return to corridor, she knew not whither, when she was felled gathering discontent it has a significance.

BRITISH COLONISTS TRANSFERRED TO A FOREIGN POWER .- It will be recollected that four years ago White, late U. S. Consul at Lyons, and Col. Ciphithe United States was stirred from one end to the ani. The latter comes to make arrangements for American Republic. Members of Congre. vied with wisit the country in a steam yacht. each other in making fieree speeches against England, and all the old prejudices against the mother country were stirred up by those who were accus- Liverpool on the 2d. Steamship Prince Albert, ers day after day about the disputed Bay Islands, Quebec, arrived at Londonderry the 2d, en route for and Ruatan (the island about which the dispute Liverpool. imagination pictured. In the first blush of woman- enlarge their garments at each end, occasionally mental defects. But he is not the less dangerous principally arose) became a stereotyped phrase, and might be seen in every paper.

After a time the excitment died away, and other questions took the place of Ruatan. For a considcrable period we had not seen it alluded to, and few knew whether Ruatan continued in the possession of Great Britain or not. English statesmen have since the Baden Conference. felt that the continued possession of the islands was a source of quarrel with the American government, not only Ruatan but the whole group of the Bay Islands, (Utilla, Bennacca, Barbarat, Helena, and Morat) have been ceded to the Republic of Hondu-

On the 21st of May the British Commissioner proceeded to Ruatan, and announced to the inhab- tion of a National Guard. tants of the Colony the change that was about to Honduras is governed in a thoroughly constitutional denations. timations from some quarter of the intention of the the following question for the coming European British government to hand the territory over to a conference of the great powers :foreign power, and they sent a strong remonstrance to Her Majesty on the subject, which did not reach the Queen until the treaty had been drawn up. The Colonists, however, have been made a liberal offer. British West Indies, and crown lands will be placed are not disposed to leave the Bay Islands, a stibulation has been entered into between them and the British government, by which they are to be sustained in their religious freedom and civil liberty, curred and protected against tyranny, conscription, and passports. Guarantees of a most comprehensive nature have been obtained from Honduras in these

" A meaner set of barbarians our eyes had never the misfortune to rest upon. Stunted, ill-shaped, narrow.headed, yellow-skinned, high-smelling, ferret eyes, flat-footed, greedy, and cunning. Not a The third mode of getting wealth is the applica- Bomba, true to the instincts of his race, relies less man in the embassay knew the meaning of personal cleanliness. The "Princess" (save the mark !) had but two suits of silk clothes each, which they were without change of under-clothing, from the day they left Nyphons until to-day."

model of Tom Sayers, the size of life, to be taken Royal troops.

tion of the island; perhaps of the two Sicilies, to don, is confirmed.

A sporting English Dake has given an order for a Telegarphic.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

The Royal Steamship Arabia Capt. J. Stone arrived at Halifax the 10th, at half-ast one o'clock, bringing Liverpool and London dates up to the 20th June, inclusive:

The Foreign Stock Market has been very quiet and transactions have been on a limited scale. A serious fall has been caused in the securities of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada by the stoppage of the payment of interest on all classes of bonds, except the six per Cent Preference. They are now quoted 251 to 261 New Brunswick and Canada A and B shares 5 to In miscellaneous shares Canada Land closed at 118 to 123; New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Land-

There had been a good business doing in the Cotton Market. The weather has been generally wet and unsettled, with a lower temperatere than is usual at this season of the year. Reports from the agricultural districts speak unfavorably of the Wheat plant, which is suffering from an excess of moisture, and * warm sunny weather is now greatly needed to revet pair, at least in some measure, the damage done .-Business in what has been limited on account of the quiet reports received from the other markets of the kingdom, but holders in most cases are not at all The site of the once famous Vauxhall Gardens is about to be transferred into the Lambeth School of Art, the foundation of which was laid on Wednesday by the Prince of Wales-his first appearance in public. It was the first time, to, we presume, that an archbishop and bishop ever visited Vauxhall, but both representatives of the lawn sleeres were young Prince made a neat and sensible speech on the The correspondent of the New York Herald says: occasion, and appears to have acquitted himself re-"The various stories that have been flying about markably well. At the dinner of the Trinity II buse Paris for the last few days, of the diabolical proceed- bretbren, which took place on the evening of ings of the Neapolitan Government for some time Saturday, after the review in Hyde Park, where past, in respect to Sicily, are well calculated to en- Prince Albert |presiled, the Dake of Newlist popular sympathy on the side of the outraged eastle stated that he was about to accompany islanders. It is asserted, on evidence that seems the Prince of Wales, as Colonial Secretary, to the incontrovertible, that a system of torture has been New World, and expressed his belief that the receppursued towards political prisoners that exceeds all tion which the beir-apparent would receive from the

of the cases put forward. It was only yesterday Prince Albert appears to be courting popularity that I heard M. Fould, meis auribus, assert, in the and as he has a numerous family for which the state presence of several gentlemen, that he had in his will be called on to make provision, in order to their possession all the corroborative evidence of a case "settlement in life." There is wisdom in the effort. which the annals of hell itself would blush to re- The high price of provisions in England is refleccord. A lady, he said, had been dragged from her ted in the discontent of the laboring classes, who husband's house when enciente, and threatened with call on the Government to place them beyond the torture and death unless she instantly communicated pale of starvation. Paddington Green, L. lon, facts relating to the place of his concealment, and was the scene of a great open air meeting the other certain associations with which she was supposed to night, at which the dearness of the necessaries of life be cognizant. She was but nineteen years of age, was attributed not to the scarcity of food, but to of a noble family, and of remarkable beauty. The monopoly on the part of rich provision dealers, jailor, a hideous monster, whose bloated visage was and Government was asked to appoint a commission a revolting sight, declared that he had authority to to prove the question. A meeting of a similar chacommit any violence be pleased upon her person, un- raster has been held at Birmingham, at which the unmusical sound which issued from his capacious did you leave your home? Why assume a character Thousenel read a circular which he was about to less she instantly divulged to him her husband's persons present pledged themselves to abstain during present abode. The brute seized her and threw her the month of July from boof, mutt in lumb, and veal upon the floor, when his victim, snatching a long the produce of these islands, in the hope of breakpin from her hair, drove it with frantic violing up the monopoly. A public meeting at Sheflence through his throat. The man reeled over in field last week came to a similar determination. contortions, unable to speak, but with sufficient American beef and pork, which can be had at compresence of mind to spring a species of rattle which paratively low prices, were recommended. It rehung at his girdle. The poor woman had already mains to be seen what effect this movement will rushed through the door and was hastening up the have on the regaters; but as an indication of the possession of the seat thus vacated, anxious to learn sudden and unwonted burst of mirth. Florence to be diverted from his purpose. He is remarkable information the prisoner was in possession of. I will didoes not appear destined to perish by the poignsomething of the person in whom he began to feel a Conway seized the hand of her admirer, whose coun- not go through all the details which have reached ard, as we feared by some of his friends. We learn strange and indefinable interest. Notwithstanding tenance beamed with delight, and leading him to- ceives; and, if matured, he is never diverted from the said M. Fould of this unhappy victim's torture; from Messina that the famous Bose, who secepted the service he had rendered her, he found her shy wards her bewildered aunt, introduced him with their suggestion. On this occasion accident was in it is sufficient for me to state one, that it broke down the mission to assassinate him for 25,000f., has not and reserved, evidently reluctant to converse with a mock solemnity, as Mr. Richard Wargrave, the for- his favor. It was announced that the Regent of the poor creature's constancy. A monstrous ape had the courage to commit the crime, but has, en stranger. But the manly bearing of the young sai- tunate man selected by her father to lead her to the Prussia would pass through Baden-Baden on his was introduced into her cell, and at length, to pro- the contrary, had an audience of the general, to other by rumors of war between England and the the reception of Prince Napoleon, who is about to The Vanderbilt passed the Arago on the 5th met. Steamship Africa, from New York, arrived at omed to the modus operandi of electioneering ma- from New York, via St. John's N. F., arrived at nœuvres. The newspaper were burdened with lead- Galway the 2nd. Steamship North Briton, from Numerous failures among leather merchants had occurred in England, the Embilities amounting to over a million and a half sterling. The American houses in Liverpool in the hide trade were not com-The Neapolitan Minister at Paris had resigned

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE

BY THE VANDERBILT AT NEW YORK.

New York, July 15 .- Steamship Vanderbilt, from Harve via Southampton 4th inst., arrived at her dock early this morning. Among the passengers on the Vanderbilt are E. L.

The Prussian Minister had had several conferences with Count Eichberg, having for his object the and to prevent any further political embarrassments, bringing about a more perfect understanding between the Governments of Austria and Prussia. There had been fresh disturbances at Naples. The police stations had been sacked and pillaged, and many persons killed in the skirmlsh. The King had arrived there, and immediately ordered the forma-Prince Napoleon will succed Jerome as President abouts, he ascertained that the name of his fair encigar cases are among the very best receptacles for wanton, needlessly inflicting death and misery. For The Federal Council of Switzerland will submit

> "Is it in the interest of Europe to-leave the Simplon Pass perfectly accessibe to France, without demanding that an understanding be brought about between the Kings of Sardinia and Naples, relative A free passage will be given them to any part of the to the common interests of their crowns in Italy ?" An ambassador from Naples was soon to arrive at at their free disposal. In case they cannot go; or Turin, with a proposition from the King of the former for an alliance with Sardinia.

The ministry lately appointed by Garibaldi was unpopular in Sieily, and fresh massacres Lad oc-The Portuguese ministry had been dissolved. A despatch from Naples, dated the 1st inst., says that the concessions of the Neapolitan government have determined Garibaldi to precipitate annexation . PALERMO, June 25 .- Fresh disturbances having Hear what a New York paper says of the Japan- occurred, Garibaldi has sent troops to re-establish The London Herald and Standard, and all the weeklies, were confiscated on the 2nd.

The Paris Moniteur announces a project of law, laid before the Legislature, demanding its approval of a convention for the establisment of a submarine Telegraph between the United States and France. LATEST. Marseilles, July 4 .- It is stated that a skirmish took place on the 30th ult., near Messina, between some detachments of Garibaldi and a portion of the Genoa, July 4 .- Advices from Palermo gives the names of the new ministers appointed by Garibaldi. Madrid, July 3 .- Morrocco has paid the first instalment of the indemnity to Spain.