A COMMON SENSE VIEW OF THE

MODE IN WHICH

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS

ACT UPON THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

THIS is an age of enquiry. People want to I knew why and wherefore of all statements submitted to them as facts, and as far as this soncerned, it is proposed to gratify them. All the physicians admit that the greatest dif-Sculty they encounter in their practice is in conveying to the seat of a disease the medicament that will counteract and neutralize it. Electrisity has been tried for this purpose, but it is now generally admitted that the electric fluid is too subtle an agent to be made the vehicle of medication. It shocks the nerves, but can not distribute through the system anything except itself. Medicated electricity is, in short, an expleded humbug. But a liquid stimulant, as everybody knows, can be charged with the essential properties of any and every substance in the Materia Medica, and there is no herbial extract which will not hold in solution with all its preventative and curative virtues unimpaired. Now the pure liquid stimulant of which are in part composed, is charged with invaluable regetable remedies, and these by reason of its powerful diffusive principle, it conveys to every organ and introduces into the circulation. But of what use would it be without their healing, strengthening, life-sustaining balm? It would merely excite. It could neither protect 1866. nor cure. And herein lies the essential difference between the effect of the purest stimulant administered in the medicinal form of Good Monongabela spirit is doubtless the mild est and most innocuous of all the varieties of liquor, but it only becomes a healthful medicine when impregnated with the vegetable elements employed in the preparation of the Bitters.

To Dyspeptic Sufferers.

Under the general head of Dyspepsia may be classed all the varieties of indigestion. Its symptoms are so various, and differ so much in different individuals, that it is almost impossible to The above Goods will be sold in Bond or duty paid as compatable with safety to the assured. indescribable. Among the ordinary indications of dyspepsia are flatulence, a bloated and full feeling about the stomach and abdomen immediately after eating a gnawing seneation, or a sense of hollowness at the pit of the temach between meals, a heavy dull feeling in the head, feeble or unsteady appetite, occasional nausea, restlessness during the night, and a weary, unrefreshed feeling on rising in the morning, palpitation of the heart, depression of mind, someconfusion of thought, sour stomach, with raising and St. John, until further notice. of food, and a choking sensation in the throat, dimness of the eyes, pain in the diaphragm, feebleness and disinclination for exertion, and sometimes emaciation and a corpse-like pallor. These are a lew of the direct signs of dyspepsia, but as it is generally complicated with specific affections of the bowels, the liver, and the nerves, its victims have many additional torments which are technically attributed to other causes. The best abvice that can be given to any one who has the slightest predisposition to dyspepsia, is to fortify his or her digestive organs by the daily use of

If the gastric ap- to the Invoice, to prevent stoppage at Eastport. paratus is in good working order, and can perlectly dissolve and thoroughly assimilate the food submitted to its operation, there will be no dyspensia. If it cannot do this, it requires rein-forcement, and the best of all reinforcing agents the commissary of the system. It supplies the King Street, next door to the Post Office. Therefore protect the "Commissary Department." Don't let the enemy obtain possession of it. It is easier to prevent disease from getting into an organ than to expel it after it Lecomes a "chronic fixture." Consider the first indication of uneasiness in the stomach as a sign that dyspepsia is preparing to attack, and baffle it at once with this great repellant.

But if it is too late to prevent, remember that it is not too late to cure. It is believed that there is no case of chronic indigestion that can withstand the remedial operation of

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

This belief is grounded on twelve year's experience of the efficacy of the preparation. The first instance of its failure to give relief is yet unchronicled. If it ever had failed, the voluminous correspondence addressed to the proprietors from imony extending over a period of more than a cozen years, is all of the same approving tenor.
