THE GOLDEN SIDE.

There is many a rest in the road of life, If we would only stop to take it; And many a tone from the better land, If the querulous heart would make it! To the sunny soul that is full of hope, And whose beautiful trust ne'er faileth The grass is green and the flowers are bright, Though the winter storm prevaileth.

letter to hope, though the clouds hang low, And to keep the eyes still lifted ; For the sweet blue sky will soon peep through, When the ominous clouds are ritted! Between the Gibson House and R. Caldwell's Hotel. There was never a night without a day,

> There is many a gem in the path of life, Which we pass in our idle pleasure, Thatis richer far than the jewelled crown, Orthe miser's hoarded treasure; t may be the love of a little child Or i mother's prayers to heaven, Or only a beggar's grateful thanks For i cup of water given.

Better b weave in the web of life A bright and golden filling, And to do God's will with a ready heart, And lands that are ready and willing, Than to snap the delicate, minute threads And then blame Heaven for the tangled ends And sit and grieve and wender.

THE SCANDAL CARRIERS.

You can trace their steps wherever they go. For they all their path with sorrow and woe, And feed on the tertured heart's wild cries. On blasted hopes and parted lovers' sighs, Cruel and subtle, their work is done well, But their pay—it's at interest in hell.

Ah! I'd rather Heaven would strike me dumb Or with a hot iren burn out my tongue, Than it should doom me to be a sharer In the reward of the scandal bearer.
