The more the matter is discussed, and the more we think of it, the more fully are we satisfied that the desirable union of the Provinces would be a Logic lative union simply, and the more do we regret that the question of the Charlotte Town Convention, the Legislative Union of the Lower Provinces had not been determined, or at all events discussed by the people, before this larger and more difficult question was taken up. THE late St. Albans raid has excited strong feelings in Canada, and the papers of that Province are warmly discussing the matter. All we believe agree in condemning, in general terms, such raids being organized in, and proceeding from, British and express sympathy with the arrested participants in it. The ablest counsel has been secured to defend the prisoners—among others Hon. J. H. Grav of St. John had been sent for to Quebec where he was engaged at the Conference. The fact that the raiders were pursued into Canada and there arrested, may, it is supposed by some, make difficulty between the British and American Governments, and it was said Mr. Seward was preparing an apology to be sent by special messenger to five children. Three of them were found lying dead England, while Mr. Stanton declared he would side by side. Of the others, one has since expired; resign if such an apology was made.
