Then May recrossed the Southern hill,-Her heralds thronged the elms and eaves; And nature, with a sudden thrill, Burst all her buds to leaves.

Loud o'er the slope a streamlet flung Fresh music from its mountain springs, As if a thousand birds there sung, And flashed their azure wings.

"Flow on," the maiden sang, " and whirl, Sweet stream, your music o'er the hill. And touch with your light foot of pearl The wheel of yonder mill." It touched the wheel, and in the vale Died from the ear and passed from view; Like a singing bird that is seen to sail Into the distant blue; Died where the river shone below, Where white sails through the vapor glowed, Like great archangels moving slow On some celestial road.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something unst wrong, and the great machinery of life is disorder cr overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reput tion of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it. partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many prep arations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Saraparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, Lut often no curative properties whatever. Hence, Litter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsar arilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has vir-tues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
