THE BOAT RACE.

A race between two boats, each rowed by four men, is in the abstract a small afwess of anation, the matter becomes one of great interest. Thus in the match at Lachine, last week, where met the champion crew of England, probably of Europe, and an American, a New Brunswick four, who had never been beaten in their many contests.

Of course such trials of skill in managing and power in propelling a boat, call forth an enthusiasm on the part of citizens, arising from different motives. Some are excited by the mere exhibition of manly muscle; some become warm with a sectional and natural spirit; while

A NEW STEAM MILL.

This has been a year noticeable for the number of mills destroyed by fire. The milling interest in Woodstock fortunately has, thus far, escaped, and that interest has been extended by the erection of the largest and most complete saw mill in this vicinity, by Messrs. Wadsworth & Sticknev. of Calais, Me. The site of this new mill, which has just gone into operation, is one peculiarly adapted for the purpose, as being at the mouth of a sort of estuary of the Meduxnakik, there is water for ponding logs on two sides of the mill. The building is 52 1-2 x 120 feet, with an engine shed 26x68 feet. There are two engines, of 110 horse power, with 16 inch evlinders, steam for which is furnished by
