Equity Sittings at Fredericton, Wednesday 3rd June, 1868, before his Honor Judge Allen. Gilpin vs. Executors of B. Smith.—This was a bill filed by one of the grandchildren of the late Mr. Smith, to establish a will made by him preious to his second marriage as his last will, in place of a subsequent one which it was prayed might be declared null and void. The plaintiff is the child of a daughter of Mr. smith by his first wife. who was a Miss Canby. After the death of the first Mrs. Smith her daughter became entitled to a certain interest in right of her mother in the Canby estate. After her mother's death she executed a conveyance of all her interest in the Canby estate to the late Mr. who was charged with causing the Clerkenwell Smith. The conveyance was expressed to have been made "in consideration of the provisions made for her in her father's will." Mr. Smith accepted the conveyance and acted upon it, but Yesterday morning, in the presence of a vast oncourse of spectators, Michael Barrett, the another, bequeathing the bulk of his pro-
