Purchasing a Farm. Collector David Henshaw was a kind-hearted man as well as able ; but as smart as he was. on one occasion, in doing a generous act, he was badly taken in. An old customer doing business in Eaton, N. H., had failed, owing Mr. Henshaw's firm about $4,000 After se tling with his other creditors, he came to Mr. Hen-

"Well, sir," said the latter, "what can you do for us."

" Have saved my farm for you, sir." replied "Your farm, hey," said Mr. Henshaw, and what have you left?" "Well, sir, a horse, pig and cow, and alto- TIN-WARE, gether they may bring me in about seventy-five dollars-sufficient, I hope, to get myself and family out west, where I intend to settle. By the poor but honest debtor as he passed the do-cument which certified Mr. Henshaw's legal right to two hundred acres of land, " more or less," and known as " Cold Stream Farm." "Oh, that will never do," says Mr. H., and drawing his check for $500, he handed it to his old customer, remarking at the same time that he was sorry for his misfortune, and appreciating his integrity, it gave him great pleasure to be able to afford him a little help at

About the 1st of April following, Mr. Henshaw, thought he would go up to Eaton and take a look at his real estate there Arriving said he would go out with him the next morn

Next day, soon after breakfast, they sailied the tavern keeper halted, and directed his companions attention to a bare, but steep and rough-looking mountain, that stood a few miles off, remarking that was called Bald Mountain.

"Yes, but how do you get there?"
"Why, you don't suppose anybody was ever up there, do you, Mr. Henshaw?" "Well, what's the good of it-what is done with it?" ruefully inquired the amazed mer-"The town sells it every year for the taxes," replied the tavern keeper "They do, hey ?" said Mr. Henshaw, "and pray tell me who in these parts is fool enough and a full assortment of Shelf Hardware to buy that style of property?"

returning home, and perhaps would not have told the story, had not a friend, in asking him, as collector, to give a man a place in the custom house, for one reason, among and above all others, that he was from New Hampshirewhen he gave this little bit of experience with one of the Granite State men.

PENDLETON'S Vegetable Panacea. This valuable preparation has already been extended sively circulated, and wherever it has been used it has met with entire approbation, and been enstalled as the Family Medicine. None should be without it, for so sure and speedy a relief as it affords in all cases of violent pains, cramps, colic, coughs and colds, cannot elsewhere be found. Especially as a cure for Rheumatism it has proved, when faithfully applied, infallible. Being purely vegetable, no deleterious effects need be feared.
