Our Queen and Constitution

POOR. Such wealth as mine you cannot boast, Such blass as mine you cannot know. ve more than keenest head can sum-Could ever dream of night or day;
I've treasures hid from sordid hearts;

No cunning thief can take away. My riches never bring distrust Between me and my fellow-men No evil passion stirs my breast, To yield me hate for hate again. But pleasure, peace, and joy they bring

They soothe my cares, they make me glad,
They give delight I cannot name,
And buy me comfort when I'm sad. You see earth's glory at my feet, You see the sky above my head,

You see the love that lights my home, The children round my cottage doorhe birds, the bees, the grass and flowers And you have dared to call me poor When from the hills and from the woods Her high and holy anthem breaks.

Come here and catch the grand old son That nature sings me evermore-The whispering of a thousand things, And tell me—tell me, am I poor?

Not rich is he, though wider far His acres stretch than eye can roll, Who has no sunshine in his mind, No wealth of beauty in his soul, Not poor is he, though never known.
His name in hall or city mart, Who smiles content beneath his load, With God and Nature in his heart.
