MIIIS is an age of enquiry. People want to know why and wherefore of all statements submitted to them as facts, and as far as this is concerned, it is proposed to gratify them. All the physicians admit that the greatest difficulty they encounter in their practice is in conveying to the seat of a disease the medicament that will counteract and neutralize it. Under the general head of Dyspepsia may be classed all the varieties of indigestion. These are a few of the direct signs of dyspepsia, but as it is generally complicated with specific affections of the bowels, the liver, and the nerves, its victims have many additional torments which are technically attributed to other causes. The best abvice that can be given to any one who has the slightest predisposition to dyspepsia, is to fortily his or her digestive organs by the daily use of

The disease proceeds from a lack of vigor in the stomach, and this vitalizing preparation will tone and renovate that organ.
