We give all the election returns thus far received. The elections still pending are in Charlotte, Kent, Kings and Gloncester.

The Elections.

The antis in Woodstock and St. John were doubtless taken more by surprise at the result of the election in York than was the same party in Queens. that County. The retirement of Mr. Hatheway was too well understood by his party to be an acknowledgment that inevitable defeat awaited them in a contest, but they hoped to be able to so manage it as to break up the Confederate ticket in a sufficient number of instances to secure the people have thought independently and act- miles from the town, to take the cars for his home the return of Mr. Fraser and, perhaps, of Mr. ed nobly. Canterbury, where in March '65 no influence could secure a vote save the very small minority that were Confederates, now, although the usual troop of generals from this town were down with all the engines of war in full blast, the anti-Confederates only got about one out of three; at North Lake, where they anticipated an easy victory, they got one out of eight. We believe the Confederate triumph in York at this election was obtained more independently of any extraordinary or improper influences than has marked any election for many years. (Mr Lewis is Missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church and sent here from the North, his circuit is large, embracing the whole of this State, and numbers of Churches throughout the country in towns and citics are under his jurisdiction: he is a man of rare talent and energy, and his fame is spread through all the land.) On Sunday last he attended to his duties in a town some sixty miles from this city .-He preached twice and baptised eighty-four persons; his preaching is such that it encourages the freedmen, as they now get the proceeds of their labor, to erect pretty homes, build school houses and churches, &c., and, of course, many o the Southerners do not wish to see this. On Mondiately approached him and asked him if he was not that " damned Yankee preacher."
