TOUJOURS AMOUR.

Prithee tell me, Dimple-Chin, At what age doth Love begin? Your blue eyes have scarcely seen Summers three, my fairy queen, But a miracle of sweets, Soft approaches, sly retreats, Show the little archer there, Hidden in your pretty hair; When didst learn a heart to win? Prithee tell me, Dimple-Chin!

"Oh!" the rosy lips reply,
"I can't tell you if I try, 'Tis so long I can't remember; Ask some younger miss than I!"

Tell, oh, tell me, Grizzled-Face, Do your heart and head keep pace When does hoary Love expire, When do frosts put out the fire Can its embers burn below All that chill December snow Care you still soft hands to press, Ronny heads to smooth and bless?
When does Love give up the chase?
Tell, oh, tell me, Grizzled-Face!

"Youth may pass and strength But of Love I can't foretoken;

Ask some older Sage than I!" remember the hour, I remember the day, first saw thee, my love; it was during a play. We were there introduced, and I offered my

Why we Shake Hands and Kiss.

A learned Theban gives us the solution of this frequently conjectured problem. In the first place it is a very old-fashioned way of indicating friendship. Jehu said to Jehonadab:

Is thine heart right as my heart is with thine heart? If it be give me thine hand? It is not merely an old-fashioned custom; it is a strictly natural one, and as usual in such cases, we may find a physiological reason if we only take the pains to search for it. The animals cultivate friendship by the senses of smell, hearing and it will be selected as he wishes by a blow-pipe.
