the South, but what the war will lead to, and what state of things will supervene upon the present. The most far seeing discover nothing in the prospect but guerilla warfare, and anarchy, and devastation. This is simply to admit that, the statesman having failed, the cause is now in the hands of the soldier. But it is more-it is in the hands of the soldier wh sees the dark end of federation instead of its bright beginning. This is not the age in which a French monarchy is breaking up or a republic is inaugurated, but in which a French empire has been restored and re-established. It is an age in which strong monarchy is the fashionable cure for democratic disorder. Europe has just congratulated Italy on the acquisition of a monarchy, instead of the federation which philosophers wanted for her, instead of the independent states which lately existed, instead of the theocracy which Rome professes to give, instead of Mazzini's republic. The western states of Europe have at least the credit of offering Mexico a constitutional monarchy instead of the republican constitution, which has had no existence except in alternate anarchy and despotism. This is an age of reaction, for which democracy has to thank itself. The dictator, the emperor, or the king is every where superseding the fasces of the consul or the paper scheme of the lawgiver. When we are told that everything else is impossible in America, and that politics are absorbed in the chances of war and the genius of the commanders, then, indeed, we see the beginning of the end. But that end is not the one desired by either North or South, nor even by us who look on. It cannot be for our interest that a military adventurer should possess the fairest Tea regions of North America, even though that were Tobacco better than anarchy. But it is the haven towards Currants Spices which the great American commonwealth seems Cheese now drfting. It is impossible. That is enough, when everything else is confessed to be impossible.

AN ENGLISH SHIP BOARDED BY THE SUMTER.—The captain of the Liverpool barque Richibucto, gives an account of the boarding of his ship by the Sumter, on the 27th December. He says :- "Immediately after hoisting our colours, the steamer hauled down the English ensign and ran up the Southern Confederate flag, a flag that I had never seen and did not know what to think of it, but kept on my course though he had fired two guns while under English colours. At 12 o'clock he ranged up on the weather quarter, and commanded me to heave to. What for? Cotton Batting, Candlewick, Prints, Shirting, Hosiery said I. Haul your mainmast up, said another. and Gloves, What do you want ? said I. Back your mainyard, Ribbons, Blonds Feathers, Flowers, &c., &c. said the first speaker in a rage : I want to send a House Paper, and Paper Blinds. All cheap for Cash. boat on board. Well, thought I, I will gain some information respecting the blockading squadron in the Gulf, so I threw the maintopsail to the mast, and he sent a boat alongside with an officer, and six men, all armed with cutlasses and pistols, the officer with a ten-inch revolver in his girdle. I asked what he wanted, and what right he had to stop me on the high seas in such a piratical manner, using the British flag as a decoy, and then hoisting a flag that we did not recognize. He said they only wanted news if any battles had been fought, and whether the Dr. tish Government had re--cognized their independence : and could I spare him a newspaper? and would I be kind enough to let Book Store. him see my ship' papers? So I shewed him the bill of health. That will do, said he ; and I gave him two or three old newspapers, but could get no information respecting the Gulf ports or any other. The boat's crew seemed to be all English but one. They told my sailors that they had nothing to do but cat, sleep, and drink . but they were tired of such work, and wished their own Government He is agent for all the leading American and Foreign would interfere to put a stop to it.
