GOOD TIMES IN AUSTRALIA. - An exchange

Of all happy lands, so far as peace and plenty can produce happiness, Victoria, in Australia, must be among the foremost. There we see the pleasant and very unusual combination of high wages for the laborer and low provisions for the consumer, while an abundance in crops makes the farmer's remuneration satisfactory and sufficient. The return for 1866 showed that there were one head of neat cattle, fourteen sheep, one fifth of a horse and one eighth of a pig to every man, woman and child in the colony, and what is more to the purpose, that this stock was pretty evenly divided.
