The strangest legacies imaginable are left in and you may get them made where you choose. England. Some time ago a reverend gentleman von county, of £2 10s to the prettiest maid of the church door requesting those who considered themselves eligible to give in their names. There were six candidates, and from the length of time the churchwardens were occupied in making this award, it would appear that they had a difficult task. It is stipulated that the pretty maiden must be of good character and Woodstock, Oct 20. noted for her regular attendance at Church. A young lady named Jane Treble was pronounced by these churchwarden judges of beauty to be the one entitled to the prize. It is a good thing that all the parties are strict attendants at church, or the other five might be a little jealous of the happy possessor of acknowledged beauty.

BRICKS BY STEAM .- On Saturday last a steam machine was put in operation near Philadelphia, and proved to be a perfect triumph of inventive genius. Its value may be determined by the results of its work. Forty-seven bricks were made every minute and at times, as many as seventy-two have been made in this short space of time. This fact suggests a great saving of labor, as may be seen from the following considerations: To make thirty or forty thousand bricks per day by hand would require fifty men and boys, and then the article produced would not be as unique in appearance. nor as exact in size, as that made by this m:chine. Fifteen hands with its aid will produce as many bricks in a given time as fifty by hand. This is not all; the best quality of bricks when made can be sold at half the price now asked .-Am paper.

ONE OF THE FINEST THINGS WE EVER READ. -A French writer remarks, that 'the modest deportment of those who are truly wise, when contrasted with the assuming air of the young and ignerant, may be compared to the different The undersigned informs the public that until further notice the Office of appearance of wheat, which, while its ear is empty, holds up its head proudly. but as soon as it is filled with grain, bends modestly down, and withdraws from observation.'

It is, perhaps, not generally known to our readers that a piece of blotting paper, crumpled together to make it firm, and wet, will take stains out of mahogany. Rub the spot hard with the wetted paper, when it instantly disappears; and the white mark from the operation may be immeliately removed by rubbing the table with a cloth.
