ADVICE TO WIVES .- A wife must learn how to form her husband's happiness, and in what direction the secret lies; she must not cherish his weakness by working upon them; she must not rashly being unusually large, and having been selected wit run counter to his prejudices ; her motto must be. never to irritate. She must study never to draw largely on the small stock of patience in a man's It consists in part of a SPLENDID ASSORTMENT of nature, nor to increase his obstinacy, by trying to drive him; never, never, if possible, to have scenes. We doubt much if a real quarrel, even if made up. does not lossen the bond between man and wife, and sometimes unless the affection of both be very sincere, lastingly. If irritation should occur, a woman must expect to hear from most men a strength and vehemence for more than the occasion requires .-Mild as well as stern men are prone to this exaggeration of language; let not a woman be tempted to say anything sarcastic or violent inretaliation .-The bitterest repentance must needs follow if she do. Men frequently forget what they have said, bnt seldom what is uttered by their wives. They are grateful, to, for forbearance in suchcases; for whilst asserting most loudly that they are right, they are often conscious that they are wrong .-Give a little time, as the greatest boon you can bestow, to the irritated feelings of your husband.

Press on .- A brief speech, and full of inspiration, and opening the way to all victory. The mystery of Napoleon's career was this : under all difficulties to "press on!" It solves the problem of all heroes; it is the rule by which to weigh rightly all wonderful successes and triumphal marches to fortune and genius. It should be the motto of all. old and young, high and low, fortunate and unfortunate so called. "Press on!" Never despair : never be dis couraged, however stormy the heavens, however dark the way, however great the difficulties and repeated the failures-" press on !" Iffor tune has played false with thee to day, do thou play true to thyself to-morrow. If thy riches have taken wings and left thee, do not weep thy life away, but be up and doing and cover and retrieve the loss by new energies and action. If an unfortunate couraged, do not idly weep, but "press on!" a Gloves, &c., &c. beautiful oasis is before thee, and thou mayst reach it if thou wilt. If another has been false to thee, do not increase the evil by being false to thyself .-Do not say the world has lost its poety and beauty; it is not so; and even if it be so make thine own poetry and beauty by a brave, a true and cheerful short tasl of the bear. The bear, it seems, was (third door above his old stand,) Main-street, where he once met by a fox who carried a load of fish, and has on hand :who, in answer to the question how he had obtained them, replied that he had caught them by angling. The bear expressed a desire to know an art so use ful, when the fox informed him that he had only to make a hole in the ice, and insert his tail. "You must stop long enough, and not mind if it hurt you a little, (said the friendly adviser,) for a sensation of pain is a sure sign that you have a bite. The longer the time, the more the fish. Nevertheless, when you have a good, strong bite, be sure you pull out." The credulous bear followed the instructions, and kept his tail in the hole till it was frozen fast. When he pulled, the end of the tail came off; and hence the stoutness of the appendage at the present day.

A FAVORITE CHARACTER - When Sir Robert Gillaspie fell at the storming of Kalunga, his favorite black charger, bred at the Cape of Good Hope, and carried by him to India, was, at the sale of his effects, competed for by several officers of his division and finally knocked down to the privates of the Eighth Dragoons, who contributed their prize money, to the amount of £500 sterling, to retain this commemoration their late commander. Thus the charger was always led at the head of the regiment on a march, and at the station of Cawnpore was usually indulged with taking his ancient post at the color stand, where the salute of passing Fancy Goods, Jewelry, &c., &c., which is well worthy the sqadrons was given at drill and on reviews. When inspection of the Ladies. the regiment was ordered home, the funds of the privates running low, he was bought for the same sum by a gentleman, who provided funds and a paddock for him, where he might end his days in comfort; but when the corps had marched, and the sound of the trumpet was heard no more, the gallant steed pined, refused to eat, and on the first opportunity, being led out to exercise, he broke will be given. from his groom, and, galloping to his ancient station on the parade, uttered a loud shrill neigh, and then dropped down and died .- Leisure Hour.

ROLLING THE SNOW ON WHEAT-FIELDS .- A correspondent of the Toronto Globe C. W., advances the opinion that rolling the snow on the autumn wheat in winter would be an effective means of preventing winter-kill by rendering the snow less liable to melt on every sudden thaw that occurs. He says the practice is extensively followed in Sweeden. A good deal of discusion is taking place through the columns of that paper, on that subject, from which we gather that it yet requires the test of actual! experiment to decide whether any benefit is to be derived from the operation or not.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERUPTIVE and Skin Diseases, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, BLOTCHES, BLAINS and BOILS, TUMORS, TETTER and SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, RINGWORM, RHEUMATISM, SYPHILITIC and MERCURIAL DIS-EASES, DROPSY, DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITIA-TED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escapeobservation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits. on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to. be forgotten.
