Desultory.

Crime in the Three Kingdoms.—The number of persons committed for trial in 1860 on charges too serious for the magistrates to dispose of summarily was—in England, 17 per cent less than it had been five years previously; in Scotland, 11 per cent. less, and in Ireland 24 per cent. The year's list of committals for murder and attempts to murder or to maim was more numerous in Ireland (in proportion to the population) than in England, being 105 against 283; but the convictions were far more numerous in England—163 against 33. For all offences together convictions in England and Scotland were about 75 per cent of the committals; in Ireland only 55. The feuds, faction fights, and quarrels of Ireland make their mark in the criminal tables; 560 persons were committed for riot or for breach of the peace in 1860, and 154 for rescue or refusing to aid peace officer's, the two classes together forming 13 per cent. of the whole number of committals; in England for both classe's of offences together, the committals were only 50. Taking the more comprehensive returns of the numbers who were in prison during the year for all offences so as to include persons sent to gaol summarily by the magistrates, as well as those committed for trial by the courts, it appears that the number in England (without reckoning military prisoners,) was 1 to every 197 of the population, and in Ireland 1 to every 195. But, as the same person when recommitted within the year was counted again, the number of persons sent to prison was not really so large as this; in Ireland there were 30,712 committals, but the number of persons committed was only 24,639, of whom 15,760 had never been in gaol before. In England 34 per cent. could neither read nor write; in Ireland 46 per cent. In England the females were 30 in every 100 criminals, in Ireland no less than 47. Female prisoners in Ireland are not declining in the same ratio as male, and last year's returns show in a most striking manner the irreclaimable character of many female prisoners. 165 of the male prisoners in Ireland had been in gaol above 11 times, and 688 of the females: 47 of the male prisoners had been there above 20 times, but no less than 336 females. Cork city gaol had in it a woman undergoing her 66th imprisonment. 86 per cent. of the Irish committals were Roman Catholics.

A Barefaced Swindle.—The following piece of downright swindling is published in late English papers:

A circumstance of barefaced swindling occurred in Limerick on Monday. It appears that a young man, clerically attired, put up at a hotel in Rhche's-street, entering himself as the "Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, en route to Killarney," and stated to the hotel keeper "that he was specially engaged to preach before the Queen during the Royal visit to the romantic lakes on that part of Her Majesty's dominions, but that it was to be kept a perfect secret until the Queen actually arrived." Every possible attention was paid to the supposed rev. gentleman, not only by the proprietor, but waiters, chambermaids, &c, to whom strict injunctions were issued not to breathe his name, and strict secrecy was accordingly observed by all. His chops at breakfast were made savoury and done brown; his lunch was punctually placed upon the table at one; he dined at six, and subsequently enjoyed each evening half a bottle of wine and two glasses of brandy punch. So far all right, and in the daytime he strolled about the city, and deeming it advisable to add a new suit to his wardrobe he entered the establishment of Mr. O'Conner, where he fitted himself and ordered the clothes home to the hotel, first directing some slight alterations to be made. The master tailor sent the suit of clothes home by his messenger, to be delivered to the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, with bill for amount. They were again fitted on, and pronounced "all right," the wearer asking the messenger if he had balance of change between the tailor's bill and a £10 note, to which he replied in the negative, whereupon "the rev. gentleman" exclaimed, "Oh! never mind; I have business at the bank, where I am just going, and on my return I will discharge this bill. In the meantime you can remain here." The rev. gentleman then proceeded to the bank—that is to the bank of the river Shannon, where he took the steamer down river, and has not since made his appearance, leaving his carpet bag, which was filled with hay, behind him, for the tailor and the hotel-keeper to nibble at.

The English Press on the Battle of Bull Run.—The London papers make merry over the battle of Bull Run. The Herald Lord Derby's Organ, in course of an article says:

"This blow will compel the federal government to postpone active operations for a time and this we should hope will allow the feeling in favor of an arrangement, which, in spite of the reciprocal bluster, really exists, to diffuse itself generally. What should be the nature of the settlement it is not for us to say—whether the recognition of Southern independence, or the return of the seceded States to the Union under satisfactory guarantees. The American press, in the midst of these misfortunes, still finds time to accuse England of taking malignant delight in their difficulties. If we did we should do our best to encourage that war aloutrance which they themselves preach. If Englishmen desired the destruction of American power they would do their best to egg on the North in its revengeful fury."

The Times says:—

"The army of the United States, which has just been routed, has had all its spirit broken, and, as a military body, has ceased to exist; but there are ten times as many ready to come on, perhaps to the same fate. We wish we could find something in this victory upon which to congratulate the victors or the vanquished.—We wish we could see in it the probable cause of that humility or that contentment which might facilitate peace. We can, however, unhappily, see in it nothing but what must stimulate the evil passions of both combatants.

The Daily News remarks:—

"The defeat of the North shuts the door to compromises or to acquiescence on any terms the South can offer. The Union is bound to conquer now. The spirit of New England and the Northeast will rise to the occasion; and we of the old race, tried and strengthened by many reverses, shall not be surprised if our kinsmen never rest until they have turned defeat into victory."

Death of the Gretna Green Blacksmith.—The death of John Murray of Sark Bar Hotel, Grentna Green, at the age of sixty-three years, is announced. Mr. Murray, (says a local journal) was the successor of the original blacksmith, who riveted so many matrimonial chains in the old days of run-away matches. Upon the death of that son of vulcan, his mantle fell upon Mr. John Murray, and he, in his turn, for many years drove a brisk trade in the same line.

Five children—the whole family—belonging to Joseph Wheeler of Alumtte Island, Pembroke, Canada West, were burned to death in their father's dwelling houses. The mother, in trying to save her youngest child, was dangerously burned.

Getting a Friend to Do the Courting.—Other men, than the hard-headed puritan, Eiles Standish, have made the same blunder he perpetrated in sending John Allen to do his courtship with the pretty Priscilla. Envoys extraordinary are some-times extraordinery envoys, and we should not advise any ardent swain, unless he had no tongue and was incapable of making pot-hooks and trammels—to imitate Sam's proposal by proxy. Sam says:

I ups and tells Mose all about it; and says I to Mose, says I: "Had you just as lieves ask her for me?" He said he had. So, to make a long story short, one bitter cold night Mose and I started for the house where Liddy lived. It was agreed that I should stay in the wood-shed while Mose went in and sot matters right. Mose knocked at the door and went in, and I sot down on a chopping log to wait the issue. Mose thought he could fix things in about half an hour, and as it was eight o'clock when he went in, I calculated on being in Paradise about half arter; but there I sot, and sot, till I hearn the clock strike nine: then I had to get up and stomp and thrash my hands to keep from freezing. Ten o'clock, then eleven struck—and still no Mose. At last, just about midnight, when I'd got to be little better'n a freezin' tater, out he comes. I rushed up to him, and with a sneaking voice, "M-M-Moses," says I, "wh-what does she say?"

"Sam," says he, "pon my soul, I forgot to ax her."

Just six weeks arter, Moses and Liddy, which were twain, were made one flesh.

Bee Management for August.

With this month, in most sections, the honey season closes. The bees continue to expel the drones, and during this period the colonies should be carefully supervised. Those which retain their drones longer than their neighbors, should be marked as suspicious, and early occasion taken to examine them, to ascertain their condition, so that if found queenless, the proper means may be seasonably used to provide a remedy, by supplying them with a reserve queen, or uniting them with some weaker stock known to be sound. Care must also be taken to prevent robbing; to which bees are much prone at this time. The removal of surplus honey, or giving additional supplies to such as have insufficient stores for the winter, should be undertaken only early in the morning or late in the evening, or on some cool day; and should be performed with all possible expedition. Honey-combs must not be placed in exposed situations, nor should the brooding chamber of movable comb-hive be uncovered for prolonged operations during the hours when bees are flying briskly. If colonies require to be fed, it should be done only at night, and the feeding boxes should be removed early in the morning, to avoid attracting bees by the odor of honey. The entrance of the hives should likewise be contracted, to enable the bees the more effectually to defend themselves and their stores in case of attack. All cracks and crevices in old box or basket hives, through which a bee might creep, must be closed with soft clay or putty. The greater the number of hives in an apiary, and the more deficient the pasturage, the more diligent must the beekeeper be to guard against robbing.

But, in districts where buckwheat is cultivated, the bees have usually renewed and abundant pasturage during a part of this month, of which they avail themselves with great eagerness. Where the supply of nectar is ample, and the weather favorable for gathering, it is well to remove the greater portion of the sealed honey, to afford the bees room for storing; and if they can, at the same time, be furnished with empty combs in good condition, they will be greatly aided in their work. Movable comb hives enable the beekeeper to perform this operation with great facility; and if the empty comb be inserted between two full ones, the re-filling will proceed still more rapidly. Where buckwheat pasturage can be confidently expected, an increased amount of honey will be secured, if the queens be confined or removed about three weeks in advance, so as to check the production of brood and consumption of honey, and also providing an increased number of empty cells. But this process must be cautiously availed of in colonies intended to be wintered, because if the queens are kept in confinement too long, the hives will contain an inadequate number of young and vigorous bees in the fall. On the other hand, it may be freely used, and with great advantage, in colonies intended to be broken up or united with others.—American Bee Journal.

On Lime as a Soil Improver.

Old gardens are frequently unproductive through being manured year after year with the same crops. In such cases the vegetables are rank in growth and ill-flavour. Potatoes and other roots watery and liable to disease, and peas and beans unproductive, and cauliflowers and cabbages subject to club disease. When such is the case, use no manure for a couple of years. The first spare ground you get trench it two spits deep, if the ground will allow of it, and thoroughly mix with the earth, as you turn it over, a good dressing of fresh slaked lime, the fresher the better. My plan is, when the top spit is thrown to the bottom of the trench, to throw over the hot lime and to fork it in, and to repeat the dose of lime over the lower spit thrown to the surface. Employed in this way, lime acts as a complete renovator of old over-manured soils, as the produce afterwards will show. The second year, I repeat the lime dressing (about half the quantity of the first year,) forking it in instead of digging the ground, as by that means the lime becomes more completely mixed with the soil. I add also a surfacing of road scrapings, if the ground is heavy, or inclined to be so. By these means, giving up manure for two years, I have succeeded in bringing an old garden soil, which would postively grow nothing well, into a first-slass soil, producing good crops and of the best quality.—Turn's Florist.

Lampas in Horses.—The London Field relates the manner in which a cure of this disease was effected by homeopathic treatment, in the case of a valuable carriage horse:

The animal had been suffering from the disease for some time before the servant mentioned that it was ailing. An allopathic veterinary surgeon who was consulted, declared that it was impossible to remove the diseased part except by cutting and burning. This we refused to permit, and began to treat it with homeopathic remedies, but, owing to our want of skill, without any success; the horse became daily worse; the palate and gums were so swollen as to prevent the power of mastication, and were like a white sponge. In this emergency we took the liberty of consulting a clever homeopathic M. D., who advised us to try Rhus toxicodendron a, five droops in half a pint of water, twice a day. In sixteen hours from the first dose, there was an improvement in the color of the gums and palate. The following day the swelling began to subside, and in seven days the creature was quite well, and has never since that time (a period of two years and a half) had any recurrence of the ailment.

Spanish Salad.—A small handful of parsley cut fine, a slice of bread toasted very dry, chop and pound them well together, add a little salt, pepper and vinegar. It is excellent with all kind of meats, especially chops and steaks.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD,

And for the speedy cure of the subjoined varieties of Disease:

Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

Oakland, Ind., 6th June, 1859.

J. C. Ayer & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease is gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age and remain ever gratefully, Yours,

ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a dangerous attack of Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of the same; says he cures the common Eruptions by it constantly.

Bronchocele, Goitre, or Swelled Neck.

Zebulon Sloan of, Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a Goitre—a hideous swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from over two years."

Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Channing, of New York City, writes: "I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla a most excellent alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous diathesis. I have cured many inveterate cases of Leucorrhœa by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The ulceration itself was soon cured. Nothing within my knowledge equals it for these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes: "A dangerous ovarian tumor on one of the females in my family which had defied all the remedies we could employ, has at length been completely cured by your extract of Sarsaparilla. Our physician thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

New Orleans, 25th August, 1859.

Dr. J. C. Ayer. Sir: I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Venereal and Mercurial Disease. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not of course without some disfiguration of the face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, G. V. LARIMER, M. D

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

Independence, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1859.

Dr. J. C. Ayer. Sir: I have been afflicted with a painful chronic Rheumatism for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me in two weeks, and restored my general health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. FREAM

Jules Y. Getchell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted for years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried every thing, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Espy, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because he said he knew you, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of God it has cured me, and has so purified my blood as to make a new man of me. I feel young again. The best that can be said of you is not half good enough."

Schirrus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries, and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit them. Some of them may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia.

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the necessities of the people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients, in advanced stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivalled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living trophy in their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of [illegible]

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years and CAN SAY, IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used.—Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of commendation of its magical effects and magical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after ten years' experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILLMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most EXPERIENCED AND SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in
