WOMAN. (DISSECTED BY A MAN.) A woman is like-but stay-What a woman is like who can say? There is no living with or without one? Love bites like a fly.

When she is tender and kind, She is like to my mind, (and Sally was so I remember); She's like to-oh dear! She's as gold—very near, As a ripe melting peach in September.

If she laugh and she chat, Play, Joke and all that, And with smiles and good humor she meets me She's like a rich dish Of venision and fish That cries from the table, " Come eat me.'

But she'll plague and vex you, Distract and perplex you; False hearted and ranging, Unsettled and changing. What do you think she is like? Like a sand, like a rock? Like a wheel? Like a clock?

Av, like a clock that is always at strike.

Lile a mill, like a pill, Like a sail, like a whale, Like an ass, like a glass, Whose image is constant to no man Like a flower, like a shower, Like a fly, like a pie, Like a flea, like a pea, Like a thief, like a brief, She's like nothing on earth-but a woman.

STRUCK DEAD WHILE GAMBLING .- The number of persons who have died suddenly in gambling houses in this city during the past year has been remarkable. At 17 Ann street is a gambling hell, kept by a man generally known among the fraternity as "Uncle John." One night, about six months since, a young man dressed in the height of fashion, with a gold watch sed in the height of fashion, with a gold watch and diamond pin and rings. entered and began to gamble. He was unlucky, and rapidly lost his money; then he staked his watch, and that, too. followed his money. His diamond pin was next risked, and still fortune was against him. Then he took from his finger a ring—a beautiful solitaire diamond—and for which he was allowed one hundred dollars. And now he won.—
Fortune seemed to have changed and was smiling upon him. Every bet he made he won, until his "stack" of "checks" was larger than that til his "stack" of "checks" was larger than that held by the "bank."
